

Introduction

Tomb Raider Legend is a phenomenal new addition to the aging franchise. A new feel is lent to Lara's antics in the remote corners of the world through the ingenuity and experience of Crystal Dynamics.

That said, this is not your ordinary Tomb Raider jaunt. You will find devious new tricks and traps laid out to make the most famous virtual heroine on the world splatter herself just for the hell of it.

IGN likes Lara, not because she's a virtual hottie, but because she's more awesome than the offspring of Solid Snake, the Prince of Persia, Link, and Wander, if they could somehow mix their seed like in that one episode of G. I. Joe when Serpentor injects himself with the DNA off all the great conquerors of the world and produce offspring.

Check out the IGN guide for a complete walkthrough of each stage, in addition to "time trial trouble" spots and an appendix of all the medals, so you can see how awesome Lara looks when she puts on the swimsuits. Can Tomb Raider XXX-treme Beach Volleyball be far behind? Who knows? IGN's unofficial Tomb Raider Legend guide features:

- Complete story walkthrough.
- Boss strategies, along with time trial action.
- Button presses for the action sequences.
- Medals, medals, medals. All stacked, sorted, and revealed.
- Excessive German -- Peer-IGN free.

Basics & Errata

Basic Controls (Basic Lara)

 Default Movement & Standard Combat. For PC, consult your key binds. For PSP ... good luck.*

Jump - Press JUMP. Height of the jump affected by length of hold.
Action - Interaction and "speed up" of certain actions.
Grapple - Throws out grapple. Grapple used differently for grapple jump.
Evasion - Hold to duck.

Shoot - Right Trigger. Handguns have infinite ammo.
Throw - Right Bumper. Grenades and flares are thrown.
Lock-On - Left Trigger. Differences depending on combat style.
Fine Aim - R3. Useful for aiming the grapple and for pure sniping.

Lamp / Torch - D-Pad LEFT. Kinteic battery recharges over time.
Use Medical - D-Pad UP. Max of 3 kits. Partial health restoration.
Scope / R-Finder - D-Pad RIGHT. For the Metroid Scanning. Fran iste in ze haus.
Cycle Weapon - D-Pad DOWN. Only one additional weapon can be carried.

Handstand Mantle - Hold (2 sec.) and release JUMP while on cliff face.
Swan Dive - Press JUMP then press EVASION while moving forward.
Dodge Roll - While moving forward, press EVASION.
Camera Rotate - Right joystick. Self-explanatory.

Climbing Controls

 Default Movement & Standard Combat. For PC, consult your key binds. For PSP ... good luck.*

Jump - This makes Lara jump off the surface she's on or jump up from cliff faces.
Action - Allows fast movement on some elements; climbing on swing-ropes.
Grapple - Grappling does not work while climbing.
Evasion - Drops off surface or element. Fatal from high heights.
Camera Rotate - Right joystick. Self-explanatory.

Schwimming (Swimming) Controls

 Default Movement & Standard Combat. For PC, consult your key binds. For PSP ... good luck.*

Jump - Hold to surface to the water or ascend.
Action - Allows fast swimming and switch / item activation.
Grapple - Grappling does not work while swimming.
Evasion - Hold to dive or descend
Camera Rotate - Right joystick. Self-explanatory.

Vehicle Controls (While Riding)

 Default Movement & Standard Combat. Lara cannot dismount once she gets on a vehicle. She's also fat.*

Go / Accelerate - Vehicle accelerates as long as key is depressed.
Brake / Reverse - Vehicle stops. Reverses if key is depressed too long.
Shoot Enemy - Right Trigger. Only one handgun may be used in this instance.
Shoot Environ - Same as interaction. Destroys environmental hazard (smart bomb).

Camera Rotate - Right joystick. Self-explanatory.

Architecture In Tomb Raider Legend

IGN will be using some terms commonly employed in our previous Prince of Persia guides. Each architectural element will serve as both noun and a verb. When used as a verb, IGN's telling you to do all pertinent actions for that element.

Bar

Bars are horizontal elements, but serve mostly as pieces where Lara can swing on and vault off, like a gymnast. Bars in succession are used to traverse gaps, while longer bars may occasionally bend and allow travel around corners and such.

Pole

There are two types of pipe or pole. The self-standing pole is pretty much a strip-bar pole. Lara can rotate around it and jump off in the direction her back is facing. The second type of pipe is discussed below.

Ledge

The ubiquitous ledge is on every wall you want to climb or somehow interact with. Ledges can collapse, much like any other element, if it's been trapped by Crystal Dynamics. Fast move is possible on poles, bars, and especially ledges, when you need the extra speed for time trials. Ledges come in two types -- the hang ledge, which is one way down, or normal, which lets Lara move in all four directions (up, down, left, right).

Ladder

Ladders are for vertical movement, but in Tomb Raider Legend, CD takes Lara and lets her move left and right on it via jumping to other pipes or ladders as well. Keep that in mind when looking for a way onward. Ladders cannot be swapped sides like in Prince of Persia but there's no need to during the game. Fast move is only possible going up on a ladder, and you can always just drop off a ladder if you want.

Wall Pole

Same as the ladder, but appears like a self-standing pole.

Objects

There are several classes of objects, of which only one is illustrated. Small objects can only be kicked using ACTION or in rare cases, a grapple yank. Medium objects are moved by grapple or by having Lara manipulate it personally (see illustration). Large objects may be moved by grapple (rarely), or by special tools such as magnet guns or forklifts.

The stone balls you find are considered medium objects throughout the game. Only rhomboidal objects are stable enough to be stood upon by Lara.

Water

Water is a safety net for long or large falls. Falling into water technically will kill you in those heights, but Lara iste das uberfraulein. She cannot die from falls into deep water. Water is 3D and you can move in any direction while in it. However, the surface of the water reflects what's above it. Unless your camera is forced underwater, you risk missing items and passages because you cannot see them at all.

Rope and Grapple Wire

Ropes make their return from Tomb Raider 2 Dagger of Xian. As with ropes, the grapple wire -- while Lara is hanging from it -- is the same. Lara may hold ACTION to ascend and descend the length of the rope, or without ACTION, push forward and back to swing on the rope to cross gaps. If Lara bumps into a wall while swinging, she will let go of the rope and drop.

Weapons (While Lara)

Handguns (Lara's Silver Ballers ... huhuhuhu)
Magazine: 15 / 20 (upgrade)
Reserve: Infinite
Power: Weak / Medium (upgrade)
Speed: Medium
Range: Short / Medium (upgrade)
Errata: The handguns are Lara's best weapons simply because they are relatively fast and have infinite ammo. Only on hard and time trials will you find the weapon frustrating. Once you unlock the one-hit death cheat, you will find the handguns much more satisfying. Note that the vehicle handgun is not the same weapon as the normal handgun. You would need to be a coder (or a smart cookie) to understand what this means.

Shotgun
Magazine: 5
Reserve: 20
Power: Strong
Speed: Slow
Range: Short
Errata: The trusty shotgun, which was so average in the previous Tomb Raiders, becomes more average when compared to the long distances you need to fight over in the game. There's not much to do to prove this weapon worthy, except in rare cases where you get a ton of ammo and need to use it on a boss - preferably Takamoto and Rutland.

MG415 (SMG)
Magazine: 40
Reserve: 120
Power: Medium
Speed: Fast
Range: Medium
Errata: SMGs are derived from maschinpistols created to give the Nazi Wehrmacht greater close range firepower. The SMG is an otherwise horrible little weapon with bad accuracy and very little ammo. If you have to choose between the RC650 and the MG415, take the former, unless you like having the gun around for the look.

RC650AR (Assault Rifle)
Magazine: 30
Reserve: 120
Power: Medium
Speed: Fast
Range: Long
Errata: The assault rifle is a good standby weapon since it has a good range of lock-on. It's possibly the only good weapon to use in a stage. The shotgun you used for bosses, but the RC650 is something for a stage where there are ten thousand enemies. Naturally, once you have one-hit death, you really don't need much ammo to put people down.

Grenade Launcher
Magazine: 3
Reserve: 12
Power: Lethal
Speed: Slow
Range: Medium
Errata: You will never get the maximum amount of ammo unless you hold onto the weapon from the first time you get it in Ghana. The weapon is basically a fast firing grenade with very little ammo. Even if you use infinite ammo for the weapon, you'll find the weapon is less useful than your handguns. It does increase the grenades you have from four to what ever is in the launcher, but unless you use grenades often, you can skip out this weapon.

Caliburn

Magazine: n/a
Reserve: n/a
Power: Off The Hook -- Yo.
Speed: Slow
Range: Long
Errata: The mythical sword is basically a large moving explosion that doesn't splash itself on Lara, unlike grenades. It's nice, but you only have it for about two seconds before you fight the last boss. The cheat code lets you carry it straight from the beginning, but the one-hit death cheat is much more superior.

Croft Manor

Lady Croft, Countess of Abbington, has various manors in her estate. Abbington Manor is the one from the Tomb Raider movies. The manor is not the practice stage. That would be Bolivia (the first mission). You cannot access the manor's rooms without having first played through Bolivia, so come back to this section after you complete the first stage.

Head into the movie version tech office and operate the laptop on the ground. This will let open a safe for the very important grapple device. Before leaving, consider grappling the bars above the tech office for some bars and also another medal on the upper level (this room) by grappling the switch.

1/16 Bronze - By the foyer's stairs. It's the one nearest Lara's insertion point. Huhuhuhuhuhu.

Grapple - This device is found inside the tech room. Use the laptop on the ground to find it.

Das Schlafzimmer - Huhuhuhuhuhuhu

The bedroom is on the second floor, left door. If you stumble into the library, just head back outside. There's nothing here to kill you, devour your brains, and then implant its alien seed inside Lara that will make her corpse rise up in an ambulance and give undead birth to some superbaby mutant who likes eating human flesh as the appetizer of the evening.

Get the handguns by opening the two switches near the Medusa relief. Head back into the main hall and shoot the switch on the second floor for another medal (the cursor turns red in Fine Aim mode).

3/16 Bronze - Behind the bed. It's a nice, stiff bed. Use your imagination. Huhuhuhuhu.

1/10 Silver - The main room's 2F after you get the guns, since you need to shoot the switch to get the medal.

Handguns - The handguns are stored in a safe that's opened by two dagger switches in the bedroom.

Das Schwimmbad

Go to the swimming pool on the lower level doors -- the easiest place to murder Lara (by drowning). If you come across the gymnasium, you can exit the same way you came and look for the other door on the first floor. There's a medal in the water, but more importantly is a switch you can pull to open the secret underwater tunnel.

