BENTLEY'S DEBRIEFING 126

From The Desk of

BENTLEY

Sly, we are about to depart on an exciting and dangerous adventure and I think it would be best if you were fully prepared. So, before we move out to retrieve your case file from Inspector Carmelita Fox and head North to Raleigh's hide-out, I think we should review some of the basic techniques required for this operation that we are about to undertake. If you are to reclaim the Thievius Raccoonus from the Fiendish Five, you, Murray and I will have to be at the top of our games. I know you're probably just itching for some action but let's just go over a few things, Okay?

MOVES, ATTACKS AND TECHNIQUES

To begin with, let's go over some of the moves that are at your disposal. While I assume you remember most of them, there may be a few that require a little brushing up.

MASTER THIEF MOVES

Sly, there are a number of moves and techniques that you can learn as you recover pages from the Thievius Raccoonus. By recovering all of the Clue Bottles in a mission, I can piece together the combination for the lock on the Vault in that mission. With this combination, you have the ability to open the Vault and retrieve the TR knowledge that is gained inside. There are a total of 19 moves and techniques that you can uncover through this pursuit of Clue Bottles. Master Thief Moves/Techniques are always executed by hitting △ and can be toggled between with L2 and R2.

CONTROLLING VEHICLES AND BLASTING STATIONS

Sly, from time to time during this mission, you and Murray are going to need to fire guns and drive vehicles. Here is a little background information that will get you up to speed when attempting to control such devices.

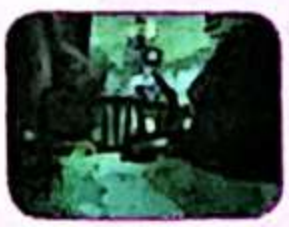
USING THE CANE

Sly, the Cane is both a weapon AND a tool. To swing your Cane, press the ● button. Use it to break into places, smash objects and attack Thugs. You can also jump first (✕ button) and then press the ● button for a Jumping Attack. As we recover pages from the Thievius Raccoonus, additional secrets of your Cane will be revealed.



GRABBING, HANGING AND SWINGING

You can also grab onto rings, hooks or ropes that are out of reach by pressing the ✕ button to jump, then pressing the ● button to grab onto the object with your Cane. Once you are hanging, use the left analog stick to swing back and forth. To let go, press the ✕ button.

ATTACKING

Press the ● button to swing your Cane for a basic attack. Jump first for a Jumping Attack. Some Thugs are too tough to attack head-on — you'll need to use a little stealth and ambush them.

CLIMBING

Sly, to climb a ladder, pipe, rope or pole, you need to stand next to the object (or jump onto it) and press the ● button. Then, use the left analog stick to maneuver on the object.

Alarm Systems

Sly, alarm systems are everywhere and they really make me nervous. Try to sneak through every mission area undetected. Avoid searchlights and laser-based systems that are designed to turn you into the ashes (or a pin cushion) formerly known as Sly Cooper!

Water

As you are fully aware, Sly, raccoons don't like water — and you are no exception to the rule. While you can successfully deal with shallow water, deep water is a problem and will affect your health more quickly than a rabid dog! Interesting, though, my data indicates that, should you find all of the Clue Bottles in one of our missions, you might learn a little "Water Safety" technique that protects you from the deep stuff.

Lives

Sly, you've got five lives as we begin this adventure. If you lose all of your lives, select CONTINUE to keep playing. As you move through the various missions, you will find that coins and Lucky Charms will help keep you fit (100 coins = 1 Lucky Charm). In addition, my reconnaissance of the various parts of the world involved in our quest reveals that you will find strange likenesses of yourself that give you an additional life!

Checking Out Your Surroundings

Sly, I invented the "binocucom" so that you can scan the mission area. When I have an intelligence report, you'll automatically look through the binocucom at the specified area that I am talking about. If you return to that area again, my Bentley Icon will appear at the bottom left of your field of vision. Just press the L1 button and I will repeat the intelligence report for that area. Sly, at any time you can use the [right analog stick] to swing the camera around you and you can press it to swing the camera back behind you. In addition, you can choose to use the binocucom at any time, simply by pressing the L1 button or the R1 button. You can put it away by hitting either of these buttons again.

Items of Interest

Lucky Charms

A Lucky Charm will keep you from losing a life, by allowing you to absorb one blow when attacked or injured. You can find them in different spots in missions, usually on an as-needed basis. Sly, while I have completed a full recon on all of the areas that we will be travelling to on our missions, I have noticed that the LC's may not appear when you are carrying two in your backpack (indicated by the LC's change to a gold color). While you can still collect Gold Coins to give you a third LC — thus giving you an extra life, you will not find them in places where you may have seen them before, when your health was suffering.

Gold Coins

Sly, you will find these coins dropped by Thugs, hidden in objects and simply lying around in spots. For every 100 coins you collect, you will be rewarded with a Lucky Charm. If you manage to have two LC's in your possession at one time, then collect an additional 100 coins, you will get a free life.

TREASURE KEYS

Sly, your primary goal in most of our missions is going to be to find the Treasure Key for that mission. These keys allow you to exit a mission. And, most missions require that you have more than one in your possession for that area in order to enter. With these keys, you can walk up to locked doors, gates or equipment and automatically insert them to gain entrance to, or exit from, an area or mission.

CLUE BOTTLES AND VAULTS

Sly, if you truly want to restore the Thievius Raccoonus in its entirety, you must collect all of the Clue Bottles. If you collect all of the Clue Bottles in a particular mission, I will be able to decipher the combination for the Vault in that mission. (This would probably be a good time to note that Safes always contain two Clue Bottles in them and can be opened with two swipes of your Cane.) With the code, you can then enter the combination at the Vault. Inside, you will find one of the 19 Master Thief Moves/Techniques that were part of your birthright. Here's how you open a Vault; walk up to the Vault and press the ● button to enter the Vault code (assuming you have collected the required Clue Bottles). Then, you can use either the left analog stick or a combination of all four buttons to move between tumblers and input the code.

ADVANCED THIEVING SKILLS AND OPPORTUNITIES

You can also grab onto rings, hooks or ropes that are out of reach by pressing the ✕ button to Jump, then pressing the ● button to grab onto the object with your Cane. Once you are hanging, use the left analog stick to swing back and forth. To let go, press the ✕ button.

Inspector Carmelita Fox

Sly, our adventure begins when you attempt to steal your personal file from Inspector Carmelita Fox's office in Paris Police Headquarters. Once we accomplish this, I expect that she will be on your ringtail no matter where you go. Armed with her Shock Pistol, she is a tenacious foe that will not give up until she has you behind bars. As we move through our adventure, I will try to keep you posted when it looks like she may be tracking us. But, for now, we need to be off and running and get that file!

PRIMAGAMES.COM

Paris Police Headquarters

Sly, we have to get that file. I suggest that you go through the mechanical vent that I point out to you, on the roof of police headquarters. Use your Cane to break open the vent, then make your way through.

But, in order to do that, you will have to take advantage of an advanced thieving opportunity by sneaking around the narrow ledge of this water tower, then jumping across TV antennas to the vent.

Murray's Treasure Map

Sly, if you use your Cane to destroy the antennas and vents on the roof of police headquarters, you will find a number of Gold Coins housed inside them. Also, you can snag a few coins by striking any rats that you see scurrying around the roof. In addition, you will find coins in the books, bottles, etc. that you find in Ms. Fox's office. Sly, if you want me to, I'll point out all of the secret places where you might find coins as we go along.

Once inside, you are going to find an alarm system in a long shaft that is comprised of a spider's web of lasers. Sly, you must drop down this shaft without disturbing the lasers. If you do, the system will go on active mode, and, the next time you hit a sensor, you'll be fried to a crisp!

The strategy here is to Double-Jump across to the next lowest platform, then continue down to the bottom.

Once you reach the bottom, you can use your Cane to destroy the alarm's system controls and deactivate it.

This will allow you to gain access to Inspector Fox's office, behind the red door. Of course, the door is locked, so you are going to have to go out on the fire escape and sneak across a very unstable ledge to go through one of her office windows.

Inside, you will find the Vault that contains your file. The combination to this Vault is: 9-3-7.

Once you get the file, head back outside and make your way to the team van so we can get out of here. Unfortunately, Fox will appear and she has other ideas.

Sly, you need to make a run for it here. Simply head down the fire escape and straight across the yard to the van. Use your Cane to destroy any barricades that get in your way.

Well, that's it, buddy. Let's take a look at that file and see where it leads us!

A Stealthy Approach

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, once you exit the van you will be at the mercy of Raleigh's goons and the security system that they have set up. Although there is nothing in this short area that you can't handle, I feel that I would be shirking my responsibility as your electronic communications expert if I didn't alert you to the potential dangers of this mission. Because this is our first mission, Sly, I will try to give you a little more detail as to what to expect.

THUG ALERT

There aren't a whole lot of Thugs to be found in this approach to Raleigh's hideout. I don't know about you, but I am happy that this is the case. The fewer bad guys, the better chance we have to get our feet wet, if you know what I mean.

THUG #1 is a large walrus swinging a hammer on a boat. The boat is docked just past where you exit the tunnel from the area's insertion point. You can be aggressive with him, waiting for him to bring down the hammer, then quickly moving in to attack with your Cane.

THUG #2 is a large walrus throwing stars — just past Alarm #1, and just before Signal Repeater #1. Jump to avoid his stars as you move in to apply your Cane.

THUG #3 is a walrus with a blowtorch. He will use it to ignite his breath and try to scorch you. Simply wait for him to light up and blow, then move in with Cane at the ready. He is located just before the first big waterfall toward the middle of the area.

Between two sets of waterwheels, you will find THUG #4 — a hammer-swinging walrus.

THUG #3 is a star-chucking walrus positioned between the two light towers that make up Alarm #2. Luckily, there is enough space between he and the towers to give you room to work your Cane-based magic!

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

The area outside of Raleigh's hideout is just overflowing with all kinds of coins. Sly. You will find them in wood signs, the wheel of the boat where you find Thug #1, bees and statues.

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Raleigh seems to prefer using searchlights in this swampy area. I can't say that I blame him, but I think he's going to need a little more to stop you, Sly. The following analysis should help if you have any questions as to how to negotiate these systems.

Alarm #1

Once you get over the locked gate, you will find a light tower with two searchlights that patrol the area ahead of you. Simply wait for a gap to appear between the lights and quickly move through them. The controls are on the other side of the lights' search pattern — destroy them to open the gate behind Thug #2.

Alarm #2

Alarm #2 is located just past the waterwheels and Thug #4. It consists of a series of two light towers, each with two searchlights. As before, you simply need to negotiate the gaps, then find the system controls at the end of the run and destroy them. Complicating matters is the fact that Thug #5 is right in the middle of things.

Mysterious Messages

You will find a couple of well-hidden Clue Bottles outside Raleigh's hideout, Sly. Although there are 20 Clue Bottles to be found in this mission, there are only a few that you might have a little trouble locating.

The first two tricky ones can be found atop the mast of the boat that is home to Thug #1. Use your Cane to bring down the mast and collect the MB's.

In the grassy area adjacent to the boat that is home to Thug #1, you will find a couple of trees with a rope suspended above them. In addition to allowing you to get over and past the closed gate separating you from the next section of this area, you will be able to shimmy across the rope to the tree tops — each home to a Clue Bottle.

You will also find two Clue Bottles in a little trough to the right of the first large waterfall just behind Thug #3.

You can find two Clue Bottles on the upper deck of the second light tower making up Alarm #2. You can access the rope that will lead you up to the tower at the end of the Outside Raleigh's area, near the Treasure Key, jumping from the last set of waterwheels.

If you continue along the rope system from light tower #2 back to tower #1, you will find two more Clue Bottles atop its wood deck.

Location of the Vault

Sly. The Vault in "A Stealthy Approach" is right next to Alarm #2.

Location of the Treasure Key

The Treasure Key can be found at the far end of the mission, just past Alarm #2 and the final set of waterwheels.

Prowling the Grounds

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, the "Prowling the Grounds" mission is a giant, floating city that looks like a large ship. Once you climb aboard the ship and arrive at Raleigh's hideout, you will need to get the lay of the land. To begin with, you will have access to four missions in the first part of the retreat: Into the Machine, High Class Heist, A Cunning Disguise, and The Fire Down Below.

Into the Machine

Requirements for Entry:
1 Treasure Key

The entrance to Into the Machine is to your immediate left once you climb on board the ship-city that is Prowling the Grounds. It is unguarded and easily accessed.

High Class Heist

Requirements for Entry:
1 Treasure Key

The portal to High Class Heist is located up a pathway and directly in front of you as you climb aboard the ship — just past the fountain. It is protected by a lone squid guard with a flashlight. He will move toward you, down the path, then turn and head back toward the portal. As soon as his back is to you, go on the offensive and apply the Cane.

A CUNNING DISGUISE

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
1 Treasure Key

The entrance to A Cunning Disguise is accessed by climbing a pipe up to the roofs of the buildings on the far side of this area of the retreat, then jumping from roof to roof until you see a squid with a flashlight and a couple of dormers. Sly, you can use these dormers and your advanced thieving skills to hide from the light. Wait until his back is turned, then put the hurt on him and enter the mission.

THE FIRE DOWN BELOW

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
1 Treasure Key

You can get to the entrance to The Fire Down Below via a wood roller device that is near the center of this part of the retreat. By running forward on this roller, you will lower what looks to be a ship's "Crow's Nest". Hop on. When it reaches the top, use your Cane to swing across the two lanterns and use your advanced thieving skills to land softly on the narrow ledge of the tower that is home to the mission portal. Sneak around the ledge and enter The Fire Down Below.

TREASURE KEY POWER GENERATOR

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
3 Treasure Keys

Once you have three Treasure Keys in your possession, head to the Treasure Key Power Generator near the far end of this area of "Prowling the Grounds" and stand in front of it to insert the three keys. Once you do, the fence in front of the generator will open and you can destroy it by jumping up and hitting it with your Cane on the way down. Once you do so, the electrical field in the tunnel adjacent to the generator will dissipate and you will gain access to the other part of Raleigh's hideout. This second part is home to "The Gunboat Graveyard" and "Treasure in the Depths" missions.

THE GUNBOAT GRAVEYARD

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
3 Treasure Keys

The entrance to this mission begins with a quick jog up a curving metal walkway that wraps around a tower in the second area of Raleigh's hideout. From the top, you must jump across two chimneys to land on the roof on the other side. Here, you will find the entrance to The Gunboat Graveyard guarded by a squid with a flashlight. There are a number of roof vents in this area where you can use your advanced thieving skills to hide from his beam. To gain entrance, take the Thug out when his back is turned.

TREASURE IN THE DEPTHS

Requirements for Entry:
3 Treasure Keys

The entrance to this mission is guarded by a starfish-throwing walrus and is located at the far end of the second part of Raleigh's hideout — at the end of a pathway over water. Use the three fences along the path to hide from the Thug's starfish (the starfish will destroy the fences), then charge him to put an end to all of the fuss.

THE EYE OF THE STORM

Requirements for Entry:
7 Treasure Keys

Once you have gained the Treasure Keys from all seven missions in Raleigh's hideout, you can activate the Treasure Key Gun Battery. It is located in the second part of Raleigh's hideout, at the water's edge — adjacent to the curving ramp that leads up to the entrance to The Gunboat Graveyard. Once you have activated the battery, climb up into the gun and you will be fired toward a blimp. It will play host to your confrontation with Raleigh.

SECRETS OF PROWLING THE GROUNDS

You will find a Lucky Charm (if you need it) on the floating garbage that you must hop across before you can climb onto the giant, floating ship.

Sly, there are three second story windows to be found in the first part of Raleigh's hideout. The first one is to the right of the entrance to "Into the Machine". Jump onto the trees in front of it — via the valve near the walkway, then onto the ledge in front of the window. Break the window to claim the free Sly icon that is hiding inside.

The second window is to the left of the entrance to High Class Heist. It contains another Sly icon.

The third is to the right of the entrance to High Class Heist, behind a single tree. Climb on the tree to collect the Lucky Charm (it will appear if you need it) behind its leaded panes.

In addition, in the second part of Raleigh's hideout, you will find a free Sly icon atop a grass-covered spire — jetting out from the edge of the roof is a circular tower that you must climb to gain access to The Gunboat Graveyard's entrance.

Lastly, on a crate floating in the water along the walkway that leads to the entrance to "Treasure in the Depths" — in the second area of Raleigh's hideout, you will find a free Sly icon.

Into the Machine

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Into the Machine is home to Raleigh's engine room — the very one that powers the spinning crankshaft that is at the core of his operation. If you manage to trace the crankshaft back to its source, I'm betting you will find the Machine's Treasure Key. But it won't be easy, Sly. There is fire all over the place and a nasty security system to boot (not to mention 11 different security guards)! You are going to have your work cut out for you in this facility, buddy!

THUG ALERT

Sly, Raleigh has really stocked this area full of his nastiest guards. Although you will only find two different types of enemies here, you can bet that they are as tough as they are big — be careful!

THUG #1 is a big guy with an even bigger hammer that can be found near the entrance, just past the furnace door. Wait for him to swing it, staying at a safe distance, then move in and do some swinging of your own!

THUG #2 is using a blow torch to spit fire from atop a large piston in the middle of a water-filled area just past the entrance corridor. Stay out of the range of his fire-breath then, when he is finished, move in brandishing your Cane.

THUG #3 is in the same area and swinging a hammer.

THUG #4 is a fire-breather and he can be found at the end of a long tunnel that you enter at the end of the water-filled area.

THUG #5 is a fire-breather and he can be found next to a rope just past a series of fans and Signal Repeater #1.

THUG #6 makes use of the hammer and is located just past Signal Repeater #2.

THUG #7 is at the end of a tunnel just before you reach Alarm #1 and its series of hinged platforms. He wields a hammer.

THUG #8, he of the hammer variety, is found at the bottom of the tunnel guarded by Alarm #1.

THUGS #9 AND #10 are located near and on the large crankshaft area that is just past the tunnel leading from Alarm #1. The first is a hammer-swinger and the second prefers the blowtorch.

THUG #11 is a hammer-wielder and can be found at the end of the main crankshaft area, beyond the Vault, on the floor level.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, the only source I can find for coins (besides the more obvious ones) in the Into the Machine mission are the rats that roam the floors. Sly, I hate rats — take care of them and snag their coins.

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Sly, the security system found in the Into the Machine mission is centered in one shaft toward the middle of a complex, but it is a doozy! If you can make it through this alive, you are well on your way to becoming a master thief!

Alarm #1

This alarm system is a very tricky one, Sly. Do you remember the three pairs of hinged platforms that we encountered earlier in the mission? Well, this time, in addition to the furnace doors, you must deal with a laser security system. The laser system will pause every so often, so what you need to do is jump back and forth between the two hinged platforms that from the first pair until the laser fence temporarily turns off. This will be your chance to jump to the next (lower) pair of hinged platforms. Once you work your way down through the three pairs of platforms, you will find the alarm system control at the bottom of the shaft just past Thug #7.

SLY MOMENTS

Sly, the only opportunity that you get in the Into the Machine mission to display your advanced thieving skills comes in the water-filled room with the large pistons — just past the entrance to the mission. This is the same area where you will find Thugs #2 and #3. There is a large wood column in this area that I have marked for you. Use your abilities to sneak around this column, then climb the rope up to the steel platform at the top of it. You will find a second sneaking ledge here that will lead you to a suspended steel bridge.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

There are a few Clue Bottles in the Into the Machine mission that can be more than a little difficult to find. I, however, have been able to put together a little information that just might help you.

In the water-filled area where you find Thugs #2 and #3, you will also find a large wood column that provides a sneaking opportunity. At the top of this column is a second ledge that you can sneak around. Keep going past the small platform and you will find a Clue Bottle.

In the area behind where you find Thug #4, you will notice a series of hinged platforms above furnace vents. There are also a number of Clue Bottles in this area. There are six CB's on top of these platforms, with an additional three hanging from the ceiling, in the space between the platforms (for a total of nine CB's in the area). You only get one shot at this — once you reach the bottom, you can't get back to the top again. So, if you don't want to come back to the Into the Machine mission and do this all over again, I suggest you take the following advice.

Start by jumping on one of the first two hinged platforms. As it drops, the CB will drop to the floor below (assuming that you didn't land directly on the CB). This will send you vaulting into the air, where you can use your Cane to smash the CB hanging from the rope between the two platforms, then land on the next hinged platform, directly across from the first. Repeat this procedure as you drop from one pair of hinged platforms to the next (there are three total). After you have dropped from the third set, you will notice two clear tubes of liquid spanning the tunnel. Land on them and you will find a free Sly icon. Sly, make sure you don't forget to pick up the CB's that drop to the floor, once you do!

In the second tunnel that features three pairs of hinged platforms (and a laser security system, I might add!), you will find 10 Clue Bottles (nine over the platforms, plus one on the liquid-filled tubes below the platforms spanning the width of the tunnel).

There is a lone Clue Bottle on top of a pipe to the left of Signal Repeater #3 (in the main crankshaft area where Thugs #9 and #10 reside).

There are two Clue Bottles in a Safe next to Thug #11.