More importantly, there are three statues you can pull out, as well as the various sparkling bars you can swing on later. Use the grapple to pull the bars (look up) and Lara to pull out the statues (on the ground) to their fullest. There's a medal behind one of the statues as well as a second near some lawn chairs.

Use the partially pulled statues to reach the upper level. Easy bar swing and ledge exercise to the second level with two rotating statues (the Spear Sisters statues). Rotate the statues to cross their spears for a switch. This opens a gate in the underwater tunnel. Grab the medal nearby as well. Head across the other side via the newly yanked bars (that you yanked from the ground) and grapple swing.

This lands Lara on another upper level balcony area. Take the scope from this area, the medal behind one of the statues, and move the stone ball onto the switch. Head back downstairs and climb onto the block nearest the chandelier. Grapple and yank the chandelier to get it swinging, then ride it across the pool to the medal.

4/16 Bronze - In the pool.

5/16 Bronze - By the lawn chairs.

6/16 Bronze - Behind the statue, lower level.

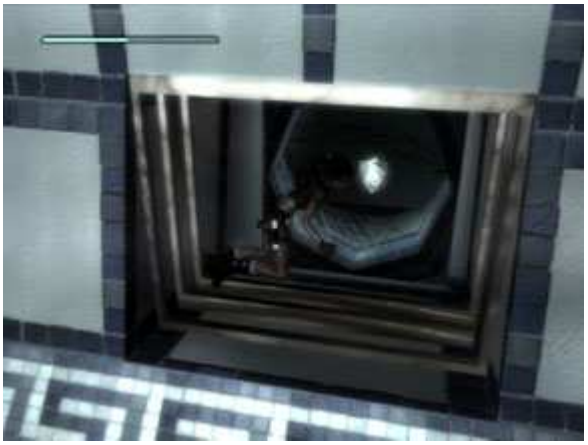

7/16 Bronze - On the diving board, upper level.

2/10 Silver - Behind the statue, upper level where the scope is.

3/10 Silver - The round balcony on the upper level.

Scope - The scope is on the upper level area, opposite the face switch.

Underwater Tunnel

Did you open the underwater tunnel in the pool? If so, you can swim through it for a medal -- otherwise, you need to throw both switches (in the pool and the face switch) to unlock it.

If you do not unlock the tunnel gates from the pool, they will not auto-open when you approach them.

Take the underwater tunnel to the gymnasium. Lara is not a submarine, but she has great ballast. IGN is referring to her Mae West.

4/10 Silver - In the underwater tunnel.

Das Turnhalle

Take the medal in the small gymnasium pool. There are several medals here -- bronze and silver. If you have the grapple, you can easily use it to move the various objects around, then get to the medals by ledges, bars, grappling, and ingenuity. None of the medals are actually terribly difficult.

Note there are two spots to start your ascent -- the bar near the training slope and the very low rock wall and ledge near the StarGate SG-1 slash Atlantis slash Cleopatra 2525 contraption. The moving lifts are moved by grappling; for the medal above the door to the gym, be sure you jump at the very edge to avoid "auto-locking" onto the bar.

8/16 Bronze - The medal in the small pool.

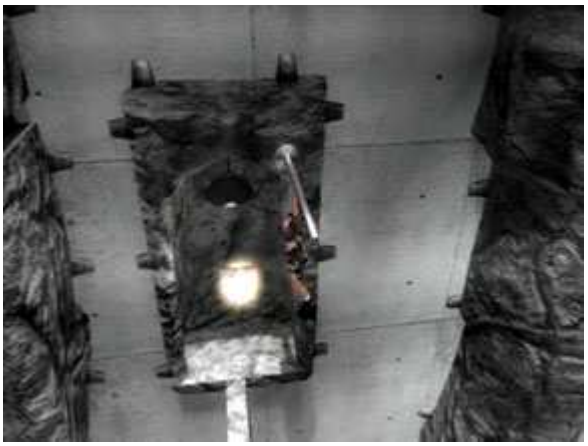

9/16 Bronze - Face the gym entrance, forward and right. Use the bar start-up. Grapple yank the bar to the slope. Jump on the bars and pipes to the slope. Jump from the slopes to the ledges and use them along with the poles to let Lara pole-dance her way to the other side of the slope. Bounce to the medal's niche.

10/16 Bronze - Face the gym entrance, forward and left. Use the bar start-up. Grapple yank the bar to the entrance. Jump on the bars and ledges to reach the ledges next to the medal's niche. You can then ledge hop to the medal. The typical tip during the Pole-Lympics is around $5 American.

11/16 Bronze - Face the gym entrance, back and to the left. Back and to the left. Back and to the left. Back and to the left. (30 minutes later). Back and to the left. Use the rock ledge start-up. You need to have the Stargate pole vertical, so you can bend Lara that way towards the medal alcove. Be sure to face the ledge before dropping, or Lara will not "T-1000" and catch the ledge. However, if she did, that would be awesome. Liquid Metal Lara. Now $399.99 from TopCow.

12/16 Bronze - Face the gym entrance, cave over the water. Use the rock ledge start-up. You need to have the Stargate pole horizontal and the ladder needs to face perpendicular to its wall, so you can guide Lara up to the niche.

13/16 Bronze - Face the gym entrance, back and right. Use the rock ledge start-up. You need to have the Stargate pole horizontal, so you can bend Lara over the room. Alternately, you can use the bar start-up and move along the wall that manner.

5/10 Silver - The medal at water level can be fetched easily by using the same path for bronze medal 9, but ignoring bronze medal 10 and preferring instead to drop to the silver medal. It's not uncommon to get both on separate tries if Lara fails a jump.

6/10 Silver - On top of the lift. Use the rock ledge start-up and get it.

7/10 Silver - Above the gym entrance. Use the rock ledge start-up and head to the second lift using bars. The final jump is tricky, so grapple yank Lara close to the niche before making the leap of faith -- the faith that she won't auto-guide to the damn bar just under the medal.

Das Arbeitzimmer

The study-library is the other door on floor two of the main hall. Go inside and find the torch on the desk. With the grapple and the handgun, you can unlock most of the secrets here. Grapple the bar near the lower floor desk to drop a bookcase.

Shoot the weak wall near the library entrance (first floor) for another bookcase. Take the medal past the broken wall and move both bookcases onto the floorswitches.

This opens a new secret tunnel. Before heading in, take the two medals on the libarary second floor -- one in the open, the other behind a switch on the wall.

14/16 Bronze - Second floor of the study.

15/16 Bronze - Second floor of the study, use the knife switch to reveal the hidden wall.

8/10 Silver - The breakable wall in the first floor.

Torch - Found on the desk in the study. An essential item for any explorer.

The Secret Tunnel

Take the medal in the secret tunnel and destroy all the boxes past the face switch for a second medal. The face switch will reveal a clue. Read this clue for a larger puzzle. The second face switch makes an exit to Lara's bedchamber, but if you got her handguns (you have to, to get the secret tunnel) and got all the medals, this part is not necessary.

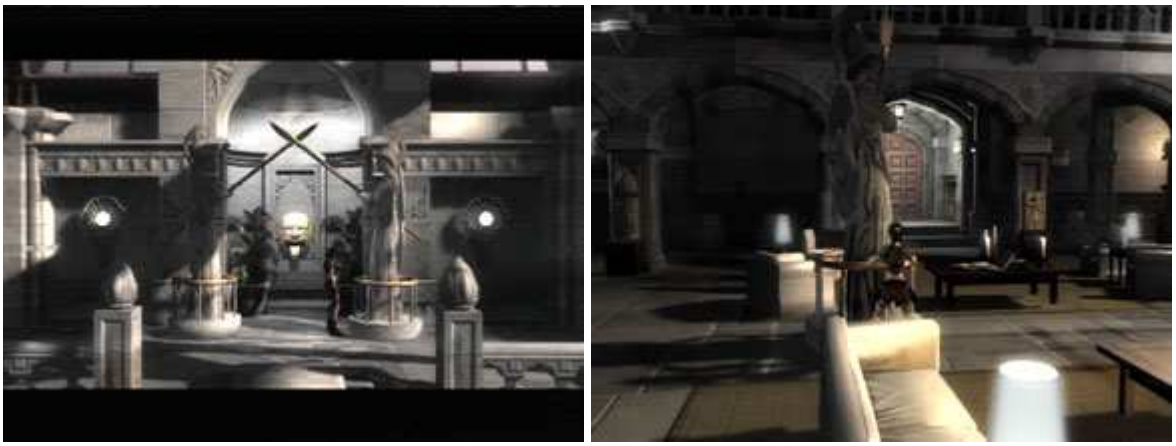

16/16 Bronze - Inside the wood crate in the corner.

9/10 Silver - The breakable wall in the first floor.

Quest For The Gold

The clue in the study's secret tunnel starts you off on the final medal. Head back to the face switch in the swimming pool. Only with the clue from the secret tunnel can you rotate the Spear Sisters statues to put their shields facing each other.

This done, the next clue will appear. Read it and head to the library. The final clue is revealed when the blue (first floor), yellow (second floor small room), green (second floor), and red (first floor) books are used.

Once they are, head back to the main room and use the two face switches on each side of the second floor. To get them open simultaneously, you need to bar swing from one side to the other. Once the statue of Athena is raised, turn her to face the sunlight, then step on the floorswitch near the stairs. The final medal should appear.

10/10 Silver - The hidden wall on the first floor, after the books are used correctly. Blue, Yellow, Green, Red.

Gold Get - After all the three clues are read in the study's secret tunnel, the swimming pool balcony, and the main room's second floor, rotate the Minerva statue to face the sun and step on the floorswitch.

Bolivia - Tiwana-ku-ku For Cocoa Puffs

There are two bronze medals here in the starting area. You can even see one of the medals when the PDA cutscene occurs. The goal here is to reach the rope near the small waterfall. Follow the various tutorial messages and locate the rope by the waterfall.

At that rope by the waterfall, turn towards the darkness and the torch will reveal a side cave. Head inside for a silver medal.

The side cave meets back with the main cave and from there, it's an easy task to ledge to the top of the waterfall for a checkpoint.

1/10 Bronze - On the ground near the pool.

2/10 Bronze - On the upper level. Seen in the PDA cinematic.

1/5 Silver - At the waterfall rope. Turn towards the cliff and jump into the side cave.

Top Of The Waterfall

At the top of the waterfall, follow the right wall to avoid the rolling boulder. Move on via the pipes (here, they appear as branches) and meet the first enemy. Get rid of the enemy and ledge up onto the corner dais. Push the block off the dais and use it to raise the tree stump and pipe (branch).

(ABOVE RIGHT) Notice Lara's fat head turns towards items she can use or take. This is 5/10 Bronze, but it can only be grappled yanked.