And one more atop a crankshaft above the Vault.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, the Into the Machine Vault can be found in the main crankshaft area, beyond Thugs #9 and #10 and Signal Repeater #3. It is behind a large flywheel that divides the crankshaft area.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

You will find the Treasure Key at the end of the Into the Machine, atop some spinning blades in the middle of a water tank.

SECRETS OF INTO THE MACHINE

Sly, when you find the first shaft with the three pairs of hinged platforms, you will also find two tubes filled with liquid spanning the width of the shaft. On top of these tubes, you will find a free Sly icon. Remember, if you fall to the bottom of the shaft without acquiring the icon, you will not be able to climb back up to get it — unless you want to do this all over again — I know I don't!

PRIMAGAMES.COM

High Class Heist

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

I know you are a master thief, Sly but, trust me on this one, you don't want to go into the High Class Heist mission without a proper plan of attack. This place is heavily guarded by a couple of Raleigh's thugs and a security system that is absolutely state-of-the-art. You need to keep a close eye out for Clue Bottles that are tucked out of the way and difficult to reach. If you can make it across the water near the end of the area and manage to avoid its laser security system, then you will be able to successfully complete this mission.

THUG ALERT

Because of its high-tech security system, the High Class Heist only has two of Raleigh's thugs patrolling its interior. They can both be found on the bridge that you reach by going under the archway featuring a burning skull-and-crossbones above its header — near the middle of the mission. Both of these guys will attempt to run at you, then inexplicably try to drop you with a belly flop. Sly, you want to get close enough to them to draw their attention, but not so close as to get flattened into the proverbial pancake. Once they see you, they will run at you. Move back a couple of steps, wait for them to flop, then move in for the kill. One swipe of your Cane is all you will need to fell each of these g

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, in this mission, you will find treasure untold. I have heard stories about statues and busts that, if you break them, house untold riches. Heck, even the bees buzzing around will release coins if you hit them with your Cane. Also, there are a number of cabinets recessed in the corridor walls when you first enter the mission. If you break the glass that covers them, I'm sure you could find all kinds of coins. Remember Sly, if it looks like it can be broken, chances are that it will crumble under the weight of your Cane. I overheard the guards talking outside and they say that even some of the signs next to the water contain treasure behind them (but be careful — I also heard that they are traps and that the fire above these skull-and-crossbones signs can burn you, Sly)!

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Sly, you will find that this area is protected by a total of four different alarm systems. The key to collecting Clue Bottles and, ultimately, to finding the Treasure Key is to successfully disable these four systems. Raleigh and his men have created a state-of-the-art system here, Sly, but I think that I may have found a few weaknesses.

Alarm #1

The first alarm system is guarding the main hall as you enter the mission. This system consists of a set of four motion detectors. If you set off just one of them, it will trigger the alarm and the lasers will switch from passive to active mode. What this means, Sly, is that the next time the laser hits you, it will burn you to a crisp. To avoid this occurrence, I suggest that you watch the patterns of each of the four sets of lasers and wait for an opening, then quickly move through each set. Just after you pass the fourth set of lasers, you will find the alarm. Of course, you know that you can destroy this with one blow from your Cane. Once you have disabled alarm system #1, make sure you go back and collect any Clue Bottles or goods that you might have missed in your haste to disable the system.

Alarm #2

The second alarm system in the High Class Heist mission is extremely challenging. It consists of three laser fences placed in front of the large arched entry in the middle of the museum (the one that features the skull-and-crossbones above it). In addition, there are two moving lasers that emanate from the eyes of the skull. These lasers are the ones that you need to be concerned with. As you move down the ramp from the corridor and into this area, watch for these eye lasers to track you. As they start to converge and move toward you, avoid them to the left or the right, then start running toward the first laser fence. Then, you simply need to work your way around the fences and toward the archway. The best way to do this is to run directly toward the fences then, once you are close to them, turn to run toward the next opening, running parallel to the fence. This way, you will avoid the tracking lasers coming from the skull's eyes. As you move under the archway, you will find alarm #2 and can then disable it.

Alarm #3

Toward the end of the mission, you will find a water-filled area with a platform in the middle of it. In addition to supporting the Treasure Key, this platform features a rotating laser system that moves in a clockwise direction. At the end of the ramp that connects the skull-and-crossbones archway to the water, you will find a large, floating wood platform. The lasers can not track you when you are on this platform. From this point, you will want to jump across the lily pads in a counter-clockwise direction. Wait for the first laser to get close to the wood platform, then double-jump to the first lily pad. Then, double-jump from lily pad to lily pad along the outer perimeter, timing it so you avoid the lasers as they sweep around the water. On the other side, you will find a smaller wood platform where you will be safe from the laser sweep. Sly, this is also where you will find the alarm. Destroy it, then you can jump back across the lily pads to find any Clue Bottles that you might have missed.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

Alarm #4

The last of the alarm systems that protect this area can be found just after you exit the water and are making your way to the ramp that leads to the Treasure Key. This system consists of a set of four different searchlight-based sub-systems. The first is a pair of them that move back and forth. With proper timing, these can easily be avoided.

The second is a single searchlight that is barely moving on the right side of a large column. Remember Sly, your advanced thieving skills are such that you can easily avoid this searchlight by sneaking along the left edge of the column. The third searchlight is also shining on a column and can be circumnavigated in a similar fashion.

The final sub-system is a second pair of searchlights moving back and forth in front of a large column. Again, you simply need to time their movement, then make your way past them and along the left side of the column. Once past this column, you will find the alarm and can destroy it. Oh, one more thing Sly; if you get caught in just ONE of these searchlights, the system will go into attack mode and the next time you are spotted will be the LAST time you are spotted!

Sly Moments

Although the High Class Heist mission is characterized by a fairly simple floor plan, there is at least one location where I feel that your advance thieving skills will come in handy. At the far end of the body of water that is in the middle of the mission, you will find a long walkway that is accessed by climbing up a pipe. Along this walkway, there are a series of large columns. You can carefully work your way along the narrow outer perimeters of these columns. In addition to protecting you from the searchlights that are tracking in this area, it will allow you to find a few Clue Bottles.

Mysterious Messages

Sly, while I know that you won't need much in the way of help when looking for the 30 Clue Bottles that are scattered throughout the High Class Heist mission, I feel that there are a few hard-to-find bottles where you may require assistance.

First of all, you can find three Clue Bottles on a small platform near the Vault.

There are also three Clue Bottles to the left of the steps that lead up to the arched opening (with the skull-and-crossbones above it) in the middle of the museum complex.

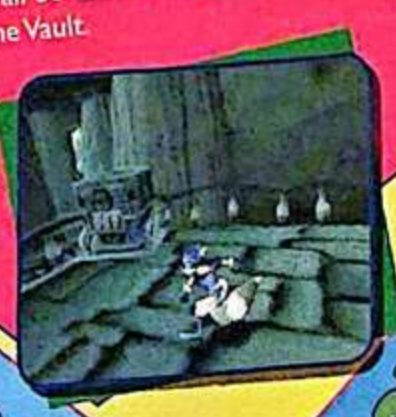
I'm sure I don't have to remind you that Safes always contain Clue Bottles.

The skull-and-crossbones opening is home to five Clue Bottles on the arch structure itself. To access these, simply break one of the statues that are on either side of the opening, double-jump off of one of them, then climb up on the structure. You will find five CB's on the structure (including the single CB on top of the arch).

Lastly, there are a total of eight Clue Bottles along the walkway that leads to the Treasure Key, just after you climb up out of the water. A few of these can be found as you sneak around the large columns that line this walkway. The final two CB's are hiding behind the column just past alarm #4 and the ramp that leads to the Treasure Key.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, the High Class Heist Vault can be found to the right of the steps that lead up to the skull-and-crossbones archway, at the water's edge. Remember, I need you to collect all 30 Clue Bottles before I will be able to decipher the combination to the Vault.



LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

You will find the Treasure Key on top of a platform that is in the middle of a body of water at the far end of the mission. As I may have mentioned in my security analysis of the area, there is a motion-detecting laser system that is in use in this area, so you will have to avoid detection/disable the system before you will be able to reach the key. Once you crack open the glass enclosure containing the key, you will be able to safely exit the mission. If you require further assistance, I suggest that you review the High Class Heist security briefing.

SECRETS OF HIGH CLASS HEIST

Also, through intense scanning of the facility I have found that there appears to be some sort of life-enhancing icon in your likeness, Sly. While I certainly can't even begin to explain how this is possible, I do know that this "Sly icon" is located on an isolated platform floating in the body of water near the middle of the mission. More precisely, it can be found on the right side of the platform that is at the end of the ramp that connects the skull-and crossbones archway to the water. If you double-jump over to this platform, you can collect the icon and, if you should encounter difficulty in your quest, this will give you another chance at success.

A Cunning Disguise

Bentley's Breakdown

The "A Cunning Disguise" mission takes place in a vast library of some sort, Sly. Perhaps Raleigh likes a good book when he is not trying to destroy you and use the TR for his own personal gain. In any event, you will need to use your best sneaking skills as you make your way through the mission, as it seems like Raleigh has booby-trapped the entire place. If that wasn't enough, he also has an advanced electronic security system and a bunch of thugs running around the place — some even seem to be spitting fire!

Thug Alert

Although "A Cunning Disguise" is more about booby-traps and alarms than Thugs, there are still a few that you will need to deal with in this mission, Sly. I suggest you take a few moments to take a closer look at what (and who) you are going to be up against!

Sly, the first thug you will encounter in the mission is just beyond the first globe booby-trap. Thug #1 seems to be using a blow torch to spit fire toward any intruders. To defeat him, simply wait for him to direct the flame towards you, then attack after it has dissipated. Just beyond this guy is an elevator. Once he has been incapacitated, you need to take the elevator down to the next level — but make sure that you don't forget that wood barrel — you are going to need it!

Thug #2 is just beyond Booby-trap #2, and he is packing a flashlight, Sly. Your best bet for sneaking up on him is to stay in the barrel and move toward him ONLY when his back is turned. In addition, if you do come in contact with his light beam, STAY STILL! He won't recognize you in something as innocuous as a wood barrel. Once he turns around again, you will be free to move closer. Once you are within striking distance, leap out of the barrel and take care of him with your Cane.

Thug #3 is just beyond Thug #2, to the left of a shelving unit that features a ladder. This guy is not moving, Sly, and his flashlight is fixed so that you can't attack him from the front. However, I think I may have found a solution to this problem. Instead of attacking him from the front, try climbing the ladder to get on top of the shelves. From here, you can jump down and use your Cane in a surprise attack. Raleigh's minion will never know what hit him!

THUG #4 can be found just beyond Alarm #1, on the mission's upper level. This guy is carrying a flashlight and there will be a row of books that separates the two of you. In order to sneak toward him in the barrel, you will have to jump out of it and use your Cane to destroy some of these books — thus clearing a path. But, make sure you don't get caught in the beam of his flashlight when chopping up the books, or they won't be the only things that get shredded! After dispatching Thug #4, make sure you stay in the barrel and sneak across the tops of the chandeliers that form a bridge to the other side of the upper level — you'll need it very soon.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, there are lots of coins to be found in the "A Cunning Disguise" mission. In fact, I overheard one of the guards saying that even the rats that crawl around the place, if they are really hungry (I know I am!), will eat coins. Sounds kind of unappetizing to me, but to each his own. You might want to exterminate a few rats though, just to see what you can find. Also, books, as well as an old grandfather clock near the beginning of the RR, are known to contain rare coins.

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Sly, the biggest challenge you will face in the "A Cunning Disguise" mission is the combination of Thugs and Alarms that are used to protect the area. Although the two Alarm systems are fairly simple to disable, you must remember to make use of the wood barrel that you find near the entrance. If you don't, we may never be able to piece together the Thievius Raccoonus.

Booby-trap #1

When you first enter the mission, you are going to find a barrel sitting in the middle of a corridor, with what seems to be two globes sitting atop a carpet, just beyond the barrel. Don't be fooled into thinking this area is not a security risk! Although there is no alarm in this area, per se, those globes both contain gun turrets that will each fire darts at you once you step on the carpet. To avoid sudden and immediate death, I suggest you get inside the barrel and use it for protection. Once you have reached the other side of the carpet, it will be safe enough for you to exit the barrel and disable the guns with your Cane.

Booby-trap #2

After taking the elevator down to the lower level of the area, you will find another globe booby-trap system. If you forgot the wood barrel on the entry floor, you will need to ride the elevator back up and retrieve it. Once you are inside the barrel, attack this system in the same manner as Booby-trap #1.

Booby-trap #3

Booby-trap #3 can be found at the end of the lower level, just beyond two large furnaces. Sly, you will need to make sure that you have the barrel with you so you can negotiate the carpet/globe scenario. If you are successful, there is an elevator waiting to take you back upstairs. A word of caution; Before you can even attempt to make it through BT #3, you will have to get past either of the two furnaces without getting burned. I suggest you wait for the flame to die out, then quickly sneak past it. One more thing; Don't forget to take the barrel with you on the elevator. You are going to need it when you get upstairs.

Booby-trap #4

Booby-trap #4 is just beyond the first Signal Repeater, on the upper level of the area. As with BT's 1-3, you will need the barrel to get past the trap.

Alarm #1

Just beyond Booby-trap #4, you will encounter the first security alarm system in the "A Cunning Disguise" mission. It is protecting a short bridge on the upper level. If you stay in the barrel, you can sneak past the two search lights, and stop dead in your tracks if you are in peril of either of the lights exposing you. As long as you are inside the barrel and not moving, the lights will not detect that you are inside. You will find the system's control just beyond the bridge.

Alarm #2

Sly, I suggest you have the barrel handy for this one. Just beyond the chandelier "bridge" that connects the two sides of the upper level of the area is a short bridge that serves the same function (but in a more traditional way, I might add). This bridge is guarded by two searchlights. Remain in the barrel and use it to sneak past the lights. Remember; If you get caught in a beam, stay still and you will stay alive! The system's control is found on the other side of the bridge, just before Booby-trap #5 and the Treasure Key.

Booby-trap #5

This final carpet/globe BT can be found just before the Treasure Key container at the end of the upper level. Deal with it in a manner similar to the other four.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

Sly, although most of the 30 Clue Bottles scattered throughout the mission are in plain view, there are a few that you may find a little more difficult to locate — allow me to point them out for you.

The first ones that you might miss are, oddly enough, right at the beginning of the mission, next to the entrance. If you move too quickly through the area, you just might miss these two.

Just beyond Booby-trap #2 there is a ladder that allows one to climb atop some bookshelves. There are two Clue Bottles up here, and one that is hanging from a rope next to one of the shelving units. Jump off of the shelf and use your Cane to strike the CB.

When you reach the other side of the chandelier "bridge", just before you encounter Alarm #2, you will find an inconspicuous shelving unit. If you push against one of the ends, you will find that it pivots from its middle — revealing a secret area. Inside, you will find a Safe containing two Clue Bottles.

You will also find three Clue Bottles on top of the highest of the chandeliers that form a bridge between sides of the upper level. Simply jump back and forth between levels of the chandeliers to reach the top.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, the Vault in the "A Cunning Disguise" mission can be found just beyond Alarm #1, on the upper level. It is separated from the main corridor by a shelving unit with a ladder. To get to the Vault, simply jump on the ladder and climb on top of the shelves. Then, you can drop down on the other side and gain access to the Vault. You will also find two CB's above the ladder.

SECRETS OF A CUNNING DISGUISE

Sly, if you look around the corner of a bookshelf when you get past Booby-trap #2, you will find a Sly-icon. As you know, this icon will give you an extra life, should you need it.

In addition, if you look around the giant chandeliers that form a bridge from one side of the upper level to the other, just beyond the spot where you find Thug #4, you will find a Lucky Charm atop some shelves below the chandeliers. Simply jump down to the top of the shelf to retrieve it.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

You will find the Treasure Key at the end of the upper level, just beyond Booby-trap #5.

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

The Fire Down Below mission is one hot, hot, hot place, Sly. The temperature gauge is reading off of the charts and I have the feeling that this is the location of the power source for Raleigh's Storm Machine. You will face many challenges in this area, including a sophisticated, wheel-based device used to control access to the area. I will give you a more thorough evaluation of the premises as you make your way through them.

THUG ALERT

The temperature is not the only thing that is hot down here, Sly! Raleigh's thugs are everywhere and they will not hesitate to come after you once you are spotted. As always, exercise extreme caution and, hopefully, you will make it out of this area alive!

THE FIRST THUG that you will have to deal with in this mission is a rather large creature and he is wielding a huge hammer. But, the solution to this gargantuan problem could not be more simple. Simply let him swing the hammer when you are out of range, then quickly move in and strike with your Cane. After you deal with him, you will have to negotiate a small tunnel filled with furnace doors. Use your Cane to (temporarily) close these doors so that you can safely make it to the other end of the tunnel.

THUG #2 is using a blow torch to spit fire next to a large roller on the floor, beyond the steel bridge that connects the furnace door area to this one. Simply wait for his fire-enhanced breath to subside, then move in on the attack.

THUG #3 is just beyond Signal Repeater #1 and he is another hammer-swinger. You know what to do with him.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

THUGS #4 AND #5 can be found just beyond the second furnace door tunnel. One is a hammer-swinger (you, should you need it, will find a Lucky Charm in front of him) and the next is a fire-breather. I assume that I need not remind you of their respective weaknesses.

THUG #6 is a fire-breather and he can be found next to Signal Repeater #2, in an open area that also features Device #2.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, the Lava Lair offers a few sources of treasure. Look no further than some of the volcanic rock that you find — there are plenty of coins to be found hidden in it.

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

The security system found in "The Fire Down Below" mission is not so much an alarm-based system (although there is that component), as one that is set up to limit access to various areas of the facility. There are a few Devices that you will have to master in order to successfully negotiate the area and find the Treasure Key. Let's take a look at Raleigh's line of defense.

Device #1

The area is protected by a series of strange devices that make it very difficult to negotiate large expanses of lava. The first of these can be found in the area where Thug #2 resides. It is comprised of a large wood wheel on the floor that controls a system that sends a series of hooks in motion. In order to safely cross the lava, you will have to use your Cane to hang on to one of the system's hooks. But, in order for the system to have the power required to move your weight across it, you must first power-up the system by running forward on the wood wheel. Once the meter on the left reaches the red mark, you will want to jump up and use your Cane to catch a ride on the nearest passing system hook. Hold on and ride it to the other side, and safety!

PRIMAGAMES.COM

Device #2

Device #2 is actually the top of Device #1 and you must use your Cane to swing across to it. Then, simply jump from the top of one gear to the next (there are a couple Clue Bottles up here), until you reach the steel bridge on the other side. On the other side of the bridge, you will find a few furnace doors that you need to use your Cane to temporarily close.

Device #3

Device #3 is another wood wheel contraption. It is located in the open area where you will find Thug #6 and it is used to break open a pane of glass to the left of the device – allowing passage to the final area of the mission. Like before, you must run forward on the wheel (Sly, let me ask you; Do you feel like a hamster on those things?) to get the gauge to the left in the red zone. Doing so three times will, in turn, cause a light on the boiler in front of the wheel to turn on three times, and a volcanic rock will break the glass. There is one additional wrinkle, however — there is a searchlight that passes over the wheel. Sly, you will need to be patient with this one. Get on the wheel and run until the light comes toward you, then quickly jump off. As soon as the light makes its next pass and the area is clear, get back on the wheel and juice the meter again. It should only take you a couple of tries on the wheel to break the glass.

Alarm #1

The mission's only true alarm system can be found in its final area — just after you break the glass with Device #3. It is comprised of a series of four searchlights that patrol a sequence of conveyor belts. Simply avoid the slow-moving lights, capturing any Clue Bottles you find along the way, and you will easily make it to the system's controls, which you can then destroy.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

Sly, I know that, with the excessive temperatures found in this mission, it will be hard for you to focus on retrieving Clue Bottles, but you must persevere. The only way that we are going to be able to piece together the pages of the TR is if we can crack the codes to these Vaults — and that means Clue Bottles! Anyway, let me clue you in as to where to find a few of the trickier ones.

In the area that features the Vault, at the mission's insertion point, you will find two furnaces. There is a lone CB floating above the corridor at the second furnace. Double-jump off of the furnace and hit the CB with your Cane to snag it.

In the area where you find Thug #2, you will also find a little cove in front of him and to the left that is protected by some volcanic rock. Use your Cane to smash the rock — revealing two Clue Bottles.

In this same area, you will find a lone CB hanging from a rope above Device #1.

In the area where you find Device #3 and Thug #6, you will find a cove protected by volcanic rock. Destroy the rock to reveal three Clue Bottles (you will also find an additional CB exposed in a cove to the right of this one).

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, "The Fire Down Below" Vault can be found near the entrance. It is in a cove that is left of the two large furnaces in the area.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

You will find the Treasure Key at the end of the mission, at the top of the conveyor belts and just past Alarm #1.

SECRETS OF THE FIRE DOWN BELOW

Sly, you will find a Lucky Charm, should you need it, in the area where you take on Thugs #4 and #5.