There is a bronze medal here in the river. Use the pipe/branch after pushing the block onto the tree stump to head to the top. Use the grapple to destroy the obstruction. Get the checkpoint and ignore or defeat the enemies inside.

After killing both enemies inside the outer ruins, grab the ledge and use the various elements to reach the rope on the upper level. When you can reach the rope, you have a checkpoint and the ability to see a bronze medal. This is easily reachable by anyone. Grab this medal, and continue on the upper level.

Kill the enemy near the collapsing floor and grapple swing across the gap (note grapple swing is different from using the grapple while grounded). Just after the gap, there's a bronze medal sitting pretty on a very high ledge.

Bronze medals can be grappled remotely, but silver and gold medals cannot. Use the grapple (aim using fine aim) and take the medal by pressing ACTION after the grapple latches onto the medal.

3/10 Bronze - On the riverbank with the rock and tree puzzle.

4/10 Bronze - After entering the temple ruins, use the rope to reach the medal above the crumbling ledge.

5/10 Bronze - After the swing jump, look for the medal on the wall. Only bronze medals can be fetched remotely, so use the grapple cable.

Entrance of the Temple

Slide down the slope after causing a rockslide. There are various enemies with better weapons here. Take them and you can use the weapon later. There are two bronze medals and a silver medal in this area (temple front yard).

The bronze medals are easily seen on the ground or can be grappled. The silver medal is near the stairs by the black SUV.

Face the temple's stairs and use the scope's scanning to identify a breakable wall to the staircase's left. That's the silver medal.

6/10 Bronze - Area juast after the rockslide. It's before you reach the rope and on the ground.

7/10 Bronze - Drop from the rope and explore the local area. Like Prego, it's in there.

2/5 Silver - At the temple's stairs, explore the area left of the stairs for a breakable wall. Ta-da.

Inside the Temple

Head inside the temple, hop the trap on the ground by using the grapple swing, and stop short of the room with the vertical chains. The rubble before you enter the vertical chain room hides a small crevice with a bronze medal

Navigate through the vertical chain room by going up and over. The vertical chain room's other side is a sunken room. There are three pools here (you cannot see the other two until you swim to them). The first pool is the entrance. The third pool is the exit. The second pool is a detour with a bronze medal. You can take your time getting used to Lara's swimming in these small pools.

8/10 Bronze - Before the chains, there's a small tunnel to the medal.

9/10 Bronze - Surface at the second pool for the medal.

Puzzle Past the Pools

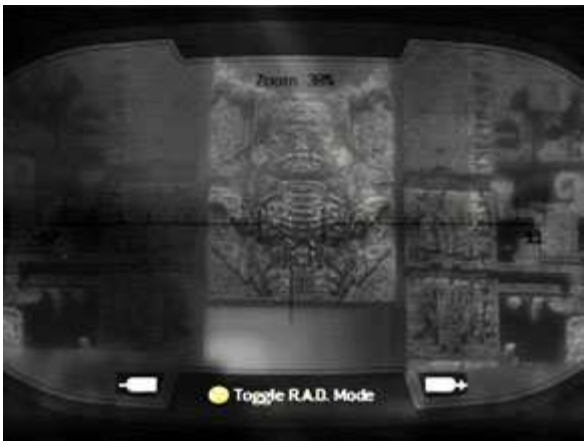

When you arrive at the third exit pool, there is a checkpoint and a jaguar. Kill it and move to the crushing trap hallway. Take the cage in the corner and push it along to keep Lara from having her boobies mashed by anyone except you. The physics of the trap and the block are easy to see. head to the end and get cock-blocked in the large room that was playable in the PlayStation 2 demo disc.

(ABOVE RIGHT) The opposite side -- you can see the 3/10 Silver if this illustration was not so bright.

The puzzle here is devious, since if you solve it 100% successfully, you will not get the medals (same with some other puzzles later). You only need to solve as much of the puzzle as you need to move on, but not so much as to miss the chance to earn your rewards. You only need two cages to solve the puzzle and to get the rewards. First off, kill the jaguar in the pool. Then pull out the cage under the seesaw and vault it to the upper level.

Face the closed door. Place one cage on the right switch, a second cage on the central switch, and use Lara to determine how much the left switch can open and close. Note that the exit door's motion and the chains that seem to operate it move independently of each other, but both are affected by the gear lock and the depression of the central switch.

Your goal is easier to describe in a picture than by words, but suffice to say, you need to open the exit door only partially so that the small black "mouth" on the door is even with the upper ledge recesses on the walls to its side. This lets Lara ledge grab to the gold medal (above and behind the exit door), while raising the door just enough to let her leave the room.

The complicated matter is really the chain, which Lara needs to climb to reach the exit, but the weight prevents her from grabbing it unless it is low enough. You need to play with the door's height and the gear lock. Once you have both the chain and the exit door at the correct height, stop the door from moving by removing the cage from the central switch, and lock the other gear (for security) by removing the right switch's cage.

There is a bronze medal on the right side of the room (right chain) where you enter this room. Climb up and over to the exit using the left chain. Climb the exit door (if it's been prepared) to the gold medal. Climb the ledges on the right side to the top of the room for a silver medal. Exitting this room will lock it off forever, unless you made a save game you can load from.

10/10 Bronze - Right side of the puzzle room. On a low ledge by the right floor switch.

3/5 Silver - Before exiting the puzzle room, take a detour to the other gear locking mechanism -- there's a medal for daring ledge climbers.

Gold Get - The exit door has to be raised only partially, as discussed above. Playing with the door switch and the locking mechanisms will make the door stay at the height you want, and move the weight on the chain out of the way.

Ready, Press, Button, Action

Past the demo room, there is a button pushing puzzle. Missing the cue results in funny Lara deaths. The cues are always the same, so if youd die, you can simply memorise the queue and spam the keys until you pass each section.

There is no way to grapple the medal you see in the process, so simply ignore it for now. Later button sequences will involve more buttons (and joystick directions), so be attentive to your checkpoints and your inability to skip cinematics via pause menu. Press DODGE then JUMP.

Evil Coat Rack Empire Room

How Silent Hill. Dropping down will kill you on Hard. A jaguar is at the bottom, so be prepared to run to a high spot and fire on it. The puzzle here seems complex, but either direction will launch Lara to the ledge where she must ledge over to the exit. However, an easy to see medal can be reached via a detour using the coat racks. You need to drop back down after getting it however.

(ABOVE RIGHT) The 5/5 Silver. Getting it will require going through the coat racks again to escape.

The last medal is deviously hidden in the dark. Near the spot where Lara safely drops down from, there is a movable block. Your torch can highlight it, or you can use the scope to find it (which is tedious). Push it out of the way and get the final medal.

4/5 Silver - In the coat rack room, detour to the end and before hitting the exit. There's a way of ledges leading to the medal.

5/5 Silver - From where Lara drops into the room and the bloody Bengal tiger attacks, there's a block you can move to the medal. Himitsu - hidden tunnel syndrome!

Lara Croft Solid

The chopper is invincible. Simply jump over the broken parts of the bridge and fight all the enemies off to end the stage. Staying on the edge of the arena is not advised.

Zeitherausforderung - Efficient German Time Trials

This stage is possibly one of the easier time trials, although by no means a push over if you're not keen on fast moving (ACTION on ledges and bars). You can safely ignore some enemies, but not others. Regardless, the hardest part is to remember where the obvious death traps are -- mainly the helicopter, the button action sequence, and the jaguar in the coat rack room.

Once you learn to spend 10 to 15 seconds preparing for a jump, you will save much more in terms of time by not restarting from the last checkpoint. If you want an even larger allotment of time, you can always earn the one-hit death cheat from a later (much easier) time trial, then come back with guns blazing -- enemies die in milliseconds, and give you a huge time advantage.

Peru - We Only Know It Through World Cup Football

There is a medal hidden by the buildings here. Locate a shed that allows access to a roof and a grapple point. Grapple swing across the street (over the combat dummy), and the medal is in the hidden alley. Simple.

1/8 Bronze - An alley near the insertion point (insert coital joke here) has a medal. Climb to the roof overlooking the street with the training dummy. Swing across the street. The medal should be obvious, ja?

Lara Loving It South of the Border

As soon as Anaya takes off in her yellow Jeep Cherokee, blast the transport truck and kill all the enemies in the yard. The final guy (who may sometimes get cloned for some reason -- the clone stays inside his room where you need to go later) is a shotgun enemy.

(ABOVE RIGHT) 3/8 Bronze is on the upper level but easily attained by climbing on the truck and making a jump to the obvious.

Once the place quiets down, do some exploration. A medal is on the roof of one building. Get on top using the churro-stand near the truck. Two more medals are near the building by the flagpole. One medal is behind the building (it's on the ground) but the second is inside the building's second floor.

Use the flagpole to reach the exit and the medal in the building. ACTION the doors and you can find the medal inside the room. Grapple swing across the street to the shotgun guy's room, take the grenades (new item) and fight the entire enemy army in the streets of Peru.

When fighting, you don't need to worry too much (if on easy) but you should use the assault rifle (normal) and learn to snipe (hard - with the pistols). The only thing you need to be wary of is to avoid heading to the end of the street where the motorcycle is. Once you do, you need to replay the whole stage over again to reach the medals in the streets.

2/8 Bronze - On the ground next to the building by the flagpole (the building has silver medal 1).

3/8 Bronze - On the building roof near the zipline. Use the burrito stand to reach the upper level.

1/2 Silver - Inside the building by the flagpole, second story. This is before you head to the street with the motorcycle.

The Street With The Motorbike

Assuming you didn't approach the motorcycle, you can now explore the streets without enemies shooting at Lara. There is a medal in an alley where the street makes a righ angle turn (the gun truck can be seen, the motorcycle cannot). You want with the assault rifle, but if you want to use the shotgun, you can also do that. The assault rifle is certainly more useful once you do reach the dig site.

4/8 Bronze - In an alley adjacent to the street with the motorcycle. easy to find since it's on the ground (no climbing).

Vehicle Stage - Desert Race

The motorcycle stage is self-explanatory (and much shorter than the Siberian stage later). Simply hold SHOOT and you auto-target enemies as they rear their ass. The ACTION button will take down explosives to let you pass by obstacles without harm. Unlike Prince of Persia The Two Thrones, you can stop and prevent chariot accidents from occuring.

There're no medals here but you can use medi-kits and pick-up replacements on the track (more on Easy, few on Normal, none on Hard). Nothing much but race ahead, shoot people, race ahead, shoot people. Once Lara cleans out the truck convoy, "Knight Rider" the bike onto the flatbed and go to the next area of the stage.

In The Year 2000 ... Lara Croft Was An Archaeological Understudy In Peru

This version of Lara cannot attack or use a torch and harkens back to the classic Croft, along with the flares. Her flares are infinite, but only two are active at any time. If you don't like how one is illuminating the room, throw out another one until you get the light you want.