The Gunboat Graveyard

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, The Gunboat Graveyard is the area where Raleigh scavenges the ships that he has stolen. Although it is a relatively open and easy environment to navigate, there are some challenges present that will keep you on your toes. Let me break it down for you.

Thug Alert

There aren't too many Thugs to be found in The Gunboat Graveyard mission, but the ones that are here are tough — particularly the dudes that chuck starfish over water — yikes! In the event that you need it, I have a little background on them.

Near the stern of the ship is Thug #1 — a big, bad walrus that fires starfish at you. Simply avoid the fish (jumping out of the way is recommended), then move in for the attack.

Thug #2 is located near the middle section of the ship and uses a belly-flop type of move to subdue intruders. Simply stay out of his way and wait for him to flop. Then, charge toward him and apply the Cane.

Thug #3 is throwing starfish and is located just past Signal Repeater #2, atop an airplane wing suspended above the ship.

Thug #4 is just past Thug #3. He is on a floating platform below, with a cable suspended above him. Jump onto the cable, shimmy across it, then drop and apply your Cane to his thick skull.

THUG #5 is carrying a flashlight and is patrolling the top of a submarine just past Thug #4. Sneak up behind him and end his shift!

THUGS #6 AND #7 are found at the bow of the ship. The first is a starfish-thrower and the other uses the belly flop move.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, in addition to the fact that you can bash rats for coins, I also hear that the ship's wheel and submarine engines may contain some choice treasure!

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

There are a couple of alarm systems protecting The Gunboat Graveyard. Apparently, Raleigh doesn't feel like there should be too much of a threat to this particular piece of real estate. These systems, however, do represent a minor challenge and should be approached with caution.

Alarm #1

Just past Thug #1, you will find a series of four searchlights. These lights move back and forth across some junk floating in the water. Complicating matters is the fact that this part of the ship is submerged and you know how you hate getting wet! You will have to jump from object to object, avoiding the lights and waiting for them to move away from your next landing target before attempting to jump past them. I recommend that you use your Double-jump in this area — just to be on the safe side. You will find the alarm controls on the middle section of the ship, near Thug #2.

Alarm #2

Alarm #2 is a set of four searchlights combing the top of an old aircraft hung above the ship and water below. Simply work your way across the top of the plane, stopping between lights to let the next one go past, then quickly moving forward. The system controls are located at the craft's tail.

SLY MOMENTS

Sly, you will find one occasion in The Gunboat Graveyard to take advantage of your advanced thieving skills. It occurs at the end of the aircraft that is home to Alarm #2. Here, you will find a large tube of water with a narrow ledge around it. Simply sneak around the ledge to the other side.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

I can't believe I am actually saying this, but there are not too many of the 20 Clue Bottles in The Gunboat Graveyard that are hidden or tucked out of the way. As long as you explore the ship, you will find them all. But, remember, because of the alarm systems in The Gunboat Graveyard, some of these CB's are going to be a little tricky to procure. Just take your time and don't get too rattled by the security system. In fact, a good approach might be to disable the alarms as you go, THEN come back and collect the CB's.

You will, however, find a Safe near the Stern of the ship containing two Clue Bottles.

And, there is a lone CB behind the crow's nest at the middle section of the ship, behind Thug #2.

You will also find two Clue Bottles atop one of the wings of the aircraft that is suspended over the ship and water below, and that is home to Alarm #2. There is a searchlight that is fixed on this position, so you don't want to attempt to collect the CB's until AFTER you have destroyed the system's controls.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

The Vault in The Gunboat Graveyard is located on a platform below the platform that is host to the Treasure Key — above the bow of the ship. After climbing up the rope to the TK, simply climb down the next rope to the Vault platform.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

You will find the Treasure Key at the bow of the ship at the end of The Gunboat Graveyard, atop a wood platform accessed via rope.

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, this mission will find you behind the controls of a small submarine. The sub is equipped with a powerful gun. With it, you must destroy 40 chests before the crabs take one of them back into their tubes.

You want to take control of the sub with the left analog stick, and fire in all directions with the right analog stick.

The basic strategy here is to fire at the crabs first, then the chests. Any time that the area is free of crabs, you will want to take aim at the chests.

But, any time a crab gets a chest in its pinchers, you will need to deal with it immediately.

In addition, you want to make sure that not too many chests build up — it will make your job that much more difficult. Any time there are more than two chests in the area, switch your strategy to shooting them first, then the crabs.

Also, you will want to pay special attention to those chests that are close to crab tubes. If you leave them there, it won't take the crabs very much time to carry them back into the tubes and you will be done-for.

After you have destroyed all 40 chests, the Treasure Key will be yours!

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, Raleigh HATES unexpected guests and he is not too happy to see you. I have a few strategies for you that might help you as he BLOATS TO GARGANTUAN SIZE! Although there are a number of ways that you might approach this struggle, I believe that the following method will work very well. If you should miss him when you attack with your Cane, don't panic. He will repeat his previous attack pattern until he has absorbed a hit.

Raleigh will use his frog tongue to snag nearby flies which will, in turn, allow him to grow VERY quickly.

He will then jump toward the floating platform where you currently find yourself. Stay to one side of the platform to give Raleigh a target to hit, then move to the other side once he is airborne.

On the floating platform, he will jump back and forth trying to hit you. As he jumps toward you, move under him to the opposite side of the platform. He will do this a total of four times.

After he lands on the fourth jump, he will shrink down to his normal size. This is when you can apply your Cane. Hit him and he will return to his perch in the middle of the floating platforms, where he will eat another fly and BLOAT TO GARGANTUAN SIZE once again. If you are too slow or miss, he will head back to his perch to reload and you will have to try again.

His next attack will be similar to the first, with the single difference being that all of the platforms, other than the one that you are on, will drop into the water after their red landing lights begin flashing. Don't let this bother you, as you don't require them anyway and you will be using the same strategy as before.

After hitting him (in his smaller, weaker state) a second time, he will, once again, return to his perch in the center of the floating platforms and BLOAT TO GARGANTUAN SIZE.

In his third attack, every platform that he lands on will sink after he lands on it and the red landing lights start flashing. He will jump onto the platform, then attempt to follow you. If you begin on the right side of the first platform, then move to the left side of it as he jumps toward you, he will then jump again to the left side and begin to follow.

Sly, you will want to continue to move to your left, jumping onto the next floating platform before the first one sinks.

If you make use of this strategy, Raleigh will shrink to normal size just as he lands on the fifth floating platform. At this point, you can apply your Cane to his frog head.

One last time, Raleigh will return to his perch in the middle of the floating platforms, eat a fly and BLOAT TO GARGANTUAN SIZE.

For his fourth and final attack, Raleigh will jump to the platform upon which you float and all of the others will sink into the water.

Then, he will stick his long tongue out and begin spinning, using his tongue as a weapon. If he strikes you, you will end up in the drink.

The strategy that I suggest in this situation is to play a game of "jump rope" with Raleigh. Stay on the opposite side of the platform from him, and jump his tongue each time it passes.

You will have to jump his tongue a total of six time before he shrinks to normal size. Once he does, hit him with your Cane and he will go down to defeat.

Of course, Raleigh is a VERY sore loser and he does not accept his defeat gracefully. He also warns you that his pal, Muggshot, in Utah will be much tougher to deal with. In any event, you will now be able to take possession of Raleigh's Treasure Key, and will learn the Ninja Spire Jump.

A Rocky Start

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, the area that leads to Muggshot's hideout is much more complex than I expected. I hope that this is not an indication of how difficult the task that lies ahead of us may be. In any event, you will find a large number of Thugs here, as well as an advanced security system, a number of opportunities to use your advanced thieving skills and quite a few well-hidden Clue Bottles.

Thug Alert

Wow! Sly, Muggshot must really not want any unwanted visitors to Mesa City, because the number of Thugs that he has positioned around its outskirts is simply staggering! Check out the positioning data that I have been able to put together on this area.

THUG #1 is in the area just past the "Mesa City" sign, below the string of small lights. He is a big dog swinging a bigger club. Making use of your new Ninja Spire Jump, drop down on him from one of the lights.

THUG #2 is a bulldog on a leash, tethered to a post in front of a shack and gnawing on a bone — on the other side of the rock wall that you get over via the string of lights from the Mesa City sign near the insertion point. When he spots you, he will come charging at you, but his rope will only let him get so far. After it reaches its limit, it will pull the dog back and he will be dazed from the impact. This is your chance to quickly move in and apply your Cane.

THUG #3 is a bulldog on the other side of the shack with the green roof where you found Thug #2.

Just past this point you will come to a fence. THUG #4, a club-swinging dog will come busting through the fence. Just make sure that you quickly apply the Cane, before he gets a chance to start swinging!

THUG #5 is a dog swinging a ball on a chain — just past the trolley car that houses Alarm #1. Wait for him to lower his chain, then move in and hit him with the Cane.

THUG #6 is a car-dealing dog that will fire a fan of cards in your direction. Jump the cards as you move closer to him and you shouldn't have any problems. He can be found on a teetering rock platform that you reach via the mattress and string of lights just past the trolley that houses Alarm #1.

You will find THUGS #7 AND #8 tied up just past Signal Repeater #1.

THUGS #9-#11 come smashing through two fences between the two car crushers. All three of them are brandishing clubs.

THUG #12 is a ball-on-a-chain puppy and can be found just past the second car crusher, next to Signal Repeater #2.

THUG #13 is a card-dealing dog at the end of the mission, past trolley #4. He is protecting a Safe and the Treasure Key is right behind him.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, I've looked high and low, but the only items I have been able to find that hide coins in this area are fences, signs and wood crates.

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Muggshot seems to excel at making use of laser systems and installing them in old trolley cars. You will find three different systems in place in the area that leads to his hideout — each of them installed in one of these street cars.

Alarm #1

Alarm #1 is a laser-based floor system inside an abandoned trolley car. This fairly simple scheme has the laser switching between the two sides of the floor of the car. Before it changes sides, it will blink rapidly. This is your chance to jump from one side to the next. The alarm system controls are at the other end of the trolley.

Alarm #2

Alarm #2 is a two-part system that is located in the second and third trolley cars. The first part is a set of two lasers moving from the ceiling above. You just need to move quickly when the lasers move away from you.

Part two is a floor-based laser system where the active section switches from one side of the trolley to the other — as in Alarm #1. You should know what to do. You will find the system controls at the far end of the third trolley.

Alarm #3

Alarm #3 is in the fourth trolley car and is a combination of the ceiling and floor systems described in Alarms #1 and #2. Use the strategies from those to negotiate this system. The controls to the alarm are at the far end of the trolley.

SLY MOMENTS

The area outside Muggshot's gives you a number of opportunities to use your advanced thieving skills, as well as the new "Ninja Spire Jump" move that you learned from Raleigh's section of the Thievius Raccoonus.

The first occurs almost immediately, atop the rock formation featuring the "Mesa City" sign. From here, you can use your Ninja Spire Jump and land softly on a series of lights hanging from a cable.

Your next chance to apply your skills is on a line of lights that you reach from a mattress just past the trolley car where you find alarm #1. Once again, use your Ninja Spire Jump to land softly from light to light, and you will make it safely to the next area.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

Sly, if you try to move through the area that leads to Muggshot's hideout, you will miss a number of hard-to-find Clue Bottles. In total, there are 40 CB's in this area and a number of them can present significant challenges.

To begin with, make sure you gather all the CB's in the area patrolled by Thug #1 — below the string of lights that allow you to get over the otherwise impassable rock wall behind him. Remember, safes always contain Clue Bottles!

You will also find a number of Clue Bottles if you jump across the junk floating in the water adjacent to Thug #2.

There are two Clue Bottles on the far side of the trolley car that is home to Alarm #1. If you turn around (after taking care of Thug #5), you can't miss them.

When you drop down from the teetering rock that is home to Thug #6, you will find an old, broken down car laying on its side. Tucked behind this car is a Clue Bottle.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

There are a number of Clue Bottles in the street where you find Signal Repeater #1 and Thugs #7 and #8 — including a couple in a little garden along a cliff.

There are three Clue Bottles atop a small magnet suspended from a crane to the left of the second car crusher, just past Thugs #9-11. In order to jump up to it, you will first have to jump up on the short wall attached to the left side of the front of the crusher.

There is a lone Clue Bottle at the back of the far end of the second car crusher. Simply turn around once you pass the crusher, before you reach the second trolley and Alarm #2, and you will be able to lay eyes on it.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly. The Vault in "A Rocky Start" is reached via a power cable strung up between the two car crushers.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

The Treasure Key can be found at the far end of the "A Rocky Start" mission, just past Thug #13 and the Safe that he is protecting.

SECRETS OF A ROCKY START

Sly, you will find a Lucky Charm (if you need it) on top of a car hanging off of the side of the road — just beyond the first car crusher, and the power cable that allows access to the Vault.

Muggshot's Turf

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, Muggshot's Turf looks like one big junkyard! Apparently, he and his minions have driven all of the legitimate residents of Mesa City out of town. Set atop the high, arid peaks of Utah, Muggshot's hideout is built around his casino and all the shady figures that this particular industry draws like flies. When you arrive in "Mesa City", you will have access to three missions: Boneyard Casino, At the Dog Track, and Murray's Big Gamble. Once you have three Treasure Keys in your possession, you will be able to enter the second part of Mesa City — a large lobby from which you will have access to: The Ruins, Vertigo Alley, Muggshot's Rooftop, and the battle with Muggshot himself in "Last Call".

Boneyard Casino

Requirements for Entry:
1 Treasure Key

The entrance to Boneyard Casino can be found at the far end of the main "plaza" in Mesa City. In order to get to it, you must first cross a bridge that connects the insertion point to this plaza. A machine gun-toting dog with a flashlight is guarding this bridge and his light casts a long beam. Wait close to the bridge's mooring, at the insertion point side of it, until the Thug has his back turned to you. Then, quickly follow him. He has a long walk to the plaza side of the bridge, so you should have plenty of time to reach him before he turns around and gets you in his light.

Requirements for Entry:
1 Treasure Key

At the Dog Track

This portal above the plaza is accessed via a bridge that is in two parts and looks like it was never completed. The curving ramp that leads up to the bridge is protected by a dog swinging a ball on a chain. Wait for him to swing at you, then attack. Once you get past him, you will have to make use of your advanced thieving skills and your Ninja Spire Jump to land softly on the two lights that are strung between the two bridge sections. After that, you will find another ball-swinger — just before you reach the entrance to "At the Dog Track".

Murray's Big Gamble

Minimum Treasure Keys Required: 1 Treasure Key

At the foot of the plaza side of the bridge that connects the insertion point to Mesa City, you will find a trolley car suspended in air by a giant crane. Run through this trolley and it will dip under your weight. When you reach the other end, it will drop you into a fenced area featuring a shack and a bonfire. This shack is the entrance to "Murray's Big Gamble".

The Treasure Key Car

Minimum Treasure Keys Required: 3 Treasure Keys

In the main plaza, you will find a car with its engine running, and its back end lifted by a jack featuring three Treasure Key locks. Once you have the required TK's in your possession, come here and stand in front of the jack to toss them in the keyholes. Once you do, hit the jack with your Cane and the car will run wildly in reverse — right into a wood fence protecting the entrance to the next area of Mesa City. This second part of Mesa City is actually a giant lobby, from which you will have access to three more missions: Two to Tango, Back Alley Heist, and Straight to the Top.

Two to Tango

Minimum Treasure Keys Required: 3 Treasure Keys

The entrance to this mission is located on the right side of the main stairs from the lobby. It is protected by a machine gun dog with a flashlight. In front of the entrance, there is a trash receptacle that you can hide behind. Wait for the Thug to turn his back, then spring from the can and subdue him.

Back Alley Heist

Minimum Treasure Keys Required: 3 Treasure Keys

On the stairs that lead to the entrance to "Two to Tango", you will find a broken chandelier. Climb up this chandelier, then use your Ninja Spire Jump to jump across the lights strung between it and a series of two chandeliers. From there, you simply need hop across a few more lights to the Back Alley Heist portal.

STRAIGHT TO THE TOP

If you head up the staircase that is to the left at the top of the main lobby stairs, you will find the entrance to "Straight to the Top". It is guarded by a dog carrying a machine gun and flashlight. The problem is that his flashlight is fixed on a point in front of him. The solution is that there is a mattress underneath a chandelier just beyond the reach of his light. Use the mattress to spring up to the chandelier, then use your Ninja Spire Jump to move across the strings of lights that connect the chandelier to the "Straight to the Top" portal.

LAST CALL

In the main plaza, you will find a car with its engine running, and its back end lifted by a jack featuring three Treasure Key locks. Once you have the required TK's in your possession, come here and stand in front of the jack to toss them in the keyholes. Once you do, hit the jack with your Cane and the car will run wildly in reverse — right into a wood fence protecting the entrance to the next area of Mesa City. This second part of Mesa City is actually a giant lobby, from which you will have access to three more missions: Two to Tango, Back Alley Heist, and Straight to the Top.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, there are all kinds of breakables in Mesa City — crates, trash cans, and signs that will provide you with a number of coin collecting opportunities.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

Boneyard Casino

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

The security in Muggshot's Casino is extremely tight. In addition to a number of security systems, he's got machine gun-toting dogs all over the place and they hunt in packs. Sly, if you aren't careful in the casino, you might find that this is our last mission! Please be careful.

THUG ALERT

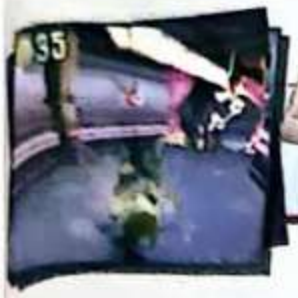
Sly, Muggshot has obviously invested a lot more time and money into protecting his interests than did Raleigh. In addition to a very high-tech security system, he is paying a large number of large dogs big bucks to protect his casino. You really need to pay attention to my Thug dossier this time around, or it could be curtains for you!

THUGS #3-#4 are all located around a grouping of slot machines near the casino's entrance. They are all carrying machine guns and, if you alert one, you alert them all — so you can't allow any whistle blowing! The way to dispatch of them quietly is to sneak up behind each one of them — not getting too close before you let loose with the Cane. Watch each of their patterns, avoid their flashlights, and you will be able to successfully move through this very tricky area.

THUGS #5 AND #6 can be found tending bar just past Alarm #1. They both have flashlights fixed on the area in front of the bar, so you will need to sneak up behind them. Luckily, there is a sneaking opportunity to be had by climbing up on the structure behind the Thugs and sneaking across it. When you reach the moving neon bone, wait for it to come toward you, then get on and jump on top of the Thugs while brandishing your Cane.

THUG #7 looks to be a dealer just before Alarm #2. Take care of him by dropping off of the chandeliers that you use to reach the area in which his table is positioned. One quick swipe of the Cane is all it takes.

TNUC #8 is at the end of the laser floor that is the center of Alarm #2. He will sweep his light across the laser floor. Wait until his light is shining the other way, jump onto the inactive part of the floor and quickly move toward him and wield your Cane before he has a chance to fire a few rounds off at you.



TNUC #9 is a dirty-dealing dog just past Signal Repeater #1. Jump to avoid the cards that he will throw at you, then move in for the hit.

TNUC #10 is making use of his gun and flashlight on a gaming table in the flooded area of the casino, just before Alarm #4. Drop down from the chandeliers that take you to this area and surprise him when the light is shining AWAY from your landing area.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, there are all kinds of things that can be broken to reveal coins in the Boneyard Casino. I believe that you will be able to find coins in bottles and glasses, and even stacks of casino chips, and slot machines that feature neon dog bones!

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

I am sure you are aware of the difficulty in cracking the typical casino security system. Well, the Boneyard Casino proved to be no different — it is a bloody fortress! But, with perseverance and a little genius turtle-know how, I have prepared this primer for you.

Alarm #1

This floor-based laser system is located under the huge automobile grille that is used as a decoration near the casino's entrance. The lasers are on a timer and will alternate between being active on the sides and the center of the floor. You can tell when they are about to change over by the quick flashing that occurs before they do. Simply run on the inactive part, then jump toward the active lasers as they begin to flash. Repeat this procedure until clear of the system. You will find the alarm's controls in the corridor beyond the laser floor and the simple searchlights that follow it.

At the Dog Track

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, this mission will find Murray behind the wheel of the Mystery Van as he attempts to race a bunch of dogs for a Treasure Key. I don't know about you, Sly, but this whole thing makes me nervous. Hopefully, Murray will take advantage of these course strategies and won't get himself into trouble.

Race Strategies

Murray, this race will find you challenging four other vehicles over a three lap race on a dirt track. You must finish in first place in order to win the Treasure Key.

The other vehicles will try to bump you, but try to avoid contact.

Also, you will want to try to take the inside track around corners; this will help you gain ground in the race.

Of course, the Nitros that are littered along the track are going to be your big strategic help. It is best to use them at the next turn you come to after picking one up — to help power you through the turn.

The only problem with Nitros is that the dogs want them too, so you are going to need a little luck in order to finish in first place. Specifically, the fewer Nitros that your competitors lay claim to, the better your chances are of emerging victorious.

The key is to be in no less than third place by the time you complete the first lap. If you are not, it will be nearly impossible for you to win the race.