Follow the tunnel towards the young explorers until things start going wrong ('such as the killing of you -- by us'). The gap in the floor is easily bypassed with hand over hand, and most of the puzzles are fairly elementary.

(ABOVE RIGHT) 6/8 Bronze after the escape from the creature that wants to eat your brains.

There are two medals in this area as young Lara, so missing them is a no-no. You will find them very easily if you swing the camera around; one is practically in front of you after the first block and bar swing puzzle. Move the balls and blocks on and off the floor tiles to trigger or hide the traps. Some broken traps are blockages (move the object off the plate) while some traps have a lone spear that serves as a bar (move the object on the plate). None of these puzzles are particularly taxing. It will be surprising if you die.

The actual hard part in this area is actually the section where you find something supernatural and unkillable right after meeting the student "Kent". During the cinematic, you will need to stand by and control Lara when it ends. You need to run away from the monster and jump over the two obstacles to flee. Drop down the hole to escape.

After escaping certain death, head up the upper level to escape by triggering the trap with the stone ball in the room. After crossing to the door, you get a checkpoint, but do look back for a medal. After you bag all this, head to the exit (the pipe gap this time is lethal). Get a cut-scene and head back to reality.

5/8 Bronze - On the ledge in the room with Sara's corpse.

6/8 Bronze - On ledge behind the checkpoint after escaping the mysterious monster of death 'El Monstero Mysterio'.

Paraiso Ruins -- The Present

As grown-up Lara, search the old campsite for two medals. One is by the wooden structure (inside a box) and one is out in the open shack by the pool. These are the last bronze medals for this stage. If you missed any, it's earlier.

7/8 Bronze - In a wood box near the starting spot. Destroy all wood boxes at the campsite, if you moved.

8/8 Bronze - In the wrecked sleeping shack.

The Flooded Paradise

The next section is all swimming (with a quick puzzle), so use the buttons wisely to surface, dive, and swim faster. There are many pockets of air you can swim up to (mostly), but not always. Locking the camera behind Lara is a good idea, since you will retain a sense of direction. When you hit the checkpoint while underwater, you will have reached the main room of the Paraiso ruins.

Drain the water from the main chamber by using all four blue switches (underwater). You have to operate all four on one breath meter, so swim like your life depends on it. Once the water is gone, check the tunnels for a medal. Grab it, then approach the break in the wall for a checkpoint (saves your rewards too).

2/2 Silver - Drain the water from the large room and explore the tunnels before approaching the wall. You'll find the medal quite easily.

Glass Ceiling VS Sloped Ceilng

There's only the gold medal left if you bagged all the cargo. So concentrate on survival for now. To go up the steeply sloped areas, jump and grapple swing. You cannot grapple while grounded and hope Lara to start swinging. Nope, she has to be in the air to grapple swing.

Ready, Press, Button, Action

At the top of the slopes, a button press puzzle for survial will start after the checkpoint. Press in the direction of the joystick, then the buttons as they appear to escape. Push UP (on the joystick or keypad for PC), then JUMP, then ACTION.

Cuckoo For Light Beams Of Death

This puzzle looks impressive, but fairly easy once you find all the parts. Use the grapple to bring down the statue near the checkpoint. This yields one stone ball. Use the second stone ball with the first ball to depress the central and right floor panels.

The statue with the ladders reaching the floor has a third stone ball atop its head. Push that one off and complete the puzzle. To reach the top, use the ledges in the mouth and body to go around the ladder obstruction. The light beam won't kill you. IGN just likes to zing you because you're gullible.

(ABOVE RIGHT) On the pedastel near the rope, you can look up and see the hole and the ledge on the right you need to aim for from the rope.

After the story sequence, you will be on dangerous ground. You do not have a save point until you reach the slopes you passed by earlier, and there are plenty of things to kill Lara (mainly falls). Go up and over the collapsed floor and drop to the rope. The obvious way is to head back the way you came and wipe out FarCry mercenary rejects along the way.

However, there is a ledge above the collapsed platform (left of the rope) you can swing to. Following that to a hidden tunnel will reveal a fourth stone ball. Roll it downhill and smash through the wall. Follow it down and put it in the central plate for the medal.

Gold Get - At the rope, swing to the left for the ledge. This leads to a fourth stone ball you put on the center floor plate of the puzzle. Doing so reveals the final medal for this stage.

Escape The Ruins

Once you have the medal, you need to go up and over the collapsed floor and drop to the rope again. Take the obvious way out and wipe out FarCry mercenary rejects along the way. The assault rifle you kept from the street fight will now let you fight with the range you need.

Kill the guys in the main chamber and climb out. The final rope is stiff like a pole -- you can use fast move on this for the time trial -- and leads back to the old campsite. Kill all the enemies here and you clear the stage.

Zeitherausforderung - Efficient German Time Trials

The longest part of this stage is actually the motorcycle stage. Die even once and it's back to the checkpoint, obviously making it hard or impossible to clear the stage under time. The good news is that the in-game cheats work (once you earn them) to give you a leg up. The cheat IGN is talking about is the one-hit death cheat.

Once you have that cheat on (you can enter it when Lara is making her western stance cinematic), you kill the enemies with one handgun bullet (anywhere) making the stage very easy. This lets you conserve life in the motorcycle scene for later, and lets you concentrate on driving and avoiding obstacles instead of worrying about enemies.

Lastly, the cheat makes it possible for you to take things slowly with the jumps and ledges near the light puzzle (especially coming back), so you can easily take the time to avoid dying and wasting tons of time restarting.

Japan - Home Of The Hello Kitty Factory

Lara cannot fight in her current attire. Simply follow the script and meet the bartender. This unlocks the door to the Japanese business guy Nishimura. Once the chat is done, Lara gets into action and behaves as she does in the wild.

Killing all the enemies in the party room will trigger a new cut-scene. The TV screens can be used to kill enemies, but are not necessary. Go to the small lift on the side to continue. It's opposite the hallway to Nishimura's office.

On The Roof

On the roof, there' smuch more to do. All the medals are inside the room with the motorbike (and one on the roof). So get up there by blasting the generator and climbing the pole. There's a medal inside a box on the roof (easy).

Get into the bike's room by grappling the skylight and pulling it aside. There is another medal under the stairs, and a third behind some boxes.

Get all three medals then use the motorbike and drive up to the broken walkway for a button press action sequence.

1/6 Bronze - On the roof of the buidling after climbing the generator's pipe.

2/6 Bronze - Under the stairs in a wood box. It's inside the room with the motorcycle.

1/4 Silver - In a wood box surrounded by crates you can move. It's inside the room with the motorcycle.

Ready, Press, Button, Action

Press the buttons (same order each time) and you survive to reach the next building. Press GRAPPLE, then JUMP, then DODGE.

Across the Street #1

Begin the next section by heading down the scaffolding and taking the medal in the box (lower level). Backtrack and continue on the top planks to the end where a zipline awaits. Get by the center area of the upper walkway by shooting out the obstacle and then using the rope. Once past the zipline, you get a checkpoint.

(ABOVE RIGHT) Or you can drop down from the top, get the medal and then head back again. The checkpoint exploit saves your effort.

3/6 Bronze - On the lower walkway of the scaffolding.

Across the Street #2

Use the grapple to bring the window washing platforms closer to Lara before having her jump. While on the platforms, you need to grapple swing on the anchors around the building's exterior. Follow the trail around the right until you reach solid ground. Once you do, you fight some Yakuza goons and some dogs. Jump onto the raised garden platform and the dogs cannot attack Lara; however, explosives and gunfire can still reach her however.

Inside Takamoto's Building

Inside the building, head downstairs for a medal. Head all the way up the stairs for a second medal (the second requires more work). Use the pipes and ledges to reach this one. It's easy.

4/6 Bronze - Head down the stairs and find it in a wood box.

2/4 Silver - Head all the way upstairs and locate ledges to reach the pipes. The wood box has it.

Japanese Office Space

The exit is the middle door, which leads to an office like environment with many enemies. Kill all the enemies in the room and don't miss out the two medals in the cubicle area. One is inside a box on the floor. It is in the corner of the room. The second is inside a locker on the upper floor. Get both after you clear the room but before leaving it.

Escape the office cubicle area by using the grapple on the large TV screen. This reveals two metal hooks that hold up the screen. Shoot both hooks to smash the TV screen and exit.

While here, you may want to take a shotgun, since it may be helpful in the boss fight later. If you are comfortable with the assault rifle, then ignore it.

5/6 Bronze - In a wood box on the ground level. It's in a corner near the big screen TV.

3/4 Silver - Inside a gray metal locker. Easy to spot the lockers, if you take the time to look.

Skyscraper Exterior

There are no more medals for a while. Simply climb the building's side using the poles, pipes, and grapple anchors. None of them are complicated, so make your way up. Occasionally, you will need to swing back onto a bar you were previously on.

At the very top, the pipes and bars will start to collapse, so you need to "safe grab" if needed, then make the move at the earliest possible moment to get to safety. It's not as deadly as Prince of Persia, but Lara does not have a Dagger of Time. At the entrance to the art room, there should be a checkpoint.

The Art Club

Kill all the enemies inside -- the chandelier can be shot down with ACTION (or you can use grenades). It's better to head to the second floor and use the assault rifles to level enemies. You can take your shotgun back up later. A medal is on the balcony and a second medal is inside the small room with four lockers.

6/6 Bronze - On the balcony with the enemies. It over looks the whole room.

4/4 Silver - Inside a gray metal locker in the small mainframe room. Easy to spot, if you explore.

Hallway Of Death

The hallway after the art room is laced with traps. You can avoid the lasers if you see them by turning on the sprinkler system. Alternately, you can simply roll the stone ball and use it as a shield against the gun turret. After you roll up to the turret, wait five seconds for the turret to power down. Once it does, you can detach Lara from the ball and move on.

Dragon Room

Kill the enemies after the cutscene and take the shotguns if you want. Grapple the dragon and use it like a battering ram on the glass. Kill the enemies who spawn out. There's one more medal (the gold one as usual). Locate the ornate cabinet on the upper level and break it by pushing off the ledge for the prize.

Gold Get - Destroy the ornate box on the upper level by pushing it out the opening made by the swinging dragon. The medal will appear shortly after.

Boss - Takamoto

The boss is fairly tough if you don't focus on avoiding his green energy shots. Go behind any statue and climb the pole to the boss' level. This lets you avoid the gun turrets on the lower level. The boss shoots only at two heights when he "spread fires" and hits you at both heights if he "vertical fires". Jump or roll the spread shots and get close to shotgun him in the face.

This boss plays the range game and tries to run when you get close -- however, he can attack you up close (major damage) if you get too close. The statues block some of the shots, but for the most part, you can avoid the spread fire attack. Kill the boss and you win. if you run out of shotgun ammo, you might have to wear him away a little more. But that's simply a pattern of avoid and fire, avoid and fire, which is somewhat boring.

Zeitherausforderung - Efficient German Time Trials

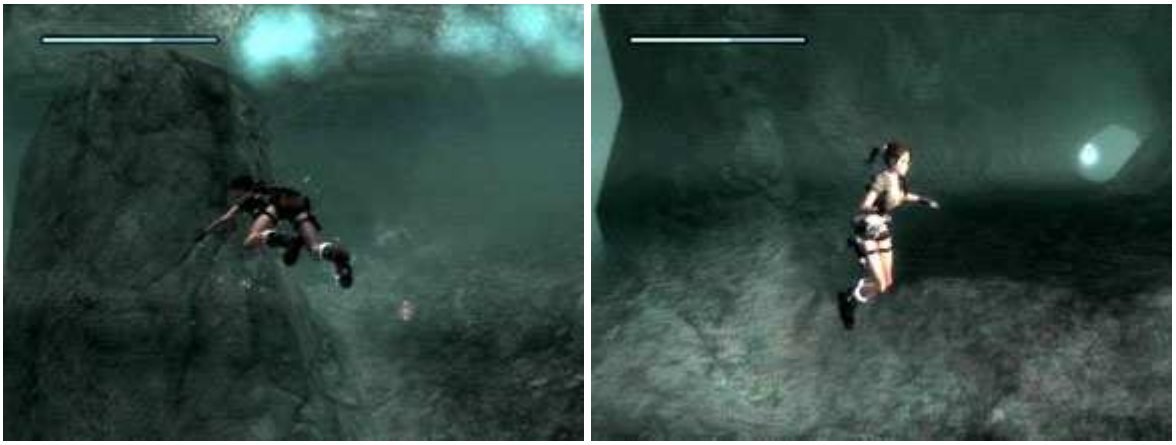

The boss fight with Takamoto is your biggest concern, apart from the rather deadly jumps on the scaffolding just after the party scene. Strangely, the skyscraper exterior is easy, unless you really rush it. However, the sheer number of enemies makes it hard. Make it easy on yourself and try to earn the one-hit death cheat first by completing the time trial of the last stage before doing other time trials.

The one-hit death cheat prevents infinite ammo from being used, but who cares!? Even the mighty boss Takamoto will die instantly with one shot, giving you well over two minutes left on the clock if you do things right. Yes, you heard IGN -- over two minuntes left on the clock when the boss bites the dust. The amount of time there lets you prepare for almost every jump, and insure that you never fall to your death.

Ghana - Ex-British East Africa Territory

Begin the stage by diving off the waterfall. The main puzzle is to head into the temple ruins. The complex is impressive, but the puzzle is not complex. Begin by using the rope to unlock the gate mechanism, then use the grapple on the shiny drawbridge to open the main door. Before heading in, there are three medals underwater in the big ass pond.

On the mechanism island, there is one medal to each side (at the bottom and towards the sides). Dive and find them both. A third one is under the mechanism island itself. All three are easy to find once the camera is forced underwater. After you get all the medals, head back to the entrance and go inside.

1/5 Bronze - Go onto the mechanism island, face the temple door and dive to the right.

2/5 Bronze - Go onto the mechanism island, face the temple door and dive to the left.

1/4 Silver - Go onto the mechanism island and under the island. You only get this medal after the cut-scene with "Good evening Mr Bond." and the temple entrance is open.

Lara Croft & The Temple Of Death

Cross the fast moving water with the raft (grapple and drag it) and the ropes. Once you're past the fast-moving water, you can hit the water and swim the rest of it if you miss the second rope. Kill the enemy and bypass the broken traps.

The enemy here has a shotgun. If you continued the game from Japan and have some extra shotgun rounds, keep the weapon around, since it will help with the next boss fight (in this stage).

The second broken trap is more an obstacle than death -- you need to leave Lara on the floorplate long enough to make the exit grating raise to the highest spot before moving past it. Enter the large room and fight enemies.

The Main Room

The main room has a new enemy -- the emplaced machinegun. Luckily, it can't fire underneath and it can't turn too far to the sides. From under it, just head to the side you can mantle from and you can get to the top where the machinegun is. Kill all the enemies, use the emplacement and shoot the stone pillar near the moving water wheel to get things going. While here in the main room, you can also get a medal.

3/5 Bronze - In the corner of the upper level to the emplaced gun.

The Water Wheel

Starting the dry water wheel is a lengthy challenge. Begin by using the bars on the working water wheel to access the corner platform. On the corner platform, grapple the moving metal car and ride it to the other side (where the dry wheel is). Cross the gap via ropes and pipes to the ladder to the upper level.

Climb, climb, climb to the top and head to a suspiciously dry room with a similarly suspicious raft. Grapple the raft over to the entrance and drop onto it to fight the jaguar. The jaguar cannot attack if Lara stands on the raft. The raft is necessary to reach the other side. The dry room with the jaguar has a medal in the corner (right under the two moving blocks). Hook it and go use the two main blocks to reach the upper level.

4/5 Bronze - Under the two moving blocks in the dry room with the raft.

The Reservoir

From the top of the dry room, you can see the water in the reservoir. You can simply dive down into the water or use the raft below. In the reservoir, there is a corner with a water-level dry area you can stand on. There's a medal near there. Grab it, then head up the ladder to the second set of moving stones. Use the momentum to reach the top for a checkpoint and a medal just around behind the pillar.

5/5 Bronze - On top of the second set of moving stones. Right past the checkpoint, it's on the left.

2/4 Silver - In the water reservoir, there's a low spot to dry out. The medal is in the corner.

The Water Goddess

Move across the gap via the ledges and stand on the floor plate to topple a large block -- this is a shortcut from the dry room to the floorplate in case you fall off (Lara usually dies from the fall, but it's there nevertheless).

The puzzle to free the water goddess is to place the block on the second floorplate. This moves the metal clasp holding one of the statue's arms. To open the other clasp, stand on the first floorplate and cross over to the statue's front before the other metal clasp re-closes.

Grapple the statue's breasts and yank her arms out. Head back to the water wheel room and go into the hallway with the piston traps.

The Trapped Hallways

The hallway previously blocked by traps can now be navigated since the traps are no longer cheesy walls. Simply roll or run through each set of pistons, then when it comes to the scissor blades, use the block to "hold down" one side of blades.

Be careful that when you reach the end of the hall, Lara needs to stop (or the blades clip through the block and kill her). Release the block and jump on and over the block to continue. A second block embedded in the wall can be used for the second set of scissor blades.

A checkpoint will occur after the scissor blades -- this means you have to "action" cam Lara out of the way of a rolling boulder. Jump over the first set of traps, roll under the second (right and left, respectively) and hop the final pit of spikes to get a checkpoint and freedom.

When the boulder shoots past Lara, it opens a shortcut back to the mechanism island (still 50,000 times better than 'Survivor: Exile Island' -- FOX TV rules all). Head down the ladder for a medal, but head back up the ladder and across the gap to continue forward.

3/4 Silver - Down the ladder after escaping the boulder.

Surprise Rocks -- Each More Surprising Than The Last.

Use the bars and ledges to move across the outer face of the Ghana temple. Several times, rocks will fall and kill you, so be quick about moving to the next available element you see (ledge, bar, etc.). If you don't, you wind up restarting. Use ACTION while on ledges to fast move to your new spot, or expect to get stuck. For the most part, if you hear something crackle when you land on a ledge, start moving quickly out of the way (around a corner, jump for a pipe, etc.).

Go across the temple's front face and keep head up and across while avoiding rocks. The lift may sparkle, but simply jump on it to get across. The spark is for the grappler, in case you get stuck on the lower levels and need the lifts to descend. Crystal Dynamics calls this a "contingency solution".

Lara Croft & The Temple Of Death Electric Boogaloo

... now starrin' Shabba Doo n' Boogaloo Shrimp. After that, a checkpoint will occur, then you will have an annoying cutscene. Use the torch to light the way down and grapple swing across the gaps. Kill the enemies on the bridge and topple the block to break the bridge (the bridge will always be destroyed when a checkpoint is loaded).

Here's where you need to exploit the checkpoint system. There is a medal that's hard to get; plus you need at least one grenade to get it. Head out, pipe across and at the lowest ledge, jump past the falls and onto a small island with a brown door. Blast open the door with an explosive, grab the medal, then head back to the bridge you passed earlier.

The goal is to "re-checkpoint" Lara at the entrance of this section (outside), then head back to the checkpoint past the rope bridge so you don't have to keep trying for the medal each time you die. The way back is sufficiently easy that you almost won't die. Once you get this excess shit out of the way, you can keep playing without hassle.

4/4 Silver - At the first set of bars past the rope bridge, swing across the chasm to the lonely brown door. Blow up the door with a grenade for the medal.

Top Of The Waterfall

Use the bars and ledges to reach the top of the interior. Avoid the fast moving water, since it will sweep Lara off and it's no more bukkake parties at Abbington for anyone. Avoid the red explosive barrels, head across the bridge and kill the enemies.

The one enemy not donning the SWAT uniform has a grenade launcher, but it's more practical to take and keep a shotgun instead for this stage's boss. Cross the rope bridge to take out the bomber or snipe him from afar (note enemy has the advantage for sniping on normal and hard). One kick will send the bomber off to his death and you can simply move into the final room without much trouble (enemies don't follow you).

The Golden Door

Kill the jaguar after the checkpoint and climb the stairs -- quickly jump to the rope and avoid both boulders. A third boulder is triggered on the right stairs. Use the niche and hide (ala Chris-Jill-Barry Redfield in Resident Evil). Stand on the floorplate at the top but don't leave yet. When the door is at the very top, head back downstairs (that's right you freak) and enter the room under the floorplate for a medal. Head back up, equip your handguns, open the exit door, and be ready for a boss.

Gold Get - Stand on the switch to raise the door to the boss completely. Instead of heading in, head back downstairs and enter the mysterious door near the broken stairs. Medal get. Snort-snort.

Boss - Rutland

Bosses who are invincible are cheap. This boss cannot be killed until the room's puzzle is solved. First, attack the boss until it starts regenerating life on the platforms in the arena. This boss likes close attacks, so dodge and jump are necessary to avoid being killed on Normal and Hard.

Once the boss starts regenerating life, the ACTION key will appear when you deploy weapons. Destroy the four stones of each ledge. This reveals a "hidden stone" you can grapple and yank out.