If you are in second place by the end of lap two, then you have a real good chance of coming out on top.

Finish in first, Murray, and the Treasure Key will be yours!

Murray's Big Gamble

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, we must send Murray in to get the Treasure Key in "Murray's Big Gamble". You will need to provide covering fire from a blasting station located at the mission's insertion point. You know that Murray will have to depend heavily on you if he is to make it safely to the Treasure Key. Remember; Murray can be downed by friendly fire, so go lightly with that hair-trigger of yours! Also, you need to know that Murray will carry with him whatever Lucky Charms you have at the time you enter the mission portal. So, if you have a gold charm, for example, so will he.

In order for Murray to begin to work his way up toward the TK, you will first have to blow the lock off of this door for him.

Many times, when it looks like you don't have a shot, Murray will run away from his attacker and provide you with a clear target — one that will keep Murray out of the line of your fire.

When Murray gets past a few trolley cars, you will find some barrels of nuclear waste. Wait for the stick-wielding Thugs to chase Murray back to the left and get clear of the barrels before you shoot them. If you hit a barrel, it's curtains for the big guy!

In addition, there is a garage where, once Murray runs in front of it, the garage door will open to reveal additional barrels full of waste. Do not fire the gun! No Thug will appear in this area and Murray can continue on his way.

When Murray reaches this bridge, close to where he will find the Treasure Key, a machine gun firing dog will attack from the roof of the building behind the bridge.

The Treasure Key is just past this bridge. As soon as Murray picks it up, you can get out of there!

Back Alley Heist

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, this area is very narrow and will find you exploring the catwalks and rooftops of an alley. There isn't much room for error in Back Alley Heist and some of the Clue Bottles are a little tricky to gather. But, I have done some recon work and I can give you the benefit of a little "advance intelligence".

There are a number of tough Thugs that populate the alley — many of them making use of flashlights and machine guns. The key to getting out of this mission alive is going to be how you choose to deal with Muggshot's personnel. Many times, attacking the bad guys from behind might be in order.

THUG #1 is a bulldog on a chain. Wait for him to pull against the chain when he tries to attack, then spring on him once his tether pulls him back. He is located in front of a large, lighted sign near the entrance to the alley.

THUG #2 is a dog swinging a ball and chain. Wait for him to swing it before attacking. He is located to the right of a lighted sign, above three red and white canopies that you can use to vault upward, near the insertion point to the alley.

THUG #3 is ball-swinging dog in front of a giant, neon dog bone, accessed via a ladder just before Alarm #1. Take care of him, then lay claim to the two Clue Bottles that he protects.

THUGS #4, #5 AND #6 are located below the giant bulldog gargoyles. They are toting machine guns and have flashlights fixed on points in front of them — meaning you need to sneak up behind them. They can be found on a catwalk above the courtyard with the fountain below. To deal with these guys, simply use the red and white canopies between the gargoyles to jump from gargoyle to gargoyle. When you get to the third one, drop between it and the ladder and sneak up behind the three baddies to take them off duty.

THUG #7 is a ball-swinging dog in what looks to be an old glass and steel apartment building near a giant neon arrow and some large neon dice.

THUG #8 is in the apartment above #7 (accessed via a mattress next to #7) and is of the club-swinging variety.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, the Back Alley Heist mission is filled with tons of coins. Wood crates, garbage cans, lighted signs, bottles and even the heads of the three bulldog gargoyles contain treasure untold!

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

The security along the alley is fairly tight, so you need to be on guard while moving through the area. I'll break down the system for you, in the hope that it increases your chances of survival.

Alarm #1

Alarm #1 consists of a lone searchlight patrolling a single red and white canopy. Wait for the light to pass, then jump on the canopy as many times as need be for you to stay out of the light and to land safely on the next catwalk. The alarm system controls rest on a catwalk above and to the right of the canopy and searchlight.

Alarm #2

Alarm #2 is just beyond Signal Repeater #1. It is a series of three searchlights keeping watch on a structure featuring a giant "Muggshot" sign. Sly, you can use your advanced sneaking tactics here to hide from the first searchlight, as you make your way across the structure to the other side. At the end of this upper walkway, drop down to the next. Here, you can use the wall panels featuring a dice motif to hide from the second searchlight, as you make your way back to the left on this level. Finally, drop down to the large red and white canopy below and bounce across it to the right, avoiding the third (lowest) searchlight as it moves across the area. The controls to this system can be found at the far right of the large red and white canopy, suspended from the structure above.

SLY MOMENTS

Sly, there are two advanced thieving opportunities in the Back Alley Heist mission, both requiring patience and your best sneaking abilities.

The first is when you are attempting to get past the first of three searchlights in Alarm #2. You must use the structure to your advantage and hide from the searchlights.

The second is near the end of the alley, when you must sneak across two wood beams to make it to the Treasure Key.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

Although there aren't any real "hidden" Clue Bottles in the Back Alley Heist mission, you will find, however, that they can be difficult to retrieve. You see, Sly, there are many CB's in the area that you will only get one crack at. If you miss them on your way down from a long jump or fall, then you will have to revisit Back Alley Heist at a later date and try again.

You know, Sly, you just might have a difficult time finding these three Clue Bottles — they are on a catwalk, accessed via canopy bouncing, behind a lighted Muggshot face sign.

There are a series of tricky CB's on a rope and pulley system, between two red and white canopies just past Alarm #2. In order to get them, you will have to swing your Cane as you bounce back and forth between the two canopies. There are also a couple of tires here that you can swing from with your Cane, if you feel the need.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

Lastly, there are three Clue Bottles just before you reach the glass and steel apartment building. You must leap off of collapsing platforms and use your Cane to smash them. Sly, the only problem in this scenario is that, if you miss the highest two, there is no way to get back up there and retrieve them (unless the platforms remain undisturbed, allowing for another attempt) — you'll simply have to make your way through Back Alley Heist one more time. The lowest one is a little easier — you can leap at it via the third floor of the glass and steel apartment building.

Location of the Vault

The Vault in the Back Alley Heist mission can be found in the third floor of the apartment building, near the end of the alley. You must use mattresses found in floors #1 and #2 to jump up to the 3rd floor.

Location of the Treasure Key

You will find the Treasure Key at the end of the mission. You can gain access to this area via the three floor glass and steel apartment building. In addition, you will have to make use of your advanced thieving skills to cross the two wood beams that connect the apartment building to the giant dice structure upon which the Treasure Key rests.

Secrets of Back Alley Heist

If you search around the fountain in the courtyard area, you will find a stack of tires with a Lucky Charm in it (if you need it).

Straight to the Top

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, this area is extremely large and it is easy to get disoriented. I will try to help you maintain focus to the best of my ability. There are quite a few Clue Bottles to be found in this mission, and a number of secrets to discover, so let's get going.

THUG ALERT

Sly, Muggshot has strategically placed a bunch of his dogs all over these rooftops. You better keep your eyes open and your wits about you if you want to make it through this mission in one piece!

THUG #1 is actually a bulldog on a chain. Of course, he can only go so far before he pulls on said chain and is dragged backward to the post to which he is tethered. Wait for him to come at you, staying a safe distance away. Then, quickly move toward him and use your Cane once he has snapped back to the post.

THUG #2 is a card-dealing dog in a cove near the back of the roof at the insertion point for the area. Jump over his card attacks and nail him with your Cane before he reloads.

THUG #3 is a tethered bulldog behind the giant "Muggshot" sign, and Signal Repeater #1. He wants his bone, but I guess he'll have to settle for your Cane!

THUGS #4 is protecting what looks to be a mock oil well behind the end of the "Muggshot" sign. He is big and burly, and carries a large club. Let him move toward you and swing his club, then put the hurt on him.

THUGS #5 AND #6 can be found near the neon "Casino" sign that you reach by climbing the top of the oil well (it collapses to form a bridge to this higher level of "Straight to the Top). #5 is a dog swinging a ball and chain — wait for him to swing it, then move in. #6 is a club-swinger next to Signal Repeater #2 — you know what to do with him.

THUG #7 is a card-dealing dog near the "C" in the "Casino" sign. Jump his cards and run directly at him to deliver the final blow.

THUG #8 is a card-dealing dog that is found at the highest rooftop in this area. He is next to a large crane and the Vault. This area can only be reached by using the steel catwalks behind the "Casino" sign.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, "Straight to the Top" is the hiding place for all sorts of coins. Wood crates, exhaust vents, garbage cans, antenna, lighted signs, wood signs and bottles, etc., are all potential sources for cold, hard cash.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

With over 40 Clue Bottles to be found in this mission, there are also a number of well-hidden ones. Allow me to point them out to you.

The first CB isn't that hidden, but it is a challenge to procure. It sits atop an old junker car suspended from the edge of the roof near the insertion point. Typical of all such vehicles that you will find in this mission, it will drop under your weight — so get on and off of it quickly!

There are two safes containing a total of four Clue Bottles behind Thug #2, in a small cove near the back of the roof at the insertion point.

You will find one CB among a garbage can and some wood crates next to the base of the "M" in the large, green, neon "Muggshot" sign.

Two Clue Bottles can be found atop two suspended automobiles — on the edge of the second section of the roof, in front of the "H" and "T" in the "Muggshot" sign and near the first Signal Repeater.

A large cadre of Clue Bottles is found in the large water tank behind Thug #3 (near Signal Repeater #1). You must jump up and use your Cane on the tank to release the CB's.

You will also find a lone CB among the crates and garbage cans behind the oil well.

You will find two well-hidden CB's on the second level of the mock oil well.

There is a Safe with two CB's in it tucked behind a shack in the area where you find Thug #7 — just in front of the "C" in the "Casino" sign. (and one atop a suspended car nearby).

There are two Clue Bottles in a Safe, on top of a shack behind the giant neon arrow, next to the "Casino" sign. Climb up to the very top of the arrow and jump down to the roof of the shack to retrieve them.

Three more Clue Bottles can be found in the area around Thug #8. This is the highest rooftop in the "Straight to the Top" mission — accessed ONLY by using the steel catwalk behind the "Casino" sign. You will find one on a suspended car, one on an old sofa, and one at the end of the glass-encased crane that will lead you to the Treasure Key.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, the Vault in "Straight to the Top" can be found near a crane and Thug #8, on the highest rooftop in the area. It is the building across the alley from the "C" in the "Casino" sign and can only be accessed via the catwalks behind the "Casino" sign.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

The Treasure Key is near the beginning of the mission — under a large glass skylight. But, there is no way to get to it until you reach the crane at the highest rooftop in the area (accessed via the steel catwalks behind the "Casino" sign). You must drop from the crane and land on the giant wrecking ball hanging below. It will then swing through the "Muggshot" sign and crash through the skylight — exposing the Treasure Key.

SECRETS OF STRAIGHT TO THE TOP

Behind the giant neon arrow next to the "Casino" sign is a shack. If you drop down from the very top of the arrow to the roof of the shack, you will find a Lucky Charm (if you need it).

PRIMAGAMES.COM

Two to Tango

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, this area represents an extreme challenge as you try to negotiate the rooftops of Two to Tango while being fired upon by Inspector Fox and make it all the way to Muggshot's penthouse and the Treasure Key. Although there are only 30 Clue Bottles to be found in this area, and they are all in plain view, Two to Tango is much more difficult of a challenge than it would seem to be. You will be required to do a lot of running and jumping, and to make good use of your advanced sneaking skills. I will fill you in on the details as you progress.

Thug Alert

Because of Inspector Fox's presence, there are only a few Thugs that you will have to deal with in this mission, and they aren't anything that you haven't seen before. Still, you should no take them lightly, Sly.

Thug #1 is a card-dealing dog on the very first rooftop that you come to. As always with this character, jump his cards then move in quickly to apply your Cane.

Thug #2 is also of the card-dealing variety. He can be found in Muggshot's penthouse, just past Signal Repeater #1.

Apparently, Muggshot's penthouse overlooks his casino. Just past Thug #2, you will find Thugs #3 and #4 — both armed with machine guns and flashlights. Thug #3 is to your right and he has his flashlight fixed on a mattress in front of him. If you use the gambling table behind him by coming around his left side, you will be able to sneak up on him and get him with your Cane.

THUG #4 is on the left side of this area and his flashlight is fixed on a position in front of him (he is protecting the Vault). The way to deal with him is to use the mattress in front of Thug #3 (once you have taken care of him) to vault up to the chandeliers above. Once you reach the third chandelier, drop down on him and apply the Cane.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

In Two to Tango, you will find lots of roof exhaust vents and antenna on the rooftops of this area. Don't just pass them by — they are loaded with coins! Also, you will find that garbage cans are a source of coins — as well as glasses, playing cards, etc. in Muggshot's penthouse.

Inspector Carmelita Fox

Sly, although there is no security system to be found in this area, you need to be on the lookout for Inspector Fox. My information indicates that she has tracked you to Two to Tango.

If you should encounter her, you can simply run and jump to avoid her Shock Pistol blasts as you move from rooftop to rooftop.

My analysis of Two to Tango also indicates that, once you make your way through Muggshot's penthouse, you will find that you are back in his casino. In this area, you will once again encounter Carmelita Fox. Sly, once she starts to shoot her Shock Pistol there is not much help I can give you. My suggestion is that you do not hesitate and that you keep moving across the remnants of the second floor of this casino. There are a number of steel catwalks, gambling tables, mattresses and chandeliers that you must negotiate before you can reach the Treasure Key. It won't be easy, but I know that you are up to the challenge.

SLY MOMENTS

Two to Tango will afford you many opportunities to use your advanced sneaking abilities. In fact, as you jump between rooftops, you will notice a number of flagpoles that, if you land on them softly, can provide bridges to the next rooftop.

There is also a flagpole that will help you reach the very first rooftop.

You will also find spots on this "Casino" sign where you can jump and land.

In addition, the dilapidated second floor of Muggshot's casino (behind his penthouse) will lead you to a point outside where you will find some additional flagpoles where you will need to make soft landings. Of course, this is made all the more difficult by Inspector Fox, who will be lobbing Shock Pistol blasts in your direction.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

Sly, the Clue Bottles that you find in Two to Tango are all in plain sight, so you won't need my help in acquiring them. However, you will need to collect most of them while Inspector Fox is trying to drill you with Shock Pistol blasts.

Even though you may feel the need to panic (at least I would), she fires her Shock Pistol slowly, so you have plenty of time to collect the CB's AND avoid her fire.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

You will find the Treasure Key at the end of Two to Tango, on a rooftop just outside the second floor of the casino. When you reach it, Inspector Fox will finally give up (for now!) and stop her Shock Pistol fire.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, the Two to Tango Vault is just behind Muggshot's penthouse, guarded by Thug #4, in an area that looks to be the remnants of a second floor over the casino below.

SECRETS OF TWO TO TANGO

You will find a Lucky Charm atop a mattress on the third rooftop that you come to in Two to Tango.

Last Call

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, Muggshot is a stupid clown — but he is a big stupid clown and he favors his dual pistols that fire machine gun-style. You will have your work cut out for you in this engagement. If you survive, you will learn the "Rail Walk" and "Rail Slide" abilities from Muggshot's section of the Thievius Raccoonus. But, first things first; We must concentrate on the task at hand — defeating Muggshot!

The battle takes place on three different floors. On the first floor, Muggshot will fire his guns and a series of crystals will smash through the floor.

There are a total of nine crystals on this first floor, including the one in the center. In order to win this round, you must use your Cane to turn around a series of 8 mirrors positioned around the perimeter of the floor.

Of course, you must avoid Muggshot's gunfire while trying to do so, and he will ruthlessly pursue you.

Luckily, you can jump over his gunfire, in addition to simply avoiding it.

And, you can use the crystals for protection from his bullets.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

Once you have all eight mirrors turned around, the power of the "get" will render Muggshot's guns useless. Of course, he may still get up upstairs

The second round is similar to the first — the main difference is that the second floor has a different shape to it and is a little more difficult to negotiate.

In this battle, there are also eight mirrors that you must turn around.

Strategically, you will need to make much better use of the crystals than was required down below. On the second floor, using a "Ring Around the Rosey" movement, where you try to draw Muggshot into moving around a crystal in the direction that YOU want him to, can be very effective.

Turn all eight mirrors around on the second floor and his second set of guns will fail him.

At this point, he will move up to the third floor and your final encounter.

Here, you will find that you have to make use of your Ninja Spire Jump to get around.

There are a total of six mirrors that surround Muggshot, and electrical cables supporting light fixtures all around them. You must use the mirrors for protection from his gunfire, while using your Ninja Spire Jump to get from point to point.

The major difficulty in this round is that, if you hang out on a light fixture too long, after turning the mirror in front of it, Muggshot will fire his guns, hit the mirror and turn it BACK around. In this case, you will have to use your Cane to hit it again.

That being said, as long as you keep moving in a consistent direction from mirror to mirror (either clockwise or counter-clockwise), you should have no problem turning all six mirrors.

Remember; If you take too long when jumping between light fixtures, don't hesitate to use the mirrors for protection — even if it means you have to turn them more than once.

After you turn the six mirrors, Muggshot will succumb to defeat and you will learn the Rail Walk and Rail Slide abilities from his stolen section of the Thievius Raccoonus.

Of course, he can't help but get a last shot in — warning you about Mz. Ruby in Haiti — the third member of the Fiendish Five. Sly, I say — bring it on!

Defeat Muggshot

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, this area is just creepy and it's freaking me out! Mosquitos, Thugs, slime covered tree branches — all of this stuff is just nasty and I am glad that YOU are the one that has to deal with it, because I'm not sure that I could. Anyway, the approach to Mz. Ruby's lair is filled with danger. I trust that, with your new Raccoon Rail Walk and Rail Slide moves you learned from Muggshot's section of the Thievius Raccoonus, you are up to the challenge.

THUG ALERT

The Thugs in this area are just disgusting. Even though it was very difficult for me, I have managed to piece together a little information on the various denizens of nasty that you will encounter.

THUG #1 is a mosquito that will hover around until it senses that you are in his area. Then, it will fly down toward you. When it does, simply move out of the way, then quickly strike with your Cane. You will find it near the insertion point to the area.

THUG #2 is a spider that will drop down from a tree just past your first tree branch-sliding opportunity. It will attempt to strike at you from its line, but you need only stay a safe distance away, wait for it to strike, then move in and strike back.

THUGS #3 AND #4 are two spiders that appear side by side, on a moss-covered platform just before you reach Signal Repeater #1.

THUGS #5, #6 AND #7 are three mosquitos just past Signal Repeater #1. Don't get over-anxious here, Sly — just take them out on a first-come, first-served basis.

THUG #8 is a spider that appears just before a tunnel that you reach after a series of rail slides on tree branches.

THUG #9 can be found in a hollowed-out tree base that serves as a short tunnel — just past Thug #8. He is a large tree monster that must be hit three times. First, you have to jump and attack its head. The head will drop to the ground and start bouncing toward you, which the separated body does as well. The head represents the greater challenge, so you want to take care of it first. Then, you and your trusty Cane can finish the job by striking the slower-moving body. Sly, you will need quick reflexes to defeat this type of Thug. The key is to immediately react to the head once you have knocked it off the body and strike with all three blows in rapid succession.

When you get to the top of the huge tree stump where you found Thug #9 in its hollowed-out base, you will encounter THUGS #10 AND #11 — two tree monsters that are not at all happy to see you. Sly, it looks like they might need a little pruning! You will also find four Clue Bottles in this area.

At Signal Repeater #2, you will find THUG #12. He is carrying a voodoo flashlight and is responsible for security at the large, spiked wood fence just behind the Signal Repeater. Once you sneak past him, along the ledge in front of the fence, you can jump up to his station and take care of him. Sly, I am not entirely sure what kind of creature this is, but it looks like a large swamp rat!

You will find THUGS #13-17 patrolling an area, just past Thug #12, that is marked by a number of structures that look like teepees. This is also home to the Treasure Key, Vault and a number of Clue Bottles. Sly, you may not want to engage these swamp rat guards. Instead, try to avoid their lights, work your way around the area picking up CB's and, more importantly, use your Cane to whack the wicks off of the five purple candles that mysteriously control the shield that protects the Treasure Key. Once you have destroyed all five candles, the Thugs will magically disappear!

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, you will find coins in the masks that adorn pots of fire, vases, and various voodoo masks in the area.

SLY MOMENTS

Sly, there is only one advanced thieving opportunity in "The Dread Swamp Patch", but it is a doozy! Allow me to share the details...

At Signal Repeater #2, you will find a large, spiked wood fence protected by Thug #12 — a large swamp rat equipped with a voodoo flashlight. There is a ledge along the front of this fence. You can climb up the stone structure on the left side of the fence and sneak across the ledge. Just make sure that you avoid his light as you do so. Once you reach the right side, you can hop up to the platform that Thug #12 inhabits and nail him with your Cane.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

Most of the 20 Clue Bottles in this area are pretty easy to find, Sly. However, there are a few of them, particularly when you are sliding on slime-covered tree branches, that might be a little difficult to get your paws on — allow me to assist.

You will find two CB's next to and on top of a voodoo face statue with fire in its eyes and mouth. It is adjacent to a trampoline that vaults you up to your first tree branch-sliding opportunity in the mission.