Shoot and yank each of the four platforms (you have to drive off the boss to get some time to do it), and when all four ledges are yanked out and destroyed, the boss can no longer regenerate.

Once you get the boss to keep his charging attack against you, pull out the shotgun and make this West Point washout suck lead. A few solid hits will put down this fellow down and out. This is probably one of the few instances the shotgun is worth the price of carrying it around. Note that the bullet-time combat move will not work, since the boss will decidedly attack with his weapon up close.

Zeitherausforderung - Efficient German Time Trials

The boss fight with Rutland is your biggest concern, apart from the rather deadly traps. The block pushing area to counter the scissor blades will cut into your time if you time things badly, as well as the uncooperative camera while doing the water wheel puzzle. Strangely, once you are past the boulder, things can run smoothly -- provided you can kill enemies with one hit.

The one-hit death cheat levels the boss without the time consuming process of destroying the platforms. This already gives you a huge advantage, one that lets you take your time with the jumps and lethal traps you normally have to use speed to get by. Without the cheat, you will be pressed for time and health by killing Rutland the normal fashion. Don't do that to yourself.

Kazahkstan - <?????> Carbonek

Begin the stage by jumping off the cliff (BASE jumping) and pressing the correct key to deploy the chute. Land and use the emplaced machinegun to make like Erich Remarque's Western Front.

Once things quiet down, try jumping from the roof to the next roof (via the pipe) with the suspiciously glowing medal crate. Doing so will spawn more enemies. Simply head back to the emplacement and clean house. After this second wave, no new enemies will appear until you get to the next area of the base.

(ABOVE RIGHT) 1/5 Bronze on the roof. It's that thing that looks like a light on the roof because this illustration is so damn small.

1/5 Bronze - In a wood box on the roof of a building next to the emplacement gun. Use the watchtower's pipe to reach it.

Inside The Siberian Supply Bunker

Collect all the weapons here -- you will need a few good weapons for the enemies ahead and an assault rifle is a good idea.

There's plenty of ammo on normal but you won't have much health on normal or hard if you mess around.

To move on, enter the large building and take another reward before climbing the ladder to the rooftop.

2/5 Bronze - The small supply room inside the building with the ladder has a medal.

Metal Gear Croft

Kill the enemy and descend from the guard tower. The machinegun nest should be razzed by good dodging, or by using the rooftops ingeniously. Take out all the enemies here and pay attention to the small gated area with an obvious medal crate. Get to it by destroying the boxes at the fence opening.

The next step is to enter the building near the gun emplacement to get a cut-scene of some Russian soldiers. Once the door code is revealed, simply exit, kill the remaining enemies and operate the keypad to open the security gate. There is a grenade launcher from a gate enemy if you want it.

1/3 Silver - At the base of a watchtower, there's a wood box with the medal. Destroy the boxes blocking the entry to the area and simply take it.

Security Gate and The Command Center

After entering the building in the second area and speaking with the Russians, open the gate, head up the hill and dodge or shoot the explosive barrels. Enter the building for a cut-scene. Head up the ladder after the cinematic ends and zipline back to the train. Kill all the enemies until the doors to the train open, then kill the goons near the motorcycle. Once that's done, take the bike and end this section.

Siberian Train Spotting

If you notice, the cycle chase keeps going forever until you kill enough enemies. That said, head out from the train and kill enemies. After enough die, the train decouples cars to block a tunnel. A checkpoint will happen.

Go around the side road and follow the high roads to move on. The enemy cyclists are nothing but the RMVs (Recon Medium Vehicle) will kill Lara instantly if they make contact. The RMVs can be destroyed if their gunner is killed. You will know you're at the end when Lara's bike hits really narrow road and hops over the train twice. Once that occurs, just drive on the train's top to end the vehicle section.

Ready, Press, Button, Action

Lara will need to press DODGE, then ACTION, then GRAPPLE to avoid death on the train.

The Burning Train

There's a single medal on the ground once you hop over the burning wreckage.

Use the hydraulic cranes to cross from the starting point to the tunnel entrance. There're ledges there you can use to get over the burning wreck. Once you do, drop and look for a medal.

Climb back up and use the second hydraulic crane to get to the destructable fan. Blast the fan and enter the ventilation ducts.

3/5 Bronze - Cross over the burning train and drop down before getting past the fire wall. There's a box in the corner with the medal.

VersaLife Ventilation

The pattern of hop the electric wires, shoot the fan, bar swing across the rectangular room, and drop down a level is interrupted only by one medal (where you have to grapple swing). When you have to grapple swing - STOP, DROP, and get the medal. Then head back up and grapple swing to the exit.

4/5 Bronze - At the point where you must use a grapple swing to cross the gap, you can descend to the bottom and locate a wood box with this medal. If you proceed further, you will not be able to return to this spot.

Generator Room

The generator room has no transgenics. There's a single medal here in this room. Face the spot where you enter the generator room and head left. Grappling the locked gate will open it so you can access the medal. To start the generator, simply look for ledges along the wall to the catwalk above the generator. Follow the catwalk to the rope to connect the fuel pipe. Grapple the generator starter switch and it will unlock the door to the next area.

2/3 Silver - From where Lara drops into the room, stop and face right. There's a way to get to the cage with the medal box. Easy ledging. To get the door open, grapple the gate and pull. Fort Knox is not as easy to break into, not like there's much gold left after 50 years of spending.

Face Eating Kool-AID Coolant

The green gas is "fire" and will kill Lara instantly on normal or hard. Avoid the gas by staying the pipes and platforms. Avoid the purple sparks by watching their movements and timing your fast move (ACTION repeatedly) across the pipes to safety. At the corner, use the ledges to go around and continue. Head into the next room at the end of the hall. There's nothing here, so don't worry about it for now. This checkpoint at the end of the hall will be used again later.

Tesla Gun Room & "Down There"

The Tesla Gun is un-powered. To continue, you need to activate the main reactor. Be sure to leave the red explosive drums and all the metal boxes near the Tesla Gun alone -- you will need them in their starting positions later.

Head down the broken bridge and kill the enemies down there. One enemy has a riot shield. He cannot be killed unless you bullet-time or slide juggle him into the air. Alternately, you can use grenades. Search the bottom of the area thoroughly, since there is a medal here and a checkpoint not far after it. Getting the checkpoint first means you have to get the medal each time you die.

5/5 Bronze - At the bottom of the main reactor, there's a medal on ground level in the corner. Search for it easily, for it's only bronze.

Oobi-Croft Laranobi's Climb On Death Star Power Tower

Climbing the power tower is avoiding the purple sparks and simply knowing where to go. Use the pole on the ground to reach the checkpoint and start the climb in earnest. The first few bars and ropes are easy.

The two poles with the sparks are deceptive -- you don't jump for the ropes attached to the cage with the box -- instead, you use the "electrically trapped" poles to reach the dead body. Checkpoints await you there. Pity you if you missed the medal at the bottom, because you cannot get it unless you restart the whole stage.

At the top, move Lara so she can target the explosive drum in the hanging cage. You can do it (barely) with Fine Aim, but you can also target through the small gap windage in the gate door and use Locked-On ACTION instead. Medal get.

3/3 Silver - At the checkpoint near the dead scientist, there's a cage with a box and barrel (as opposed to Crate and Barrel). Simply shoot the barrel through the very narrow gap in the gate door jamb and BOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOM. Medal get.

BOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOM !!

No Power To The Tower

Follow the track on the ground to the next hallway to the power core room. Avoid the gas (easy), kill the enemies (medium), and solve the puzzle (a little hard). Grapple the power core until it's stuck and Lara bemoans she's not as strong as Chun-Li -- the manliest and strongest "woman" in the world.

Climb on top of the power core and use the ladders and pipes to go up and across the room. Lara can use the central power node as a ledge-around from one side to the other. At the final ledge just before the rope to the control room, you can shoot out the explosive barrel and grapple swing in for a checkpoint.

RISE FROM YOUR GRAVE .... POWER-UP ... POWER-UP ... POWER-UP

Operate the lever in the control room, drop back down to the floor and grapple yank the power core along the track. Melt the door using the same process and follow the power core back outside to the main generator.

Avoid the static vanes by grapple yanking them to swing. Once they do, run past them when no blue sparks are present. Open the door of the main generator and the power core (don't touch it by the way) will power the whole place. DODGE past the trapped doors and get a checkpoint.

Save the game here in the shield room or IGN will find you and take away your game system for being a n00b, you newbie.

This is because you can accidentally trigger other checkpoints (unwanted) and have a completely stuck game. Approach the doors back to the Tesla Gun. It is now fully powered and operating.

Shocking Fun - Use Of Tesla

The physics in this game will now be put to your test. On board the Tesla Gun, Lara is invulnerable. Use the red drums to kill the three enemies across the gap. Aim for their heads, then press SHOOT with the drum hovering. Reload the game if you miss since you only have five drums. Once the guards are dead, consider triggering the checkpoint near the coolant hallway -- saving there if everything is keen (on a different file) might be a good idea.

To get the final medal, you need to use the Tesla Gun's pull/push to drag the moving metal platform left to right. However, you will notice (if you turn the gamma to 100) the track has a wide U-shape.

This means the platform will not go all the way right unless you really know how to force the Tesla Gun and the game engine to do what you want.

Pull the platform (more leverage) and as the lift approaches the upward curve on its track, push it (SHOOT) several times to nudge it to the end. Only by turning up the gamma on your screen and studying the lift's rail will you understand what is going on.

Once the metal platform is in the correct spot, pull out the four metal air-conditioner boxes (unmovable by Lara herself) immediately to the right of the Tesla Gun. The larger metal box on the raised ground -- which Lara can push -- should be pushed towards the gap. This lets Lara grab hold of the ledge created by the absent four-in-a-row metal air-conditioner boxes.

Ledge around and use the torch to reveal where you have to go. The medal is fairly obvious once you round the corner and hop on the metal grating. There's no way forward, so head back to the Tesla Gun, drag the metal platform to bridge the gap.

Gold Get - What was said above. Pull out the four-in-a-row metal boxes next to the Tesla gun. Use Lara to move the metal box on the raised area to reach the ledge. Use the Tesla gun to move the metal platform to the furthest right of the track by shrewd manipulation of the push and pull. Follow the platforms and get the medal.

Final Coolant & Obstruction Hallway

There's no way forward from the medal, so head back to the Tesla Gun, and drag the metal platform to bridge the gap. Use the grapple to move the lift over the green gas. Shooting the obstructions will let you move through unimpeded.

To avoid the electrical obstructions, either duck or hop over them after you start the lift moving. Good coordination is needed to make the hallway a breeze on time trials. Heading through the door after this hallway is the boss fight!

Boss - Red Tick Beer. Needs More Dog.