There are two CB's on top of a tree stump that you can jump to as you are sliding down a tree branch — just before you reach Signal Repeater #1.

You will find four CB's atop the large tree stump that is home to Thugs #10 and #11. Three are grouped together and one is hiding up in a scraggly-looking tree.

There is a single Clue Bottle on the platform that is home to Thug #12.

Lastly, you will find a number of CB's in the area patrolled by Thugs #13-17, and that is home to the Treasure Key and the Vault.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, the Vault in "The Dread Swamp Patch" can be found on a little platform adjacent to the area patrolled by Thugs #13-16. Make sure that you deal with these Thugs before attempting to open the Vault.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

The Treasure Key in this mission is located among a group of teepee-looking structures that is the prowling grounds for Thugs #13-17. In order to destroy the shield that protects it, you must take the wicks off of five purple candles in the area, while avoiding the lights of the swamp rat guards. Once you destroy all five candles, the shield around the TK will dissipate and you can collect it.

SECRETS OF THE DREAD SWAMP PATCH

Sly, you will find a Lucky Charm (should you need it) on a moss-covered platform just past the top of the large tree stump that is home to Thugs #10 and #11.

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, Mz. Ruby's Swamp hideout is one nasty place! I suggest that we finish this series of missions and catch up with her as quickly as we can. When you first arrive in the Swamp, you will notice that you only have access to three missions: A Grave Undertaking, The Lair of the Beast and Piranha Lake. In order to gain access to the other missions, you must collect three Treasure Keys to open the voodoo gate that is on the right side of the center court of the Swamp. Since you already have a TK from "The Dread Swamp Patch", you only need to complete two of these three missions (for now) to gain access to the other area of the Swamp. Let's take a quick look at what you'll be facing in the Dark Center.

A Grave Undertaking

Requirements for Entry:
1 Treasure Key

The entrance to A Grave Undertaking is on the north side of the courtyard. You must use a trampoline to vault up to a rope, climb the rope and drop down on the moss-covered area above, sneak on the ledge of a fence, past a voodoo flashlight-carrying Thug, then hit said Thug with your Cane. The portal is right behind him.

Requirements for Entry:
1 Treasure Key

Piranha Lake

Sly, you gain entrance to this mission by climbing a pole on the northwest side of the courtyard. The pole will turn horizontal and you will actually sneak past a voodoo flashlight-carrying Thug from above! When you get directly above him, drop down and hit him with your Cane, then enter the portal.

THE LAIR OF THE BEAST

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
1 Treasure Key

The entrance to this mission can be found at the end of a slide rail. You gain access to this rail by vaulting up to it from a trampoline on the northeast side of the courtyard.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
3 Treasure Keys

THE TREASURE KEY VOODOO GATE

Once you have three Treasure Keys in your possession, head to the platform in front of the Treasure Key Voodoo Gate and open the gate. A giant beast will come out and break an even bigger voodoo gate on the southwest side of the courtyard – allowing you access to the second area of the Swamp. Here, you will find the following missions: Descent Into Danger, A Ghastly Voyage, and Down Home Cooking.

DESCENT INTO DANGER

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
3 Treasure Keys

The entrance to this area (as are the other two) is accessed by running along a rail that is protected by an alarm system. Simply get on the rail between two lights and run to the left. Get off of the rail at your first opportunity.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
3 Treasure Keys

A GHASTLY VOYAGE

As with the Descent Into Danger mission, you must access this portal by running along the rail and avoiding the searchlights. A Ghastly Voyage is located on the second platform that you come to while heading left on the rail.

Down Home Cooking

Requirements for Entry: 5 Treasure Keys

The Down Home Cooking portal can be found by using a trampoline that is next to the "A Ghastly Voyage" entrance. While there is a Thug up in the area that you vault to, he shouldn't bother you if you simply run into the portal.

Requirements for Entry: 7 Treasure Keys

A Deadly Dance

Once you have all seven Treasure Keys from The Swamp's Dark Center, find the path that runs perpendicular to the walkway where you found the Down Home Cooking portal. At the end of this path, you will toss all of the keys into the locks at the top of the alarm system structure below and the alarm will be destroyed. Then, jump down to the top of one of its revolving platforms (also featuring hanging skull ornamentation — yuch!), and down again to the hovering circular stone at the center of the alarm structure's base. You will then be launched into the air and straight toward a giant stone alligator head, and into its mouth. It's time to take on Mz. Ruby.

Secrets of the Swamp's Dark Center

Sly, when you reach the upper path that leads to the portal for the "Down Home Cooking" mission, you will see an arched opening at the far end of the path, protected by some kind of purple voodoo magic. If you destroy the two candles on both sides of the opening, the voodoo magic will dissipate and you will be able to easily get back to the first part of the area.

A Grave Undertaking

Bentley's Breakdown

There is a tremendous amount of paranormal activity in this area, Sly. In addition, there are 40 Clue Bottles that you must retrieve in this ghostly, ghastly mission. You need to pay special attention to the tree monster Thugs (they require three hits to destroy) and the ghost generators that seem to produce an unlimited number of ghosts — that is, until you destroy the source of the supply. Sly, we will need to stay in constant communication if you are to survive this mission!

Thug Alert

Sly, Mz. Ruby knew what she was doing when she decided to employ all kinds of nasty swamp creatures and ghosts. Are you sure that we really need to get the Thievius Raccoonus back? I mean, this is much more than I expected and I don't mind telling you that I am a little scared.

You will find Thug #1 a single ghost that seems to appear from nowhere, just before you jump on the first slide rail — near the mission's insertion point. On its own, this single ghost provides almost no challenge. But, I fear that there will be more of them soon!

Thug #2 is a tree monster that you encounter at the end of the first slide rail.

Thug #3 is actually a ghost generator that you will find just past Thug #2. Ghosts will continue to flow from this device until you use your Cane to destroy it. Sly, there is no need to panic here. Although the ghosts continue to attack, you can move quickly toward the generator — just keep swinging your Cane as you go.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

Thug #4 is a tree monster just past Thug #3.

You will find Thug #5 a blood-sucking mosquito, just past Signal Repeater #1.

Thug #6 a tree monster, is located just past Thug #5 and in front of a giant wood alligator head that serves as a tunnel. I hope he doesn't bite!

Thug #7 is a ghost generator that is at the end of the path that is sort of the "tongue" of the giant wood gator head. You will have to use your Cane to break through wood briars as you are attempting to take out the ghosts.

Thugs #8-10 are three ghost generators on the floor of the large hut that you reach at the end of the gator's head. Sly, to destroy all three of these before the ghosts catch up with you, run straight at the one on the right while rapidly swinging your Cane.

You will find Thug #11 a tree monster, just past Signal Repeater #2.

Thug #12 is a mosquito just past Thug #11.

Just past and to the right of Thug #12, you will find a rail that leads you to a circular grouping of moss-covered platforms. Here, you will encounter a grouping of seven circular, moss-covered platforms. While one features three Clue Bottles sitting atop it, another is home to a ghost generator (Thug #13). You will want to hop from platform to platform, repeatedly swinging your Cane at the attacking ghosts and snagging the CB's along the way, and take out the generator.

Just past the circular platforms and ghost generator, you will find THUGS #14-15 — some more blood-sucking mosquitos.

And, there is a ghost generator (THUG #16) just past these guys, at the end of a rail.

THUG #17 is a mosquito just past the ghost generator.

THUGS #18 AND #19 are two ghost generators at the end of a rail just past Thug #17. Keep working your way along the rail, taking out any ghost that crosses your immediate path, and destroy the two generators as quickly as possible, then take care of any lingering ghosts.

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Sly, it seems to me that Mz. Ruby has left most of the security in this area up to her paranormal acquaintances. However, there is one alarm system that I think you should know about. It is in the hut, on the mezzanine level.

Alarm #1

You will find Alarm #1 on the mezzanine level of the hut that is home to Thugs #8-10 (a grouping of three ghost generators). Part one of the system is a rotating snake turret in a tower on the right side of the mezzanine. It feature a series of vertical lasers. You must position yourself between two lasers, then sneak around the tower's ledge, using your advanced thieving skills to move at the same pace as the turret.

Part two of the system is just like part one — a tower with a laser-based snake turret. Although it moves at a different pace, approach it like you did the first. The system's controls can be reached via rope — they are on a platform suspended above the second tower.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, there are coins to be found in briars that block your path, but I have found nothing else that will reward you with treasure.

SLY MOMENTS

Sly, you really don't have to be too sneaky in "A Grave Undertaking", but there is one occasion, inside the hut, where your unique skills will come in handy.

Your only advanced thieving opportunity occurs inside the hut that is home to the ghost generators that are Thugs #8-10. There is a mezzanine level in this hut, and two towers on the left side of it that you reach via trampoline at the back of the hut floor (behind the three ghost generators). Use the trampoline to vault up to the first tower, sneak around it, then work your way across the mezzanine to the second.

At the second tower, you will find four Clue Bottles as you sneak along its ledge, and a Safe with two CB's in front of the tower.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

A Grave Undertaking could not be a more aptly named mission, particularly when it comes to finding Clue Bottles. Sly, there are 40 CB's in this area, and a lot of them are tricky to find. Let's see if our two heads are better than Mz. Ruby's (I assume) one.

You will find a lone Clue Bottle atop an isolated, moss-covered platform in the center of the first slide rail in the area — just past Thug #1.

There are a total of six Clue Bottles (two in a Safe) on the left side of the hut mezzanine. Use the trampoline at the far end of the hut floor (behind the three ghost generators) to jump up to it, then use your advanced thieving abilities to sneak around it two towers. You will find the Safe in front of the second tower, and four CB's as you sneak along its ledge.

If you look around the area where you find Thug #12, you will find a single Clue Bottle on the large root of a tree.

You will also find a rail that you can use to cross to the top of the gator's head — where you will find three CB's.

In addition, there is a single Clue Bottle at the base of a tree alongside a rail just past Thugs #13-15. The problem is that there is a ghost generator (Thug #16) at the far end of the rail. You will need to deal with it first, then work your way back to claim the CB.

Lastly, there is a lone Clue Bottle at the base of the tree that is home to the Treasure Key.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, the "A Grave Undertaking" Vault is found through some wood briars (use your Cane to cut 'em down) — just past the Treasure Key. You will also find two Safes in this area.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

Just past the two ghost generators that are Thugs #18 and #19, you will find the Treasure Key — at the end of a rail and in front of a tree.

SECRETS OF A GRAVE UNDERTAKING

Sly, there is a Lucky Charm (should you require it) located right at the mission's insertion point.

There is also a free Sly icon on the mezzanine level of the hut that is home to three ghost generators (Thugs #8-10). It is on the right side of the mezzanine, just before you reach Alarm #1.

You will also find a Lucky Charm (on an as-needed basis) at the base of a tree just past a ghost generator (Thug #16).

Piranha Lake

Requirements for Entry

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, this mission will find you behind the controls of a Swamp Skiff equipped with a flame thrower. You must light a series of 25 tiki torches with the flame thrower in order to get the Treasure Key and open the huge voodoo gate in this area. The problem is, you don't have any fuel for the flame thrower. Sly, you must use the Piranha that swim in this area as fuel to power the flame thrower. One more thing: You only have two minutes to light all 25 tiki torches.

You pilot the Swamp Skiff with the left analog stick. It controls movement in all directions. In addition, you fire the flame thrower by hitting the ⊗ button.

Your primary goal should be to quickly snag five Piranha, as that is the maximum number that you can carry at any one time. But, you don't want to waste too much time tracking them down. If you have three or four in the tank and there are no more in the immediate vicinity, then stop searching and begin lighting tiki torches.

Catching the Piranha can be very challenging as they are fast and elusive. The best advice I can give you is to look for groupings of the ferocious fish so that you can snag as many at one time as possible.

After you have a full fuel tank, you will want to quickly find the closest tiki torches. While I believe that two minutes is plenty of time to successfully complete this mission, you do not want to waste flame thrower shots. Be very careful when you aim at the tiki torches to avoid this possibility and the time drain that it will represent.

Once your fuel tank is spent, quickly round up some more Piranha and look for unlit tiki torches.

Once you have lit the 25 tiki torches, the voodoo gate will swing open and you can collect the Treasure Key!

The Lair of the Beast

Treasure Key
Clue Bottles: 30
Vault Combination: 4-4-4

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, The Lair of the Beast will be one of the toughest challenges that we have yet to face. With 17 Thugs to battle, and 30 Clue Bottles to find, this quick-paced romp through the swamp will be nothing if not difficult. By the way — did I mention the Beast? Sly, if you encounter this monster, you will need to have cat-quick reflexes if you are going to stay one step ahead of him.

THUG ALERT

The Thugs found in this area are your garden-variety spiders and mosquitos, but there are a number of them and they attack in bunches — not to mention the fact that many of the spiders attack you when you are precariously balanced at the end of a tree branch. This fast-paced mission won't give you much time to think, Sly, so you will need to count on your innate abilities.

You will find THUGS #1-6 after a long rail slide from the mission's insertion point. This grouping of spiders should be no match for your skills.

THUG #7 is a spider on a tree branch — just past Signal Repeater #1.

THUG #8 is a mosquito residing just a little past Thug #7 — he is buzzing around a moss-covered platform.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

THUGS #13-#14: spiders, drop down from tree branches just past Thug #8, as you swing from tree to tree.

Once you land on terra firma again, you will find THUGS #15 AND #16 — two mosquitos.

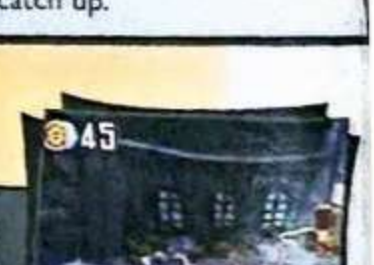
THUG #17, a mosquito, is located on top of the tree where you found #15 and #16 at its base.

THE BEAST

Sly, just after you pass Signal Repeater #2, you are going to arrive at an innocent looking rail. But, as soon as you get near it, the Beast will strike. This worm-on-steroids will hunt you down all the way to the end of his lair, and you will have to make some quick Ninja Spire Jumps and Cane-to-hook swings, and try to snag Clue Bottles while you do! I'm not going to sugar-coat this, Sly — you are in for one tough challenge. I hope to see you on the other side!

The Beast will chase you to the end of this area. The key to surviving is to quickly use your Ninja Spire Jump to make it from one rail or branch to the next, and to immediately use your Cane on any hooks that you come across.

In addition, any time you get to a rail with candles on it, you will need to anticipate these candles and strike early with your Cane. If you don't, they will slow down your progress and allow the beast to catch up.



When you reach the Treasure Key, the Beast will finally give up and you can catch a breather!

Descent Into Danger

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, there is no question in my mind that this mission occurs in absolutely the most disgusting area of Mz. Ruby's Lair. With its bone-filled waterfall and demon turtles, I am really glad that you're going in and I'm minding the store! Of course, in addition to simply trying to survive, you've got to keep your eyes peeled for the 40 Clue Bottles to be found in this area. Good luck, Sly.

THUG ALERT

When analyzing Descent Into Danger, it all begins and ends with the demon turtles that fire flaming faces at you. While there are a number of swamp rats and spiders in these parts, the turtles are the enemies about which I am most concerned. I hope this breakdown helps.

You will find THUG #1, a swamp rat carrying a voodoo flashlight, atop a spiked wood platform near the mission's insertion point. You can't deal with him now, but the good news is that he won't see you when you are sneaking by him on the bone pole below his station (but he might when you reach the far end of it, if you don't wait for him to walk away from you before poking your head out). After you have taken care of Thug #6, hang from the rope that is next to him and you can get a good look at Thug #1. Wait for this voodoo flashlight-carrying swamp rat to walk away from you, then drop down, lower the boom and collect the Clue Bottles.

THUG #2 is also a voodoo flashlight-carrying swamp rat, but he will definitely spot you if you expose yourself to his light while sneaking across the bone pole that runs underneath his station. Of course, when you get to the far end of the bone pole and the moss-covered platform where it ends, you will be able to jump up on his platform and give him the Cane.

Just past Thug #2, you are going to find a series of five pontoons that you must cross if you want to reach THUG #3 on the other side. He is a demon turtle that is using magic and fire to shoot his flaming countenance toward you. The key here is to jump back and forth between flotillas to avoid his flaming face. Wait for him to shoot toward the flotilla that you currently occupy, then run and jump to the one directly across from it and repeat until you reach the last flotillas. When you reach the end, however, you will find that your path to him is blocked by a spiked log. You must locate the large candle on the right-hand flotilla (of the two closest to him) and use your Cane to put it out. This will cause the log to split and the top to swing open like a hatch. Now, the log will be safe to cross. When you do cross, head immediately toward the turtle and take him out with one strike of your Cane.

On top of the giant stone statue that is behind Thug #3 and Signal Repeater #1, you will find THUG #4 — a spider that drops down in the palm of the giant hand attached to the giant arm.

THUG #5 can be found just past the system controls to Alarm #1. This swamp rat, on a platform below, has a voodoo flashlight fixed on a point in front of him. You must drop from a chandelier with your Cane at the ready to surprise him and take him out.

THUG #6 is just past Thug #5. This swamp rat is patrolling an area featuring two Safes and is equipped with the standard-issue voodoo flashlight. Wait until his back is turned and take care of business.

You will find THUG #7, a spider, above the waterfall of bones past Thug #6. This area is reached by jumping from chandelier to the rope to the platform where the spider resides — where the bone river becomes the bone waterfall (and right in front of Alarm #2).

THUG #8 is a flaming, face-chucking demon turtle residing on the far side of some flotillas just past Signal Repeater #2. As before, you will need to jump back and forth and side-to-side between flotillas to avoid his masks and destroy all four of the candles — so that the spiked platform in front of Thug # 8 will open and allow safe passage.

THUG #9 is a swamp rat with his back turned to you as you sneak up on him, and his voodoo flashlight fixed on a spot in front of (and below) him. He is guarding a large candle that, when struck with your Cane, will reveal a secret slide rail. He is found past part two of Alarm #2 and Thug #8.

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Sly, the security along the alley is fairly tight, so you need to be on guard while moving through the area. I'll break down the system for you, in the hope that it increases your chances of survival.

Alarm #1

Alarm #1 is a three searchlight system that is scanning an area above the giant stone statue that is behind Signal Repeater #1 (there is also a fourth in the area below, and at the far end of, this area, past Alarm #1's system controls). There are three stone paths up here, with wood platforms that serve as in-fill between the stone walkways. In addition, there are a number of spiked logs up here that you don't even want to go near. Sly, it requires a well-executed Double-jump to land cleanly on one stone path when jumping from another. If you miss slightly and land on the wood in-fill, it will crumble under your weight (while you can recover from this, I don't recommend that you do it too often). So, while the searchlight themselves are fairly easy to avoid, making it back and forth between the stone paths will require a significant level of precision. Just use your Double-jumps to move back and forth, avoid the lights, and you will find the alarm system controls at the end of the left-most stone path.

Alarm #2

Alarm #2 can be found just behind Thug #7. The first part of this system is a snake turret featuring vertical laser motion sensors and a fixed searchlight to the right. You must pick a spot between lasers and sneak around the ledge of the turret, in a counter-clockwise direction at a pace that matches that of the turret.

Part two of Alarm #2 is a five searchlight system that is scanning a number of flotillas just past Signal Repeater #2. To complicate matters, Thug #8, a demon turtle throwing his flaming faces is at the far end of the flotillas. Sly, I can se the alarm system controls in the center flotilla. You need to worry about that first. While avoiding the searchlights and flaming faces, by running forward and jumping side-to-side, from flotilla to flotilla, make your way to the system controls and destroy them. Then, put out the candles that will allow you to reach Thug #8.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, there are coins to be found in the Descent Into Danger mission whenever you see voodoo masks, or briars that impede your progress.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

SLY MOMENTS

While there are a number of occasions where you will have to tread lightly in this mission, there is only one occurrence of those mysterious blue auras. Allow me to illustrate.

Your sole advanced thieving opportunity in this mission occurs at the laser snake turret that makes up the first part of Alarm #2. You will need to sneak along its ledge, between lasers and at the same pace and direction as the turret, to make it safely around the security device.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

Sly, I think you will easily be able to spot most of the 40 Clue Bottles in this mission. But, my scan of the facility has picked up a few where I thought you could use a little help.

There is a single Clue Bottle resting on the spiked wood platform that is the home of Thug #2.

You will also find a total of seven Clue Bottles atop the three stone paths that are home to Alarm #1.

If you drop down to the platform that is home to Thug #1, from a rope just behind Thug #6, you will find a number of Clue Bottles.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

When you reach the waterfall of bones, you will find that there are four Clue Bottles on the two snake statues on either side of the falls — about half way up. You will have to drop down from the rope and chandelier that you must use to reach Thug #7 (or from the platform that this spider calls home).

Adjacent to the laser snake turret that is the first part of Alarm #2, on a narrow ledge near some killer green ooze, you will find three Clue Bottles.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, the Descent Into Danger Vault is found on a platform to the side of the slide rail that mysteriously appears when you destroy the large candle next to Thug #9. You will also find two Clue Bottles next to the Vault.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

The Treasure Key is found after a long rail slide that begins after you destroy the large candle next to Thug #9. Ride the rail to its end and you will be able to claim the TK.