You cannot kill this boss. So don't bother attacking. Instead, use DODGE and head for the four switches between the small sparky balls at the edge of the arena. Each switch will unlock a Tesla Orb for the second part of the puzzle fight.

Note that Lara is invincible when she uses objects, so if the hellfire is about to hit, press ACTION. If you are close to the switch, you may "warp" over to the switch and be rendered invulnerable while she opens the switch. In any case, do not do fancy dodges. Just press DODGE once but repeat the presses slowly so she keeps moving forward in single rolls. The faster you reach all four switches, the more life (and time) you save.

Once all four switches are on, go to the Tesla Gun in the center. Aim at each of the four blue Tesla Orbs and SHOOT them into the electric field. To do this successfully, hold SHOOT and when the ball starts dropping, press and hold SHOOT a second time and the field will appear differently.

If the boss knocks Lara off the Tesla Gun, get in it once more, and quickly shoot all four Tesla Orbs into the field. When you do, you have about five seconds to get out of the gun, aim the camera up and grapple yank the object above the Tesla Gun to win the stage.

If you have trouble connecting the grapple, you need to move away from the Tesla Gun slightly to make the grapple a success. Once the object is yanked, you end the stage, regardless how much life you have left.

Zeitherausforderung - Efficient German Time Trials

The motorcycle ride is the longest thing you have to worry about in this stage. Maybe that and powering up the core once inside the base. Rapidly get by the bike stage using the one-hit death cheat. Without it, you will be very hard pressed for time during some of the later jumps, and such lapses are deadly to the time remaining on the clock.

By now, if you haven't noticed, you can get a load of grenade launchers. All of which are useless since bosses that are vulnerable to grenades are too fast to be hit by them. Bosses who can be hit by the grenades are invulnerable to terrene weapons. Take a shotgun or assault rifle, but with time trials, you best bet is to unlock the one-hit death cheat first, then enjoy the carnage.

England - Arthur, King of the Britons & Bocialist Vice Sub-Chair Person of the Committee for Silly Walks

Start the stage by moving the box under the vent entrance. Grapple the vent cover off and head inside for an easy medal. Grapple the second vent cover and head outside.

Use the window ledges to reach the power switch. Once that's done, ledge back over the shocking pool and use the door to head back inside the park. Operate the sword switch to enter the British version of Diznee-Land (now under new management).

1/9 Bronze - Inside the storage attic to the main power breaker. Can't miss it -- and try not to.

Attraction Room #1

Near the attraction with the multiple knights, there is a small vent leading to a medal. Get it and head back out.

To cross the drawbridge and into the next room, use the pipes to reach the drawbridge.

Once the drawbridge starts coming down, jump back to the previous bar, then jump through the drawbridge before it closes back up.

2/9 Bronze - Near the attraction with several knights, use the torch to reveal a vent hole with the medal. Easy, unless you didn't know about exploration.

Attraction Room #2

Fine aim and shoot the latch on the hanging longboat. Cross over it to the other side and look for a second vent leading to another medal.

To get out of this room, operate the sword switch to reveal an anchor. Grapple yank it to open the door. Head in and find a forklift, a checkpoint, and a good box puzzle.

3/9 Bronze - Opposite the drawbridge, use the torch to reveal a vent hole with the medal. Easy, unless you didn't know about exploration

Gabelstapler Room

Use the forklift carefully, since the boxes you want need to remain vertical. Move one box to the corner under the vent cover. Take a second box and move it carefully next to the first. Raise the box using the forklift and get out. Climb into the vent for a medal.

To move into the tomb, bust down all the boxes with the forklift and smash the tomb opposite the ramp for a second medal. The rest of the way to the next checkpoint is easy -- use the forklift to bypass the traps and the cargo tongues to raise the gate. When the last wall is destroyed, there is an insta-death scene.

1/5 Silver - Inside the professor's office. Use two large boxes, the forklift, and your imagination to reach the vent in the corner. If it escapes you, you might have problems during a major natural or man-made catastrophe in how you proceed.

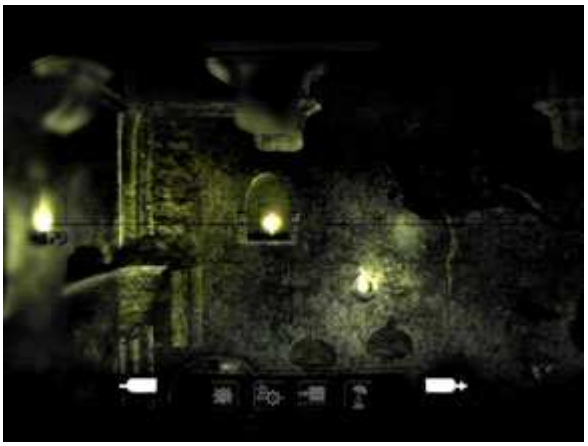

2/5 Silver - Smash open the fake sarcophagus at the room with the fake wall for the medal. The fake forklift is all powerful. Fake, fakety, fake, fake, fake.

Ready, Press, Button, Action

Press JUMP to get the hell out.

Jump In The Hole In The Cenotaph If You Go

There are three medals in this vertical shaft and it's easy to lose track of them (if you die and restart a checkpoint). So try to reload or not die (if you have grenades, it's easy to restart a checkpoint). Alternately, save at the top of the vertical shaft and reload if you die. At the stop of the shaft, there're two medals you can immediately see and grapple. Do it.

Once you start going down, the floors and ledges start collapsing, so you need to make to a new pipe, floor, or ledge to avoid death. Along the long collapsing ledge, there's an opening above it to the final medal in this room. Drop to the ground for a checkpoint and safety. If you miss these medals, they're easy (and early) enough for you to come back and try again.

4/9 Bronze - To Lara's right at the top of the vertical shaft.

5/9 Bronze - Across the shaft -- grapple it before descending.

6/9 Bronze - Inside the small tunnel. You have to mantle to it from the collapsing ledge, or you will never get it.

Blade Traps and Oil Fires

The ground has a "III" switch on the wall. It's a secret. Right now, you need to move ahead to the fire and alternately use grapple and a jump from the cage to cross the fire. Bring the cage with Lara to the darkened blade trap room. The cage's use is obvious.

Grab a second cage near the blade trap room's entrance and use both freely to move through the room. On time trials, you can get away with using one cage. To the left of the blade room's entrance, there's a medal. There's an optional puzzle in the blade trap room for the "III" switch earlier. From this medal, push a cage to the high ledge and press in the "I" switch.

Take both cages and usher them to the sides of the large center area of the blade trap room. Only one side's high ledge is accessible. Go there and push the "II" switch. Move the boxes through the blade and fire trapped hallway to the door. Both boxes will form a fire-proof path over the conflagaration. Use the switch and hop past the one-way door. Note that using a box to jam open the door is pointless, since you come back this way via another path.

3/5 Silver - In the blade trap room, it's in the corner leading to the "I" switch -- right at the beginning. It's on the ground, hard to miss, and the only one in this room.

Sewers and Coffins

The floor plate here is springback, so you need something to hold it down. Enter the room with the chandeliers and grapple them to get them smashing the barred alcoves in the wall.

One chandelier reveals a coffin, the second chandelier reveals a medal. Stand on the coffin and grapple yank back to the floorswitch. Stand on the switch and pull the coffin onto it to open the gate forwards.

7/9 Bronze - In the room with the coffin, there's a second chandelier that can break the grate for the medal.

British Sewers

Immediately falling into water, dive down and force the camera underwater to see the medal. Use the switch to raise the gate to move on. A coffin will be past it. Grapple yank the coffin and Lara back to the starting point and you will see another sewer tunnel midway through. Head in there.

The second set of sewers has more gates and a medal. Not so hard if you find the switch in the second part to get your coffin here (easy task). Be sure to grab the medal before leaving the second part of the sewers, since it is a one-way trip.

8/9 Bronze - Right under the starting area of the flooded sewer, diver under water and grab the medal.

4/5 Silver - In the second flooded region of the sewer, hoist the coffin over to the medal's niche and grab the medal before hopping over the final barrier.

The Briton Temple

Notice that you can swim on the lake, but cannot dive in this water. It's not the sewage, it's something more nasty. The switches you see on the pillars in the water is for the boss fight. Ignore them for now and focus on how to get into the temple ruins. Face the temple's main entrance. The right torch post arm needs to point perpendicular to the temple's front wall. The left torch post arm needs to be parallel.

Grapple both into position and ledge up on one side, ride the slope down and proceed to use the post arms as pipes to get across. Grapple swing on the middle (very high) torch and you will pretty much get the picture. At the top of the temple, look for a medal in the corner before dropping down.

5/5 Silver - On top of the temple's roof. In the corner.

The Tomb

Enlightening cinematic. Afterwards locate a block of a tomb to move. A new cut-scene will tell you about it (and the block glows when you get close). Pull it to the pillar near the bell's weight. The puzzle here is to get the chandelier swinging towards the bell's position as if it's been raised. Once the chandelier is swinging (courtesy of successive grapple yanks), climb onto the bell weight's rope (via pillar and block) and make some noise. There's a checkpoint here, but get ready for the most annoying boss fight so far.

Boss - Sea Serpent

This boss is like the previous boss -- you can't kill it, so don't bother. Instead, you defeat the boss by shooting the bells near the four pillars in the water.

Stay on dry land (or die), shoot the bells on each pillar constantly until the boss makes a soothing "woooob" sound; this means it is stunned by the chiming long enough for you to grapple the glowing switches at each pillar.

Do this for each of the four switches and the boss will die. Note that the boss will not be tricked if you fail to keep it hypnotized at each bell -- run if it starts attacking before it makes the "wooob" sound.

This boss, like the one before it, cannot be one-hit death'd so you'll need to actually play this part of the stage more or less normally.

Leaving The Tomb

Use the carcass to reach the ledges to escape. A checkpoint is bad, so get ready to act.

Ready, Press, Button, Action

Aim to push JUMP, GRAPPLE, then ACTION to escape this sequence. it doesn't change and if you fail, just retry from the checkpoint. It's more a problem on Time Trial, since you don't have much time left.