SECRETS OF DESCENT INTO DANGER

When you reach Thug #7, you will also find that there is a Lucky Charm, should you need it, on the other side of the river of bones — right in front of him.

A Ghastly Voyage

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, this mission will find you atop a hovercraft equipped with a high-energy cannon. You must fire the hovercraft's cannon to destroy the ghost producing ectoplasm towers and demon turtles that are firing flaming faces at you. While you will be on your own for most of this mission, I do believe that I have a few site-specific strategies that might help.

Sly, you pilot this craft with the left analog stick and fire its cannon with the right analog stick — both sticks work in all directions.

You begin by steering your craft onto a small wood boat. You will immediately encounter your first ectoplasm tower — characterized by the green goo that is emitted from the top of the statue. You will have to repeatedly fire at it to bring it down, while also taking care of the ghosts that it produces.

You might also notice that you can shoot voodoo masks and tree branches along the way. You won't get any coins from them (at least for the moment), but it might help you pass the time.

After dealing with a couple of these towers, you will come upon a demon turtle that is firing flaming turtle faces at you — bizarre and spooky! You want to avoid the faces by moving around on the boat, while always keeping your cannon focused on the demon turtle. It is a good strategy to stay to one side of the boat, firing away at the turtle, until he shoots a face out. Then, quickly move to the other side and repeat the procedure.

You will quickly come to the end of the line for your boat trip, where you'll have to destroy two ectoplasm towers that are side by side. You will want to strafe back and forth to attack the towers and defend against the ghosts.

Once you exit the boat and begin to move on, you will find Signal Repeater #1 and a wall of briars that can be destroyed to reveal coins.

Just past SR #1, you are going to find a bunch of voodoo masks and candles. All of them can be destroyed and the voodoo masks contain coins. Remember; Collect 100 coins and you'll receive a Lucky Charm. That would come in real handy right about now!

Anyway, there is also a demon turtle in this area and he is protected by a briar fence (it contains coins). You will have to destroy the fence before you can get at the turtle.

In the next area, you will find two ectoplasm towers protected by briar fences and a bunch of voodoo masks and candles. You will want to blast all of the masks and candles so they don't disturb your movement, then strafe back and forth to take care of the fences, ghosts and towers. An important thing to remember here is that the closer you are to the briar fences, the easier they are to destroy.

The next area is inhabited by a demon turtle and an ectoplasm tower protected by a briar fence, as well as some masks and candles. Take care of the tower first, then the turtle. You will have to move around a lot in this area to avoid all the ghosts and flaming faces.

After heading up a long ramp, you will find Signal Repeater #2. Just past this, you will find that you have to fight both the ghosts from another ectoplasm tower and a demon turtle, while on this narrow, curving path. The tower is before the turtle. Take care of it by moving close to it, then pulling back each time that the turtle fires a face in your direction. You will quickly destroy the tower using this method, then you can concentrate on the turtle.

In the next area, you will find two demon turtles on the other side of a doughnut-shaped path. They are protected by a number of briar fences that you will want to destroy while moving in a circular fashion around the doughnut path. Of course, you will have to keep your eyes peeled for flaming faces as well. Once the fences are destroyed, move to the top of the doughnut path and strafe back and forth to quickly take care of the turtles.

Finally, you will reach the area where you can lay claim to the Treasure Key. It won't be easy. There are three ectoplasm towers in this area, each protected by a briar fence. This will be a long battle as it is difficult to get close to the towers and their fences. With so many ghosts being produced, you will want to concentrate on defending against them while taking out either the right or left tower first. Once you get one tower down, your job will become MUCH easier.

Once all three towers are destroyed, the Treasure Key will be yours!

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, there is a ghost in this chicken coop that says he will give us his Treasure Key if you can catch 50 chickens in two minutes. It seems he needs them for the soup that he is making, but he is afraid of the bomb-toting roosters that enter the coop from time to time. Think you can do it?

Sly, this is a pretty simple game. The chickens come out of the left and right sides and top of the coop

You must run around and strike them with your Cane to capture them.

The catch is that, at irregular intervals that increase as you catch more chickens, bomb-toting rooster will enter the coop and attack.

Any time they enter the coop, they will run right for you and give chase. They will keep chasing you until their bombs explode. You must simply stay away from them until they get toasted.

A strategy that might help is that, as you might have noticed, roosters and chickens don't enter the coop from the bottom. Any time a rooster enters the coop, head for the bottom. Then, work your way around the bags of feed, pots, etc. — staying one step ahead of the pursuing roosters AND constantly swinging your Cane to capture any chickens that might cross your path.

After you have collected 50 (before the clock runs out), the ghost will appear and drop the TK onto a bag of seed in the center of the coop. Collect the Treasure Key and you can get out of this "fowl" smelling place!

A Deadly Dance

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, Mz. Ruby is waiting for you and she is not a patient woman. When you reach her, you will find that she wants to engage in a deadly dance to a rhythmic beat. You will have to follow the beat and the music to avoid her attacks in a series of scenarios. I hope, for your sake, that raccoons make good dancers!

Before you get a shot to dance to the beat, you are going to have to Ninja Spire Jump onto successive teeth in the mouth of a giant stone gator.

As always, this is all about timing your jumps. In this case, take off for the next tooth just as the gator mouth begins to open.

When you reach Mz. Ruby, she will be in the middle of a circular area. Wait for her to spin around, trying to hit you with her tail, then drop down and hit her with your Cane.

Now, the first round of dancing to the beat will begin. You will hop aboard a turtle and the Deadly Dance will ensue.

Mz. Ruby will shoot a series of controller icons (○×△□) at you. You must simply respond in-kind at the same speed and rhythm. Failure to do so will result in a most heinous experience.

If you keep the beat going, you will make it [illegible] turtle's back.

Mz. Ruby will, once again, take a swipe at you with her tail, and you will have to jump, then respond with your Cane.

Round two takes place atop a series of spires above the muck. You will need to work your way from spire to spire, up towards the point where Mz. Ruby currently resides. The rhythms will vary much more, and get a lot faster, in this round.

Once you reach her, she will spin, you will jump and the Cane will reign supreme!

The third, and final, round will take place on the back of a mosquito. The patterns will get even faster in this round and you will have to be on your toes. Make sure you keep the rhythm and you will be able to defeat Mz. Ruby.

In doing so, we will be able to travel to Panda King's stronghold — with your new Invisibility Technique added to your repertoire.

A Perilous Ascent

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, this area is just crawling with Panda King's Thugs — most of them carrying flashlights. Your biggest concern, for now, is to get past the many goons that Panda King has stationed around this area, snag all 30 Clue Bottles, get the Treasure Key and get out. You might want to consider the use of your new Invisibility technique — courtesy of Mz. Ruby. I will stay in contact as you make your way through this brutally cold environment.

THUG ALERT

I expect that, in order to successfully complete this mission, you are going to require a breakdown of each and every one of Panda King's Thugs found in this area. I have compiled the following dossier for your use.

THUG #1 is a huge, purple ape that is wearing a mask and carrying a big stick. He will use the stick to vault toward you, but don't let that bother you. Simply move right at him and swing your Cane before he has a chance to strike. He can be found in close proximity to the insertion point for the mission.

THUG #2 is also wielding a big stick and can be found on a small bridge just past where you encounter Thug #1.

THUG #3 is a big ol' monkey that is using a wood device to launch little monkeys down a hill toward you. As the little monkeys pick up speed, they also gather snow and become deadly snowballs! You will want to move left and right to avoid the monkey-balls as you inch ever closer to the big guy. When you get close, use your Cane to strike down he and his contraption. You will find Thug #3 just up the hill from Thug #2.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

THUG #4 and his monkey-ball roller can be found in a narrow canyon that is up the hill from Signal Repeater #1.

THUGS #5 AND #6 are monkey-ball rollers that can be found just past Signal Repeater #2. The situation is a little more tricky here, Sly. But, you might notice that each pair of balls is launched at exactly the same time and move in exactly the same direction.

Just past Signal Repeater #3, you will find THUG #7. He is a big ape that has a sword for a weapon and a flashlight to expose you — patrolling an area in front of a building. Wait for him to turn his back to you, then run up behind him and hit him with your Cane. If you need more time, you can use your advanced thieving skills to hide behind the statue just outside the building.

You will first encounter THUGS #8-10 while sneaking around the narrow ledge outside the building just past Thug #7. Of course, your main objective when you first encounter them will be to avoid the lights that they are casting in your direction. However, when you get past the ledge, you will be able to take a path up to where they are stationed. Here, you will find that the three large, sword-swinging apes have their backs to you, and that there are three rockets in front of you. Use your Cane to ignite the rockets and watch the fun!

In front of Signal Repeater #4 and the building that will provide your exit from this area (and entrance into Panda King's Temple grounds), you will find THUG #11 — an ape with a stick.

You will find THUGS #12-18 patrolling an area adjacent to the exit building and Signal Repeater #4. This area is a serpentine path between snow-laden trees and it must be approached with great caution. Each of the seven Thugs is brandishing a sword and carrying a flashlight — and they each have their distinct area to patrol. Sly, you need to sneak around each one of them QUIETLY, without disturbing the others. While it is possible to defeat them when they are in attack mode, I don't recommend it. Just take it slow and quiet (using your Invisibility technique as needed) and take them out one by one — they'll never even know you were there! You might be wondering why this area is so heavily patrolled. Well, the Treasure Key resides at the top of this path (and there are a number of Clue Bottles in this area). Once you get your hands on it, you will be able to return to the exit building and we can move inside Panda King's compound!

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, you should make sure that you fire off any fireworks that you might come across in this area — they will release all kinds of coins after they explode! Also, if you see any vases, wood signs, or stone poles smash 'em! Most of them contain treasure as well.

SLY MOMENTS

Sly, while you are exploring the area outside Panda King's compound, you may notice that there are certain areas that are marked by sparkling, blue spectral auras. When you see these occurrences, you have the chance to use these skills to your advantage.

Your first opportunity in this area occurs just after you cross a rickety wood bridge — past Signal Repeater #1. There is a narrow mountain ledge here where you must hug the side of the wall to safely make it to the other side. There is one small problem, however. There are icicles falling from above and you do not want to make contact with them! To avoid the icicles, simply look for the snow that falls just before the icicle drops. This will give you ample warning that another one is coming. Then, you simply need to make sure that you are out of its direct path.

Your third advanced thieving opportunity occurs outside the building patrolled by Thug #7. There is a statue here that you can hide behind to avoid his flashlight.

A fourth advanced thieving opportunity occurs just past Thug #7. There is a narrow ledge here, outside of a small structure. This ledge is also guarded by three sword-wielding apes (let's call them Thugs #8-10) that are flashing their lights downward along the face of the building. Sly, you need to use the canopies above the windows along this wall to hide from them. Study their back-and-forth patterns, then move toward the next canopy when the path is clear.

Mysterious Messages

While most of the Clue Bottles in "A Perilous Ascent" are easy to spot, there are a few that might require a little more work on your part. Allow me to point them out to you.

You will find two CB's in a Safe located at the end of the mission — adjacent to the Treasure Key exit doors and Thug #11.

There are also a number of CB's along the path patrolled by Thugs #12-18 — and on top of the wall on the right side of this path.

Lastly, there is one sneaky Clue Bottle to the right of the exit doors at the end of the mission, behind a bush.

Location of the Vault

Sly, the Vault in the area outside Panda's compound is located in a room below Thugs #8-10. Once you launch a set of rockets toward the next building, a hole will blow open in the floor upon which they used to stand. Simply drop down to find the Vault.

Location of the Treasure Key

You will find the Treasure Key at the top of the heavily guarded path patrolled by Thugs #12-18.

Inside the Stronghold

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, Panda King's Stronghold is the central staging area, if you will, from which you will launch all of your missions in pursuit of the Panda King. When you first arrive on the grounds, you will notice that you only have access to three missions: The King of the Hill, Flaming Temple of Flame and The Unseen Foe. In order to gain access to the other missions, you must collect three Treasure Keys to unleash the rockets found on the roof of the main structure in the temple area. Since you already have a TK from the area outside Panda King's Stronghold ("A Perilous Ascent"), you only need to complete two of these three missions (for now) to gain access to the other part of the Stronghold. While there isn't a whole lot of criminal activity on the grounds, I feel that it is in your best interests for me to describe the portals to each of the missions found in the Stronghold, and just who (or what!) might be impeding your access to them.

Flaming Temple of Flame

Requirements for Entry:
1 Treasure Key

The entrance to the Flaming Temple of Flame mission is guarded by a single, sword-swinging ape. He is carrying a flashlight, so you will need to wait until he has his back turned to you and is walking away before striking. The entrance is located on the right side of the roof of the main structure in this area (access to which is also guarded by a sword-wielding ape).

The Unseen Foe

Requirements for Entry:
1 Treasure Key

The entrance to The Unseen Foe mission is on the left side of the roof of the main structure in this area. The sword-swinger that guards it is stationary. But, he will retract his flashlight at regular intervals, then take a little cat-nap. Wait until he does so, then run across the bridge that separates the two of you and apply the Cane.

The King of the Hill

Requirements for Entry:
1 Treasure Key

The entrance to "The King of the Hill" mission is adjacent to the bridge that leads to the entrance to The Unseen Foe. You must use your Cane to swing off of a lantern, onto a large paper chandelier and over to the snow-covered cliff on the other side.

The Treasure Key Rockets

Requirements for Entry:
3 Treasure Keys

Once you have three Treasure Keys in your possession, head to the Treasure Key Rockets and stand in front of them to insert the three keys. Once you do, hit the rockets with your Cane and they will crash into the roof (and produce a number of coins in the explosion), next to where you are standing. Drop in the hole and you will gain access to a new area of Panda King's Stronghold. In this area, you will find a number of new missions.

A Desperate Race

Requirements for Entry:
3 Treasure Keys

The entrance to this area is being guarded by a sword-swinging ape with a flashlight fixed on a position directly in front of him. In order to gain access to the portal, you must drop down on him from behind.

Duel by the Dragon

Requirements for Entry:
3 Treasure Keys

The entrance to this mission is guarded by a stick-carrying Thug. It can be found on the other side of a narrow wood bridge — accessed by climbing a pole that will take you to a rooftop, next to the area where you drop down to surprise the Thug guarding the entrance to A Desperate Race.

RAPID FIRE ASSAULT

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
3 Treasure Keys

The Rapid Fire Assault portal is guarded by a sword-swinger with his flashlight fixed on a point directly in front of him. The only way to take him out is to ride a rope and pulley system from below the area where he is stationed. Using your advanced thieving skills, ride the rope and pulley system up and jump onto the roof behind the Thug. You can take him out if you want, but you can simply choose to sneak into the Rapid Fire Assault portal.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
7 Treasure Keys

THE UNSEEN FOE

Once you have all seven Treasure Keys from the Panda King's Stronghold area in your possession, head to the 7 Treasure Key rockets in the second area of the temple grounds. Use the keys in front of the rockets and locks, then hit the two large rockets with your Cane and grab onto the eye hook to ride to your pending battle with the Panda King himself.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, when you light the rockets that destroy the roof that drops you down to the second area in Panda King's stronghold (after finding three Treasure Keys), a number of coins will appear as the result of the explosion.

Flaming Temple of Flame

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
1 Treasure Key
9-3-2

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

You've got your work cut out for you here, Sly. The Flaming Temple of Flame is home to no less than a dozen of Panda King's well-trained Thugs. In addition, I have found three different Alarm systems that you must deal with and a number of Clue Bottles that can be very difficult to locate. You will need to pay close attention to my instructions if you are going to survive this one!

THUG ALERT

Sly, the Flaming Temple of Flame is home to a number of Panda King's biggest and baddest. You will need to bring your 'A' game to beat these guys. Have no fear, however, I have prepared a little "pre-game" strategy that might help.

THUG #1 is one of those large purple guys that swings a big stick and uses it to vault toward you. He is located near your insertion point for the mission — just in front of the line of lanterns that will take you to the actual Temple building. A swift Cane as he moves in on the attack is all that is required.

THUG #2 also wields a big stick and resides just past the first lantern and just before Alarm #1.

THUG #3 is one of those large, sword-wielding apes. He is located just past Alarm #1 and Signal Repeater #1. He is also carrying a flashlight, but that needn't bother you. When you use the trampoline to bounce up to his specific spot of terra firma, you will have to use the Cane on him BEFORE the light ever becomes an issue.

THUG #4 is a sword-swinging ape with a flashlight. He is located just past the system controls to Alarm #2. There is a rock adjacent to him that, via your advanced thieving abilities, you can hide behind, out of the light, until he turns his back. Then, you can jump him and make sure that he won't be hitting the Panda King up for any overtime!

THUG #5 is a karate girl, just past Signal Repeater #2. She will jump at you from the walkway above and will make small, quick moves toward you. Be aggressive with her and take the girl out quickly.

THUG #6 is a karate girl just inside the entry to the temple.

Sly, you will find THUG #7 patrolling an area below a line of lanterns that you can ride down from Signal Repeater #3. This big ape carries both a sword and a flashlight, so you will want to drop from the line and be ready to use your Cane on him as you fall.

THUG #8 is a karate girl that drops down from a roof just past Thug #7 and attacks.

THUG #9 is a sword-wielding ape with a flashlight, inside a small structure just past Thug #8. You will have to sneak around a narrow ledge to surprise him from behind.

THUGS #10 AND #11 are two ninja cats just past Signal Repeater #4.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

The Flaming Temple of Flame has all kinds of vases and little stone dragon statues scattered throughout the area. If you break these treasures, you will find that they contain even more valuable stuff inside of them! You will also find that, if you destroy some of the decorations around the top of the gong structure in the temple, you can gather a few more coins. In addition, the monkeys dancing on spires in the temple can be knocked off for cash.

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Sly, there are a number of laser-based systems in this mission, and the temple grounds. Some of them need to be jumped over, some need to have their movement patterns carefully analyzed and some will require that you make use of your advanced thieving techniques. I will break them down for you, one-by-one.

Alarm #1

This system is the easiest of the bunch to deactivate. It is located just past Thug #2. To avoid its laser floor system, simply use your Cane on the conveniently placed eye hook above and swing across. You can deactivate the system controls on the other side of the lasers.

Alarm #2

Alarm #2 is located just past Thug #3. It consists of two parts — the first part is made up of three laser fences that are pivoting up and down, where you only have a small ledge to walk across, while avoiding the lasers. The best solution here will require that you use your advanced thieving abilities. To negotiate the three fences, simply Ninja Spire Jump each one when it is on its downward movement, landing softly on the narrow ledge between the fence you just cleared and the next. Do this three times and you will land safely on the other side.

The second part is a grouping of four floor-based lasers moving back and forth. You must use your Cane to swing from eye hook to eye hook, above the laser floor, until clear on the other side. You will find the alarm system controls here and can destroy them. This will, in turn, deactivate both parts of Alarm #2.

Alarm #3

Alarm #3 can be found just past Signal Repeater #2 and Thug #5 — along a ledge that you must use your advance thieving skills to traverse. The system is comprised of two searchlights. You must avoid the lights as they move up and down as you sneak across the ledge. It is a simple, timed pattern — nothing more. The ledge leads to the temple entrance, where you will find the alarm system controls.

Alarm #4

Sly, you will find Alarm #4 in a structure near the far end of the mission — just in front of the Treasure Key case. If you take a moment to analyze the movement of this floor-based laser system, you will see that the lines are crossing and that the entire system will move in a clockwise pattern, then reverse itself and begin a counter-clockwise movement. Be patient and simply jump from opening to opening as the one you are currently in begins to close up on you. If you move calmly and find your center, this system will end up being no challenge at all. The system controls are at the far end of the structure.

SLY MOMENTS

Sly, this mission offers a number of opportunities to make use of your advanced thieving abilities and, in particular, your Ninja Spire Jump move.

The first is at Alarm #2, where you must cross a narrow ledge while three laser fences track the area. Each one of the fences moves up and down, so you must follow their pattern, move between them when it is safe (I recommend using your Ninja Spire Jump), then wait for the next laser fence to clear.

The second opportunity is at the end of the second part of Alarm #2. There is a ledge here that, if you sneak around it, will reward you with two Clue Bottles.

The next opportunity to make use of your skills occurs when you attempt to dispatch of Thug #4 — just past Alarm #2. There is a rock here that will serve as protection from the guard's flashlight.

You will also find a narrow ledge that you must traverse, just past Thug #5 and Signal Repeater #2. It leads to the temple entrance and features a two-searchlight alarm system (#3).

The next chance you have to use your skills is inside the temple. There is a giant stone warrior sculpture where you must navigate a narrow path around it and to the top of the head.

Once at its peak, you will find a cane-shaped chandelier. Use your Ninja Spire Jump to land safely upon it, then sneak across it.

From the end of the chandelier, you will be able to jump over to a structure supporting a large gong. In order to find a way out of the temple, you must work your way around a narrow ledge on either side of the gong.

Just past Thug #8 is a small structure featuring an even smaller ledge. Use your advanced thieving skills here to sneak around the ledge and surprise Thug #9, who is standing inside the structure.

Sly, after swinging across some eye hooks just past Signal Repeater #4, you will find a narrow ledge that will lead you to a totem pole that will take you to an isolated platform in front of the structure that houses Alarm #4.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

Sly, there are a number of well-hidden Clue Bottles in the Flaming Temple of Flame. I will help you find them all.

First of all, you will find two Clue Bottles at the end of a narrow ledge that you must sneak across. This ledge can be found at the end of the second part of Alarm #2.

When you get inside the temple, heading up the wood ramp where you take on Thug #6, turn to your left at the top of the ramp. Go around the large column and you will find a Safe containing two Clue Bottles.

You will also find three CB's at the upper level of the temple, on an exterior deck behind the large gong.

There are four Clue Bottles atop some chandeliers and platforms suspended high above the floor of the temple. You can reach them from the top of the structure that houses the gong.

If you drop below the deck that is home to Signal Repeater #3 (you reach it by sliding down a line of lanterns from the top of the structure that houses the gong, inside the temple), you will find two Clue Bottles on a wood platform.

If you move too quickly, you might miss the two Clue Bottles just outside of the small structure that is home to Thug #9.

On the roof of the small structure where you find Thug #9, you will see a series of snow covered platforms. Jump across these to a fireworks platform and ride it up to find three Clue Bottles.

Location of the Treasure Key

You will find the Treasure Key at the far end of the Flaming Temple of Flame. You simply need to get past Alarm #4 to reach it.

Location of the Vault

Sly, The Vault in the Flaming Temple of Flame is located in the structure that is also home to Alarm #4.

Secrets of Flaming Temple of Flame

Sly, you will find a Lucky Charm, should you require it, under the laser floor that is the second part of the system that makes up Alarm #2. You might want to make sure that you deactivate the laser floor before attempting to recover the Charm.

The Unseen Foe

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, this area is just crawling with Panda King's Thugs and is monitored by a very complex security system. You should use extreme caution when approaching these facilities. However, you do have your new Invisibility technique that you learned from Mz. Ruby's section of the Thievius Raccoonus, so at least you've got THAT going for you! I will give you more information as we proceed.

Thug Alert

Sly, the Thugs in this area display a great degree of skills in their ninja-like moves. You need to deal aggressively with these henchmen and women. You know what your grandfather always said: "There's nothing more punishing than the quick and efficient use of a Cane". He meant the weapon... Right?

Thug #1 is a giant, sword-swinging ape. Unfortunately, Sly, this is not the end of the story. In addition, he has a flashlight that is focused on a moving walkway in front of him. Fortunately, you have your Invisibility move. With it, you can hide from the ape's light — just make sure that you aren't moving when you are in its beam! Once you get off the moving platform, take him out with your Cane.

Thug #2 is also a sword-wielding ape. His flashlight is moving back and forth across the walkway that he patrols — in the outdoor area just past the first building you enter and Thug #1. Use your Invisibility move and work your way toward him when not in the light. When you get close, take care of business.

Thug #3 is just past Thug #2, a sword-swinging ape high in a pagoda across the way. Although you can't take care of him now, you will need to use your Invisibility move to get past his roaming flashlight. After moving past Alarm #1, you will be able to use your Ninja Spire Jump to cross a couple of totem poles to his tower and drop in and pay him a visit (make sure you land when their fireworks are not going off).

PRIMAGAMES.COM

THUG #4 is scanning the moving walkway with his flashlight, just past Signal Repeater #1 (located in the upper level of the building housing Alarm #1 at its base, and accessed by swinging across the lanterns connecting the roof of Thug #3's pagoda to it). Unfortunately, the walkway is moving toward you and AWAY from Thug #4. Use your Invisibility move to sneak past him, stopping and hiding when the light passes over (you will move backwards a little, then start moving again), then, once you are close enough, nail him with your Cane.

THUG #5 is a purple creature that will come streaking at you, swinging a big stick. He is located at the base of the five level pagoda accessed by sliding down the lantern cable from the area behind Thug #4. Swing your Cane at him just as he comes toward you.

THUG #6 is a cute little monkey that has obviously studied the art of Karate. She will bolt toward you, but don't back up — she will stand still and practice her moves. Just take a quick swing at her. She is located in a courtyard just past Thug #5, at the base of the five level pagoda.

THUG #7 is just past #6 in the courtyard and is of the stick-wielding variety.

THUG #8, a karate girl, is on the walkway outside the second floor of the five level pagoda.

THUG #9 is just past #8, on the walkway around the outside of floor two of the five level pagoda. He is a sword-swinger and has his flashlight fixed on a point looking straight ahead — meaning you won't be able to attack him from the front. Instead, work your way up to floor #3 and drop down and surprise him.

THUG #10 is a karate girl and is located on the outer walkway of floor #4 of the five level pagoda. You can reach her by swinging across the cable lift system from the main building that houses Alarms #1 and #2, at a point just past Alarm #2. You will also find two Clue Bottles right behind her.

THUG #11 is a karate girl and is located on the 5th floor of the five level pagoda.

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, you should check out any vases you may come across in this mission — they are supposed to contain many coins. In addition, there are a number of signs and fireworks that contain coins.

SECURITY SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Sly, the security in "The Unseen Foe" mission is extremely tight. You will face three different alarm systems in your attempt to find the Treasure Key. I hope you find the following synopsis helpful.

Alarm #1

Alarm #1 is made up of a laser fence that scans the activity in the building just past Thug #3, and a couple of roving searchlights. Wait until the fence makes a complete sweep, then run up the middle of this curving corridor, avoiding the lights. Sly, you can use your Invisibility move to hide from these fences, but not the lights. You will find the alarm system controls at the top of the corridor.

Alarm #2

Alarm #2 is located in the upper floor of the main building that houses Alarm #1, Signal Repeater #1 and Thug #4. It is reached by sliding across the lantern cable that connects it to the outer walkway of the fourth floor of the five level pagoda. This moving laser-based floor system is just past Signal Repeater #2 and features a number of Clue Bottles above it. Disregard the CB's for a moment and concentrate on making it to the far end of the laser floor. Do this by jumping in the spaces between lasers as they become wider. Then, jump to the next wide space as the one where you currently rest is contracted. Repeat this procedure until you make it safely across to the other side. You will find the alarm controls when you reach the other end of the room.

Alarm #3

The final alarm in this mission's security system is a doozy, Sly. It can be found inside the five level pagoda and is accessed via the outer walkway on the fifth floor of the five level pagoda. Panda King has set up this laser system so it fills the void in the pagoda's interior. The only way to safely drop down through it is to jump down, from platform to platform. You will have to drop to a succession of six platforms before reaching the alarm system controls (and the Treasure Key) at the bottom of the interior of the five level pagoda. Sly, I recommend that you use your Double-jump move here — just so you have that extra margin for error.

SLY MOMENTS

Sly, "The Unseen Foe" mission provides you a couple of opportunities to take advantage of your advanced thieving skills. Pay attention and I will highlight these occurrences for you.

The first advanced thieving opportunity presents itself after you cross the totem poles that form a bridge from the building housing Alarm #1 to the pagoda that is home to Thug #3. You will need to sneak along the snow-covered ledge of the pagoda roof to get around to its back. From here, you can drop down and surprise the sword-swinging ape.

When trying to approach Thug #9, on the outer walkway of the third floor of the five level pagoda (he is on the second floor), you will need to make use of your advance thieving skills once more. There is a small ledge that you will need to sneak across so that you may drop down to the second floor and attack.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

There are a number of well-hidden Clue Bottles in this mission, Sly. Let me show you the analysis that I have come up with. With it, you should be able to collect all 30 of them.

You will find Thug #3 guarding two Clue Bottles in his pagoda. You can reach this building by using your Ninja Spire Jump to cross the totem poles that form a bridge to the building housing Alarm #1 (make sure you don't land on the poles when their fireworks are going off).

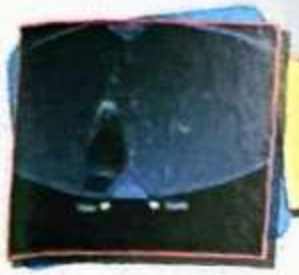
In the area where you find Thug #4 (and Signal Repeater #1), you will find a total of five Clue Bottles — two on one side of the moving walkway, and three on the other.

In the courtyard that is home to Thugs #5-#7, you will find a boulder on the right side of the area with a snow-laden tree behind it. Climb up onto the boulder, then the tree, to find two Clue Bottles.

There are two Clue Bottles that are being protected by Thug #9. He can be found on the outer walkway along the second floor of the five level pagoda — but you will have to drop down from the third floor to get them (and him!).

I am sure that I don't have to remind you that Safes contain Clue Bottles!

You will find two Clue Bottles behind Thug #10, on the outer walkway of the fourth floor of the five level pagoda.



Lastly, you will find a lone Clue Bottle atop a spire that is on the roof of the five level pagoda, just above the Vault. Jump off of the trampoline next to the Vault and use your Cane to snag this one.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, the Vault in this mission is located on the roof of the five level pagoda.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

You will find the Treasure Key at the bottom of the interior of the five level pagoda. You will have to crack Alarm #3 and its advanced security system in order to reach it.

SECRETS OF THE UNSEEN FO

Buddy, you will find a free Sly icon in a vase next to Signal Repeater #2, inside the building that houses Alarm #2.

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, we are sending Murray in to get the Treasure Key in this mission. You will need to protect Murray by shooting from a blasting station located at the mission's insertion point. Although I think this mission is fairly self-explanatory, there are a few key Thugs and junctures that you may want a little more information on. I will point them out as Murray makes his way toward the TK. Remember, Sly, Murray is big and slow, completely unarmed, and not terribly brave. You will need to make sure that your shooting is accurate and timely. Also remember, he will enter this mission with whatever Lucky Charms you have as you enter the mission portal.

Just past a large bell (from which a nunchuck-swinging monkey appears), you will find a rocket. Murray needs you to shoot it so that the rocket can take out the large structure impeding his progress.

Later on, as Murray moves higher up the cliffs, he will encounter a small structure. Inside of it is a large ape and a rocket. After you dispose of the ape, hit the rocket and it will blast into a structure — creating a makeshift bridge for Murray.

Once Murray arrives at the Treasure Key, you are going to find an ambush waiting for him. If Murray triggers the alarm system, be prepared for a number of Thugs to begin appearing in the archways, and on the roof above them, on either side of the TK.

In all, I expect that 10 Thugs will attack in this area. While you should certainly dispatch of them with all due haste — you have more time than you think. Get a bead on the first, zoom in and shoot, then pull back so that the center of your view is the Treasure Key. This way, you will always be able to see where the next Thug is coming from.

Repeat this procedure for all 10 and you will clear the way for Murray. He will then be able to collect the Treasure Key.

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, this mission will find Murray behind the wheel of the team van as he attempts to win another race — this time against a bunch of monkeys for a Treasure Key. I don't know about you, Sly, but this whole thing makes me nervous. Hopefully, Murray will take advantage of these course strategies and won't get himself into trouble.

Race Strategies

Murray, this race will find you challenging four other vehicles over a three lap race on a snow track. You must finish in first place in order to win the Treasure Key.

The other vehicles will try to bump you, but you want to gain the upper hand on them and try to drive them into snow banks along the edges of the track, this can cause them to fall so far behind that they won't bother you (as long as you maintain a good pace).

Also, you will want to try to take the inside track around corners, this will help you gain ground in the race.

Of course, the Nitros that are littered along the track are going to be your big strategic help. It is best to use them at the next turn you come to after picking one up — to help power you through the turn.

And, you want to avoid ice patches whenever you can — or at least use Nitros to power through them.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

Of course, Nitros are a hot commodity on this snow-covered track, and the monkeys want them to, so you are going to need a little luck in order to finish in first place. Specifically, the fewer Nitros that your competitors lay claim to, the better your chances are of emerging victorious. When you have a chance to go for a Nitro, make sure you get it. Not only does it help you, but, by snagging them, you can make sure the monkeys behind you don't catch up.

As in your earlier race, Murray, the key is to be in no less than third place by the time you complete the first lap. If you are not, it will be very difficult for you to win the race.

If you are in second place at the end of lap two, then you have an excellent chance of finishing first.

Finish in first, Murray, and we can add that Treasure Key to our collection, and you can chow down on a sno-cone!

Duel by the Dragon

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRY:
3 Treasure Keys
Glass Bottles: 40
Vault Combination:
Unknown

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

In Duel by the Dragon, you will find that Inspector Carmelita Fox has tracked you all the way from Haiti to China and that she is Intent on taking you in! To accomplish this goal, she has equipped herself with the Shock Pistol. This weapon fires balls of electricity with the ability to stun you. A couple of these and you might find yourself back at Le Police International. So, I'd stay as far away from her as possible. The good news is, there are no security systems to worry about in this mission!

THUG ALERT

Sly, with Carmelita on your tail, you are just lucky that there don't seem to be as many of Panda King's Thugs in this area as you might expect. But, I have prepared the following brief should you find the time to look it over.

THUG #1 is one of those large purple guys that swings a big stick and uses it to vault toward you. He is located near your insertion point for the mission. To defeat him, take a swing at him as he launches toward you.

THUG #2 also wields a big stick and resides just past Signal Repeater #1.

THUG #3 is one of those large, sword-wielding apes. He is located at the end of a section of green roof just before you reach Signal Repeater #2. He is also carrying a flashlight, but I wouldn't worry about that too much. You will be moving so quickly across the roof, trying to avoid Fox's fire, that you will simply run into him. Just make sure you have your Cane at the ready!

PRIMAGAMES.COM

MURRAY'S TREASURE MAP

Sly, in Duel by the Dragon, you will find coins in icicles — talk about your cold, hard cash! Also, Inspector Carmelita Fox's Shock Pistol blasts should knock a few coins out of the ground as well! But, that's not all! You will also find coins in stone statues and vases.

Inspector Carmelita Fox

Sly, Inspector Fox has been tracking you and she is ready to haul you into jail, IF she can hit you with a few blasts from her Shock Pistol. You will spend a great portion of your time in Duel by the Dragon fleeing from these blasts.

The key to success lies in not panicking. The Shock Pistol shots give you plenty of time to react to them. Take your time and make sure that you locate all of the Clue Bottles, but always keep moving — this strategy should keep you safe.

You will be able to get rid of Fox (for now) when you reach a large stone dragon head near the far end of the mission. As she is firing at you from the head, you will find that you are on the tail of the same stone dragon, with five rockets scattered around you. By using your Cane to ignite the five rockets, they will all fly into the head and it will fall into the frigid waters below, with Inspector Fox riding it all the way down.

SLY MOMENTS

Duel by the Dragon features a few spots where you can take advantage of your advanced thieving skills and, on many occasions, your Ninja Spire Jump will be called into action — particularly on those nasty fireworks spires! Let's take a look at where your moves might come in handy.

The first of these spots is a narrow ledge on a wood bridge a little past Signal Repeater #1. Inspector Fox will be firing at you, so keep moving to the left and don't fall off! Don't forget to pick up the Clue Bottles in this area!

The second opportunity occurs just past the first. With Fox sending Shock Pistol blasts in your direction, you will find that she can be an unwilling ally. You see, Sly, as you make your way across this narrow ledge, you will see that there are three windows, each between a pair of columns. These columns feature buttresses that block the path. However, you can wait on the right side of each of them until she blasts them out of your way. Who knows? This may be the way she shows her love for you, Sly!

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES

Sly, although there aren't too many hidden Clue Bottles in Duel by the Dragon, the fact that Fox is firing upon you while you are trying to gather them can be a bit unnerving. Because of this, I have taken the liberty of pointing out a few of the hard-to-find CB's.

To begin with, you can find three CB's behind some icicles in a cove adjacent to the perch from which the inspector first starts to fire upon you.

You will also find a Safe containing two CB's just before you reach a series of four ice spires.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

There are three Clue Bottles on a snow-covered platform to the left of the giant stone dragon and at the top of the four ice spires — the second spot that you will find Inspector Fox firing at you. To reach the platform, you must first use the rocket suspended from a clothes line near the giant stone dragon to topple a giant gate that impedes your progress through the area. Once the gate has fallen, you can jump from it up to the platform with the three CB's. Or, if Fox has not destroyed the ice spires, you can jump from spire to spire to reach the CB's.

Remember to find Safes for additional Clue Bottles.

LOCATION OF THE VAULT

Sly, The Vault in Dragon Dodge is located just past a series of giant icicle platforms that you can create by hitting a rocket — just past Signal Repeater #2. It is also next to two rockets that, when struck with your Cane, destroy the cliff wall next to the vault — allowing you to proceed toward the Treasure Key. The only problem here is that you can't open the Vault because the combination is written in Owl? I will report back to you when this makes sense.

LOCATION OF THE TREASURE KEY

You will find the Treasure Key at the end of Duel by the Dragon. It will become available to you once you send the five rockets at the end of the stone dragon's tail into its head, causing Inspector Fox to fall, with the head, into the icy waters below.

SECRETS OF DUEL BY THE DRAGON

Sly, adjacent to the perch from which Inspector Fox first begins to fire upon you is a small cove with a single, snow-laden tree on the right. Here, you will find a Lucky Charm, if you are in need of it.

Rapid Fire Assault

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, this mission will find you atop a hovercraft equipped with a high-energy cannon. There is really no other way to put it: you must shoot everything in sight to make it to the end and the Treasure Key. I will alert you to specific threats as you move along, but remember one thing — all of the enemies and their equipment release coins when you destroy them. These coins will be valuable, as there is only one Signal Repeater in the mission and you could use as many Lucky Charms as you can get!

The first Thug you will encounter is a nunchuck-swinging monkey. He has just come out of a wood shelter recessed in the snow. More monkey Thugs will continue to pour out of it until you close the shelter's door.

Eventually, you will make your way inside a building, where you will find two of the recessed wood shelters, side-by-side. Your strategy here should be to strafe side-to-side, while inching ever closer toward the two shelters. Eventually, you will get close enough to close those doors.

The same strategy applies to a series of three shelters that you encounter after these. It will take some good shooting, continuous strafing and patience on your part to close all three.

When you exit the building, you will find Signal Repeater #1, followed by a series of low walls behind which large monkeys are creating monkey snowballs and sending them in your direction. Like before, the best strategy is to strafe to destroy enough of the low walls to get through them (while avoiding/shooting the monkey-balls) and get a straight shot at the big monkeys.

Make sure you destroy any and all Icicles that you come across to get their coins. Remember — 100 coins equals one Lucky Charm!

At the end of the run, you will find the Treasure Key atop a tall stone spire. Aim your cannons at the spire and take it down. When you have completely leveled it, you will be able to lay claim to the Treasure Key.

Flame Fu!

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly the Panda King is a pig. His pants bear and he is NOT in a very good mood. This guy is very aggressive but predictable. He has four different attack methods, which he will mix together as your battle grows longer. Let me break it down for you — I think you should find this most helpful.

The first thing you will notice is that Panda King immediately begins shooting balls of flame at you.

You may also notice that there are a number of statues that you can hide behind in this circular arena, and a number of vases that you can use for protection.

You must work your way up to the circular platform where he resides without getting hit by the flame shots. Do this by moving in either a clockwise or counter-clockwise direction, moving toward him ONLY after he fires off a flame shot. Don't worry about the hiding spots or other objects, just keep moving in this manner until you reach his arena. Also, don't be too aggressive — you only want to move up one step after every flame shot, then continue running in either direction.

Once you arrive, he will attempt to hit you with his first move, the "Fire-y Wheel". This move has him posing for a moment, then spinning on his head and releasing a ring of fire. To avoid it, wait until he says the word "Fire-y", then jump in the air. This way, you will avoid the flame.

After he gets this attack off, move in and apply your Cane two or three times to his corpulent frame. He will then attempt to get off another attack.

After you have hit him with a number of blows, he will cower. This will give you the opportunity to move in and finish off your attack. After a certain number of hits, Panda King will get frustrated and belly-bounce you back outside the fighting arena. This will mark the end of your first battle wave.

Once again, you will need to avoid PK's flame shots as you make your way back toward him. In this second battle wave, PK will introduce a new move, "Palms of Thunder". In this attack, he will stand still, then slap down hard with both hands directly in front of him.

Sly you will want to make sure that you are out of reach just as he says the word "of" in "Palms of Thunder". Then, quickly jump over the air so that you avoid the attack (for an added measure of safety). After that, quickly move toward him and get in two to three Cane shots.

In this second battle wave, he will also mix in his "Fire-y Ring" move, so you have to be ready for both.

After you hit him a number of times, Panda King will again cower and become frustrated after you apply the Cane a certain number of times, then belly-bounce you back out of the fighting arena.

After returning to the fighting arena for the third battle wave, you will find that PK has added a new move to his attack arsenal, the "Ho Ming Chop". He will bring this karate chop down right in front of him with his right arm. You simply want to move toward his backside when he says the word "Chop".

Then, you will be able to get a number of Cane shots in before he gets off his next attack. As in the first two battle waves, he will mix in his other two moves, so you need to be prepared to avoid all three.

Once again, after a certain amount of damage has been absorbed, Panda King will belly-bounce you out of the fighting arena.

Once you get back to the fighting arena, you will find that the fourth battle wave is exactly like the third and will require the same strategies.

The fifth, and final, battle wave is short and exactly like waves three and four. In this battle wave, Panda King will go down to defeat.

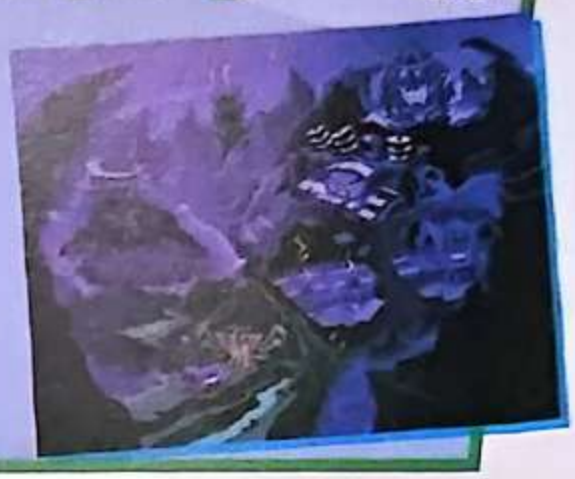
Good job, Sly. Now, there's just one more section of the Thievius Raccoonus we need to retrieve. The one who has it seems to be hiding out in the Krack-Karov volcano in Russia. I've deciphered some clues from section of the Thievius Raccoonus that Panda King had and it looks like if we made some modifications to the team van that we'll be in great shape. Let's get going!

PRIMAGAMES.COM

A Hazardous Path

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, Clockwerk's Fortress is high in the mountains, in the Krack-Karov volcano in Russia. In order to reach Clockwerk and end this madness, we are going to have to complete a series of missions, beginning with this one. The structure here is a little different than we are used to and these missions are going to take place one after another, quickly and in a linear fashion. Thanks to the knowledge that we gleaned from Panda King's section of the Thievius Raccoonus, we have been able to make some modifications to the team van. We have installed a gun on the top of the van. Now, Murray needs you to man the gun as we gain entry to the Fortress compound.



Controlling the gun couldn't be easier, Sly. Use the left analog stick to move the gun, and the ● button to fire the weapon. The first phase will find you having to shoot out a series of land mines to clear out a safe path for the van. The basic strategy here is to try to shoot the mines from as far away as possible.

Next, a series of Robo-Falcons will swoop down on us. Again, try to get as many of them as you can when they are far away. You don't want to deal with them when they are right in your face, buddy.

Then, a giant death ray is going to cause a landslide on the face of the mountain. A number of large boulders will come rolling down towards the van. What you want to do here is try to hit the boulders at the top of their run. In fact, it is possible to destroy ALL of them before they even get down the mountain.

The Robo-Falcons will come back with a vengeance after this, use the same strategy as before.

Then, it's two groupings of land mines and a few nuclear boulders rolling off of a cliff. Deal with the first collection of mines, then take aim at the boulders as they roll down the mountain and on top of the second grouping of mines. As you hit the metallic casing of the boulders, it will wear away, exposing a normal boulder. Sly, you will have to be very quick on the trigger here.

Lastly, it's one more (Large) swarm of Robo-Falcons before we move through the cave up ahead and into the next part of Clockwerk's Fortress.

Burning Rubber

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Unfortunately, Sly, the trip through the cave caused us to lose our roof-mounted gun. Too bad; It would have come in handy when trying to collect all 60 computers required to unlock the security door in this area. However, I believe that I can hack into the computers' coupling software and cause them to drop on the ground. There is, however, a problem; There are a number of Fire Slugs that are going for the computers at the same time, and there are only 119 computers in total. Sly, Murray is going to have to drive over 60 before they do. Luckily, with the van's new battering ram that we installed (use by hitting the ◉ button). Murray can push these slugs aside and slow their progress. OK, Murray, let's do it!

The basic strategy here is to collect computers in groups.

Then, move toward any Fire Slugs that are around and hit them with the battering ram before more than three of them get in the area. The Fire Slugs are much slower than the van, so you have a little time to collect computers before you have to use the battering ram.

But, if you allow too many Fire Slugs to inhabit the battlefield at one time, Murray, they will start collecting computers far faster than you can.

However, if you stay focused, collect a grouping of three to four computers at a time, THEN deal with the Fire Slugs, you shouldn't have any problem.

Get to 60 before they do, Murray, and the security doors will open and we can enter the Control Room and keep working toward Clockwerk.

A Daring Rescue

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Sly, this mission is all about you and your thieving skills. Clockwerk has captured Carmelita and imprisoned her in a glass tube at the far end of the Control Room. And, he has booby-trapped the tile floor that separates you from her. In order to get to her, you are going to have to do the thing that you do! I can't help but get the feeling, however, that this is some sort of trap.

Begin by executing a Ninja Spire Jump to the large mechanical arm on your left. You want to do this as its electrical current subsides. Then, it's a couple of NSJ's and rail slide across a couple of wires and a jump onto a pole.

Climb the pole and use your Carve to swing on the hook suspended above, then use your NSJ to safely land on a series of three casings that contain searchlights that comprise part of the alarm system protecting the control room's tile floor below.

From here, you will be able to jump onto a walkway that will drop under your weight and give you access to the mezzanine level of the Control Room. Up here, you will find another tile floor that is booby-trapped with the same stationary gun type that you will find on the larger floor below. You will also find that the guardrail along the mezzanine's edge is capped by a laser that is part of the alarm system, and that, if you destroy the computers and chairs up here, you will get a few coins.

What you will also find is that, in order to get to the gun and the barrel that you will need on the first floor, you will have to climb up onto the computer desks and call on your advanced thieving skills to sneak around the ledge of a large column. This column is also protected by a lone roving searchlight.

Once you destroy the mezzanine gun and have the barrel, head back down to the first floor in it. You will find that the tile floor here is booby-trapped with two poison arrow-firing guns and there are a number of searchlights. The barrel will protect you from the guns, but you need to negotiate the lights very carefully. Remember to read their patterns and stop moving as a light comes toward you.

At the end of the tile floor, you can destroy both guns (you might find a free Sly Icon in one of them) and the alarm system controls, and reach Inspector Fox. Oh, no! Just as I suspected, Sly, it's a trap set by Clockwerk! Murray, Clockwerk has used some sort of knockout gas to render Sly unconscious. I guess it's up to me and my computer hacking skills to override this system and save Sly and Carmelita!

Bentley Comes Through

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Well, Murray, I guess it's up to me now. I must go virtual and hack this devilish system. I will be on sort of a hovercraft, trying to collect 13 data cubes over a series of arenas/levels. It won't be easy, but I've got to save Sly.

The first level features but one data cube to collect. Murray, I am going to attempt to pilot by virtual hovercraft around this circular arena with the left analog stick, and fire its gun with the right analog stick. I need to blast away the protective casing from around the yellow cube, while not being hit by the pieces of the green casing that come flying off. Once the yellow data cube breaks free, then I can collect it and move on to level two.

In level two, I should find that there are two data cubes to retrieve. There is also what looks to be a virtual Clockwerk that will attempt to send me to instant defeat with one of its red blasts. While I will be able to fire on its projectiles, I cannot defeat the virtual Clockwerk itself. And, if I come in direct contact with it, it will be instant virtual-death for me!

In level three, I expect to find four more data cubes. Murray, the action is becoming fast and furious now!

In level four, I believe that Clockwerk's system will release the final six datacubes. I am really going to have to be quick and accurate to retrieve these without feeling the wrath of virtual Clockwerk! I must remember to keep moving and to stay away from him.

Murray, if I'm able to collect all 13, I will be able to turn off the gas, and wake up Sly. He will then be able to save Carmelita and we can edge ever closer to Clockwerk.

A Temporary Truce

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

Good to have you back, Sly! In saving Carmelita, it seems that you two have decided, at least for the time being, to work together. Unfortunately, that Robo-Falcon just swiped your Cane and you will not be able to get to Clockwerk without it. It seems your best bet for retrieving it is to have Inspector Fox protect you while you go in after it — good luck!

Sly, Carmelita will protect you as you have Murray in missions similar to this. She will have to quickly fire upon the Fire Slugs that attempt to attack you by leaping from the boiling liquid magma at the volcano's base.

As you move towards the top of the death ray, Carmelita will find that the Fire Slugs are attacking you from the structure itself. As long as she keeps you near the center of her view and pulls back so she has a wider field of vision, you should be OK.

As you get closer to the top of the metallic structure, two Robo-Falcons will break out of a couple of windows. I hope Inspector Fox sees them before they find you!

When you reach the top of the death ray, Inspector Fox will have to blast a series of energy towers out of your way so that you can continue moving to the right. She will also have to protect your flank by dealing with any Fire Slugs that might appear.

To the far right, you will find your Cane and we can see about collecting Inspector Fox's jet-pack as well.

Sinking Peril

BENTLEY'S BREAKDOWN

In this mission, Sly, you will be back on your own again and in a race for your life and Carmelita's jet-pack! You will have to move up the death ray structure itself as the lava level rises. In order to make it up to the top before things get too heated, you will have to move fast and use all of your thieving know-how.

To begin with, you will need to Double-Jump to a Ninja Spire Jump over this electrical capacitor. Then, you will have to swing across a series of hooks and get past the next capacitor.

After this, you will have to use your Cane to break through a series of four large wheels that appear on the rail.

After this, it is a series of Ninja Spire Jumps and another capacitor. This will be followed by more NJS's up a rail that is angled so that you slide back if you stay on it.

After a pole climb and a number of NJS's, you will be presented with a couple more poles featuring two capacitors. Sly, this is the one part of this mission where you need to take a deep breath and be patient. Wait for the current to subside in each of these before proceeding.

Later, you will find a series of four electrical arms. You need to make use of your NJS here, waiting for the current to dissipate at each before jumping to it.

Finally, you will have to negotiate a vertical pole and its series of tightly spaced capacitors. Again, have patience here and wait for each capacitor to lose its juice before attempting to move through it. You will reach the top of the death ray after getting through this and can retrieve Carmelita's jet-pack and exit the area.

A Strange Reunion

Bentley's Breakdown

Sly, this is it! The final battle with Clockwerk! Of course, it ain't gonna be easy. Equipped with Inspector Fox's jet-pack, you will have to do battle with Clockwerk over three phases/rounds. I've been with you all of the way, buddy, and I'm not going to let you down now. Let's take a look at how you can take down this big bird.

In the first round, Clockwerk will attempt to fire his pulse cannon rounds at you as he is flying over lava. To control the jet-pack, you simply need to use the left analog stick to maneuver, and the ● button to fire the jet-pack's rockets. The strategy here is to get to one side of the area, wait for Clockwerk to fire his cannons, then quickly move to the opposite side of the area.

Then, Carmelita will fire into his armor with her more powerful weapon and create gaps in it that your rockets can penetrate. Clockwerk's head will be your first target.

After you have damaged the head, he will fire at you again. Employ the same strategy as before. After this, Carmelita will expose his feet.

Clockwerk will fire on you as before, then Carmelita will expose his tail and, finally, his right wing. Damage all of these and Clockwerk will take a dive into the lava.

Of course, he isn't going down that easy. Clockwerk will now rise from the lava and round two will commence. In this round, he will begin his offensive attack by launching a series of four powerful rings in your direction.

To avoid them, you need to maneuver the jet-pack so that you are going through the rings' centers. A good strategy is to quickly move towards the ring, then dive down a little bit so that the top of each of the rings doesn't hit you.

After the fourth ring, Carmelita will expose his right wing and you can aim your rockets at it.

After a set amount of time, or once you have caused enough damage to the right wing, Clockwerk will reload and fire another series of four rings in your direction. Once you've dodged them, Inspector Fox will expose his left wing. This process will be repeated two more times, and you will have to shoot his head, followed, finally, by a larger section of his left wing. After you destroy it, Clockwerk will dive into the lava and round three will begin.

In round three, you will need to work your way across a security system that protects Clockwerk's fallen body and destroy his head. To begin to accomplish this, you must execute a series of Ninja Spire Jumps on some fences floating in the lava, while avoiding the prone Clockwerk's cannon blasts.

Then, softly land with a NSJ onto the center of a laser tracking system.

The next step is a NSJ to a floating fence, followed by some sneaking around two cylindrical fan enclosures.

Then, it's on to the next laser system. Here, you will have to time your jumps onto the floating platform that these three lasers protect so that you avoid their sweep, followed by a quick NSJ to the center of each laser device.

After completing that test, you must time your drop to the pole below the next laser system so that you are not detected. Climb back up the pole at the other end and you will reach Clockwerk's tail end.

Sly, immediately move in for the kill! By aggressively attacking Clockwerk's head with your Cane, you will end this madness in short order.

In spite of his assurances that you will never be rid of him, it looks like Clockwerk is not going to be bothering us anytime soon. How about we take a look at the end movie and catch the details of our epilogue? Congratulations! We did it! You've finally gotten revenge on those Fiendish Five. Your father would be so proud. So, what's next, Sly?

BENTLEY'S DEBRIEFING

Sly, great job! Clockwerk and the other members of the Fiendish Five have been brought to justice. But there is still more that we need to do. Let's take a look at some of the other goals we can accomplish before we bid adieu to our adventure.

THE JAPANESE INTRODUCTION

Hey Sly — did you know that if you let the credits, showing all of the team members that made this adventure come to life, roll (after defeating Clockwerk, of course), the entire story is told in Japanese — with special animations. Cool, huh?

THE HIDDEN ENDING

Sly, by finding all of the Clue Bottles scattered throughout the missions in the various parts of the world that we have visited, and using the combinations that I decipher from them to open all of the Vaults, we can get treated to a special animation video that tells the story of the restoration of the Thievius Raccoonus. Don't forget; If you successfully found all of the Clue Bottles BEFORE you defeated Clockwerk, then you would have been able to open all of the Vaults except for the last one. The combination to this one was written in owl language and the only way to decipher it is by defeating Clockwerk. After beating him, you can return to that mission and open the Vault.

THE MASTER THIEF SPRINT

Sly, you may have noticed hourglasses that appear at the beginning of some missions once you have found the Treasure Key 'and opened the Vault' for that mission. These signify Master Thief Sprint opportunities. By running into the hourglass, you will start a timer counting down. From that point, your only goal is to get to the end of the mission within the allotted time. Sly, these Sprints are extremely challenging and are only made easier by a few of the moves that you learn by collecting Clue Bottles, opening Vaults and piecing together pages of the Thievius Raccoonus. More specifically, once you learn the Fast Getaway Raccoon Roll (the second Master Thieving Move that you will learn as you find CB's and open Vaults), the task will be made a little easier. Every time you complete a Sprint, the next time you re-enter that mission, you will be able to hear commentary from some of our technical team members that have been working for me behind the scenes. Sly, if you manage to beat ALL of the Master Thief Sprints, we will be able to watch a "Behind the Scenes" video profiling our technical team members AND a broadcast advertisement that undoubtedly has been authorized by our team, and that gives the general public a small glimpse of what we have been through.

STRATEGIES FOR THE MASTER THIEF SPRINTS

Sly, if you are going to beat that very unforgiving clock, you are going to need a plan of attack. I have taken the liberty of outlining some basic strategies for you, in some of the more difficult Sprints. With these, we should be watching that rare movie footage in no time!

A STEALTHY APPROACH

In this Sprint, you want to make use of your Raccoon Roll in all open areas. In addition, try to avoid all Thugs, with the exception of Thug #5, who you will have to deal with.

INTO THE MACHINE

In this Sprint, you simply want to run through the level, avoiding every Thug you do not have direct contact with.

HIGH CLASS HEIST

This Sprint requires that you Raccoon Roll down the slight slope to the door, run through the lasers, Raccoon Roll down the ramp to the left of the searching laser, then Double-jump over the laser fence. After that, you will want to Raccoon Roll down to the lily pads, rolling between the two belly-flop Thugs. Next, make use of rapid jumps around the inside of the lily pads with one jump in the middle to an outside pad, only to jump back in again. Then, run between the two roving lights and Double-jump around the first sneak light, followed by a run between the two roving lights again with another Double-jump around the second fixed sneak-around light. Then, it's straight ahead to the portal.

THE FIRE DOWN BELOW

Run straight through this Sprint, killing only the three hammer Thugs and the one blowtorch Thug next to the second hammer bad guy, after the second (last) flame vent door section.

A CUNNING DISGUISE

In this Sprint, you want to run to the barrel and jump in (no Double-jump). Run to the first Thug, let his flame knock you out of the barrel and whack him while you are in the air. Then, jump back into the barrel and run off the elevator. Run to the second Thug, and approach the limit of his sight. When he turns, run straight at him in the barrel. When he turns and shoots you in the barrel, you will pop out in range to strike him while you are in the air, then jump back into the barrel. Run to where the second Thug is behind the bookshelf and tables, and walk in and out of his attack radius. When he turns around to look around, run straight at him in the barrel. When he attacks you, hit him mid-height while being bounced out of the barrel. Run straight to the elevator. Now, run to the first bridge and stay to the right edge of the bridge, bypassing the parallel searchlight, and timing the second perpendicular light so that it's on its away swing when you cross. Then, run near the book stacks and jump out to whack them while the guard isn't looking, then jump back in your barrel and approach him immediately when he turns away. He will turn and see you and shoot you out of the barrel, but you are again within range to attack him. Do so mid-height, get back in the barrel and start running. Run straight across the chandeliers and you're on your way home. The second set of searching lights are quite easy to speed through in the barrel, avoiding their slower movement.

THE GUNBOAT GRAVEYARD

Time the lights in the buoys so you can do an almost unimpeded run through the buoy section. Do not drop down from the rigging to the crow's nest. Instead, jump from the rigging to the next rope. Once across the plane section, jump out to the sneak ledge around the jellyfish area. Then, once in range, jump to where the sneak-around ends. Run across the next section quickly, avoiding the starfish-chucking Thugs as much as you can without jumping. Jumping only slows you down. Jump down and kill the octopus Thug below, then race forward. Do not kill the Thug on the sub. Instead, angle jump from the sub to the side that leads to the buoys, then run down straight into the starfish-thrower, in a fashion that, when you are leaping buoys, you are jumping his stars. Kill him, then run past the belly-flopper, climb the rope, land on the next pad, jump on the vault and jump up to the exit.

PRIMAGAMES.COM

BONEYARD CASINO

In this trial, you will want to use your Raccoon Roll in the flat areas — NOT the first pressure bridge, but definitely the second. Make sure that you use it on any downward slope. The two Thugs who are stationed behind the bar that you have to sneak behind, need to be dealt with from above. As a general rule, you will want to avoid sneaking around whenever possible. By making use of the Raccoon Roll, you should be able to finish this Sprint with at least five seconds to spare.

STRAIGHT TO THE TOP

Sly, I don't think you should climb the "Muggshot" sign. Instead, jump and grab across the letters. Basically, you want to avoid climbing where you can and make sure that you don't use the cable that holds the magnet on the crane at the end of the mission — just run and drop off it to the exit portal.

BACK ALLEY HEIST

This one puts on the pressure. Your Raccoon Roll works well in those flat spots and across the backs of the gargoyles.

THE DREAD SWAMP PATCH

Rail Slides make speed. Don't jump off these early, thinking that running will be faster. They are about as fast as the Raccoon Roll at maximum speed. Spiders are not a threat — their attack range is too short to represent any real danger. The mosquitos are not a danger either, just run through them. At the end, use the right side to jump up the wall, it might take you three tries to get up there, but it's so much faster. At the ramp near the end, make use of your Raccoon Roll — just be aware of the Thugs' flashlights.

A GRAVE UNDERTAKING

Bypass all the enemies you can, and use your Raccoon Roll. You do not need to take out all of the ghosts inside the hut. Just take out the candles and escape them by jumping on the trampoline after the candles are snuffed out. The first sneak-around you have to do, you don't have any choice. But, you can jump out about 2/3 of the way in, and the second one you can bypass all together by Double-jumping off to the left and grabbing the rope. From this point, do not kill any enemies until you are crossing the vines again. Swing the camera around when you are doing the first set of Ninja Spire Jumps on the second level outside the house. Now, jump around the grave on the lily pads, then jump on the first vine and book, kill the ghosts and and head to the second vine and warp out of there!

FIRE IN THE SKY

Sly, all of the Sprints in China are a little slower moving because of the size of these areas. So, there are many times where you simply will not be able to do anything but try to run through the Sprint as quickly as possible. Obviously, you will need to make use of your Raccoon Roll where you can and keep sneaking and climbing to an absolute minimum. However, I am confident that you will find these Sprints among the easier ones that you will face.

MASTER THIEVING MOVES/ITEMS/TECHNIQUES

Sly, the following is a detailed list of every Master Thieving Move/Item/Technique that you have uncovered in your quest to restore the Thievius Raccoonus. Obviously, these were all uncovered through your diligent pursuit of Clue Bottles and my master decryption abilities. Together, we were able to open 19 Vaults and piece together the entire Thievius Raccoonus.

Then again, Clockwerk and his minions were no match for you and the power of the restored Thievius Raccoonus. Now that our adventure is finished, where do you think we should journey to next — Paris?