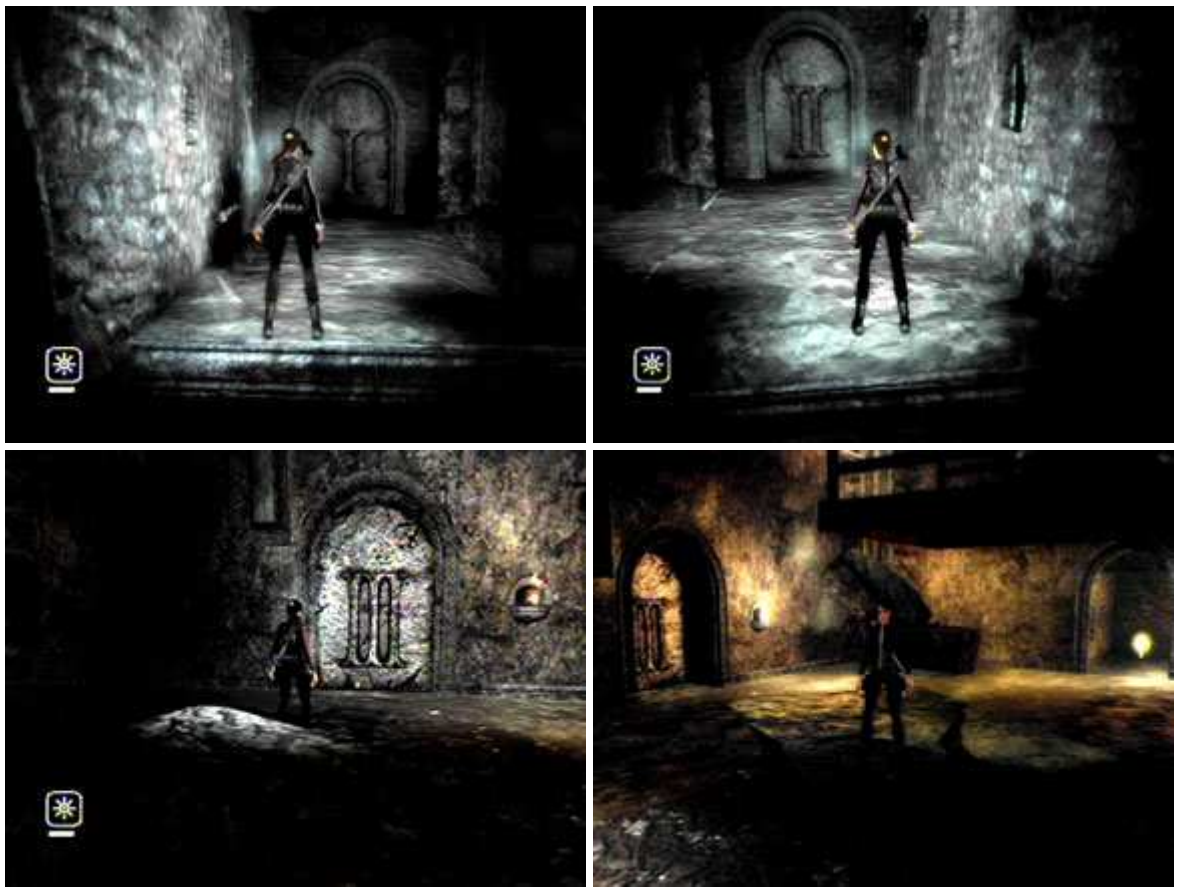

Last Rites

Use fine aim to free the rope for your use. The gate is actually a ledge -- the shield motifs are anyway. Ledge up and grab the rope. Drop down for the penultimate medal, then head back up and swing to the exit.

9/9 Bronze - Grab the medal past the gate by dropping down from the rope. The shields on the gate let you get back to the rope and freedom.

Going On Up

Go through the blade and fire rooms with enemies. The assault rifle is best (range) here. If you missed the "I" and "II" switches earlier, push them in the dark blade room using the cages the mercenaries have provided for you. This should be easy since there are boxes at all the blades, making the switches easy to reach.

Press the switches as you count to 1-2-3 or the switches will pop back out. At the "III" switch room (the bottom of the vertical shaft), kill the grenade enemy and grab the medal by pressing the "III" switch.

Gold Get - Press the "I", "II", and "III" switches in that order to open the hidden wall. The first two switches are atop the sides in the blade trap room. The final switch is in the vertical shaft with the mercenaries' elevator.

Warehouse Escape

Head up the mercenaries' lift (use the control panel) and kill the enemy at the top. To escape, grapple the bars on the wall to swing the lift to the busted stairs. Fight your way up to the forklift room. Once you wipe out all the enemies in that room, the stage ends. For the riot shield enemies, grenades (or fleeing) might be a good alternative for time trials if you don't have the one-hit death cheat active.

Zeitherausforderung - Efficient German Time Trials

The longest part is when you keep dying in the vertical shaft. Take things slowly -- the one-hit death cheat will pretty much make the final part of escaping the place very fast (about a minute) since you don't deal with enemies much.

Your main concern is actually the boss, since it can kill you, and it will suck up a large amount of time. If you are trying to save time and suffer deadly wounds up to the part where you find Arthur's tomb, do not heal and just keep all the medical kits on hand. The reason is the checkpoint right before fighting the sea serpent lets you continue with full life. For wasting five seconds to kill yourself, you get the better trade off.

When you do fight the boss, hoard your medical kits for the boss and keep Lara alive to ring the bells, rope the cage onto the boss and move on. The one-hit death cheat will let Lara escape the enemies on the way out with the minimum of fuss.

Nepal - Some Kinda Key

Collapsing ledges, platforms, bars and columns will be the standard here. The medals are strangely not hidden behind such contrivances. If you haven't learned how to make Lara move faster than a speeding bullet with a hooker, then breaking her in half, you will have trouble moving fast on these elements. Press ACTION repeatedly on ledges and columns to beat the traps and time trials.

Cross over from the insertion point to the first checkpoint. Drop down from ze'ledge for ze'medal. Climb back up to continue. Grapple swing across to the ice stalagtites. You may have seen the icicles crack and drop in an IGN video before. Good point.

You have enough time to rotate Lara so she's facing the opposite direction -- this allows her to jump from one icicle to the next. On the ice ledge, continue on it instead of mantling to grab the other medal. Lara will drop and grab if DODGE is pressed near the edge.

1/9 Bronze - At the first checkpoint, drop off for the medal. It's under the platform.

1/6 Silver - After the icicles but before breaking the ice wall, follow the ledge to the medal.

Down To The Crash Site

Break the ice wall and head to the precipice overlooking the crash site. Lara needs to slide down and evade the collapse. Grapple swing across to the cave and stop. Turn around and blast the ice wall for a medal. To cross over, you need to jump. The jump is rather dangerous, so after a few tries, you'll get the hang of it. If you're tired of fucking up on the way back, you an always just "save reward" on this one after you clear the stage.

2/6 Silver - Past the collapsing platform and grapple swing, stop in the cave, turn around 180 degrees and smash the ice wall for the medal. Yes, you jump to and back.

The Crash Site

To get down the crash site, use the ledges on the plane wing and the ledges in the ice wall. There's a medal past the busted propeller -- simply grab it past the obstruction. Head down and kill the animal before you decide to play a salvage operator. Locate a grapple anchor near a drop off. Grapple yank it and swing over for a medal.

2/9 Bronze - Duck and go under the propellor after the appearance of Rutland's chopper, but before you reach the destroyed engines.

3/6 Silver - To the side of the plane's body, there's a gap blocked by aeroplane wreckage. yank it out of the way, and then jump across for the medal.

Lara's Feminine Senior's Brooch

The brooch is inside the cockpit. Grapple yank the heavy engine to weight down the plane before heading too far inside. You get a checkpoint if this is done correctly.

Ready, Press, Button, Action

Press ACTION, then UP on the joystick or keypad, then DODGE, then JUMP to get the hell out.

Slides Le Sheets

Use the ice slides and bars to reach bottom. Everything collapses, so don't miss. When Lara lands on solid ground, grapple the medal behind her and head into the cave. There's another medal you can grapple yank inside, as well as a very deviously hidden medal past the "don't slip" wacky platform.

(ABOVE RIGHT) After the tilty platform, you can grapple yank 4/9 Bronze even at this distance..

Past the wacky platform, you have solid ground. Rotate the camera 180 degrees and grip the ledge seen. This leads to the well hidden medal. Head back and continue past the cave using the ledges and bars.

3/9 Bronze - After the slide, take the medal using a grapple. It's near the cave entrance.

4/9 Bronze - An easy one in the cave. Really easy one.

Gold Get - After the tilting platform, hop off the ledge on the far side of the ledge and shimmy over to the medal.

Arctic Thunder

Kill enemies and you can take the grenade launcher or leave it, it won't matter. There's nothing here except a medal behind an ice wall (the other two medals are obvious). Destroy it and jump to get it before using the zipline. There's nothing in the water, so don't go immersing Lara for no reason or you'll run out of medical kits sooner rather than later.

5/9 Bronze - One on the ground, near the lake, but not in the water. Search the place.

6/9 Bronze - On the ledge to the zipline.

4/6 Silver - Behind an ice wall. Shoot everything in the same spot with the zipline and ice water. Jumping to the medal is an easy task.

Ice Cave

There is a medal here. Shoot the ceiling when "there's no way forward". This is why Alister is a 15th Year Under-Doctorate, why Zip cooks, and why Lara has more Y chromosomes than Maddox. Head to the next cave and follow the ice flow to the source for a second medal. Head out to the dark tunnel to the temple and a checkpoint.

7/9 Bronze - Just inside the cave.

5/6 Silver - In the area with the ice floe. It's opposite the exit and a little further up river.

Sindy Anna Moans and The Temple of BOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOM

Kill animal and go down the right hand stairs. A wall at the bottom can be broken for a medal. Head back up and grapple swing to the statue puzzle. At the statue puzzle, you can go to either side and explore for the last medals in the game.

(ABOVE RIGHT) 6/6 Silver is before crossing the large gap -- break the wall at the bottom of the stairs for the medal.

8/9 Bronze - One side of the temple balcony. You need to cross the gap first.

9/9 Bronze - The other side of the temple balcony. You need to cross the gap first.

6/6 Silver - Just inside the temple, but before crossing the gap, head down the right flight of stairs. A breakable wall at the bottom of the stairs hides a medal.

Small Smiling Fat Guy Holding Something Puzzle

The door is locked. Place the smallest box on a lift. Place the largest box on the opposite lift. Place the medium box on the lift with the smallest box. Lara herself adds significant weight on each side of the scale. This allows her to bring the largest box to the top. Place it on the floorplate and "weapon get".

Shine Get

The final escape is annoying. If you want to avoid getting the dialogue on the wall, save twice by manipulating the checkpoints. Get out using Lara's new weapon and blow apart the cracked door on the lower level. From there, simply jump from one collapsing platform to the other until the exit is reached. Excalibur get.

Zeitherausforderung - Efficient German Time Trials

Nepal is strangely an easy time trial if you choose to ignore or one-hit all the enemies past the crash site. The longest part is when you keep dying after the sword or crossing the gap to the scale puzzle. Take things slowly and try not miss early on. Being on balance is more time-efficient than dying and retrying at a checkpoint.

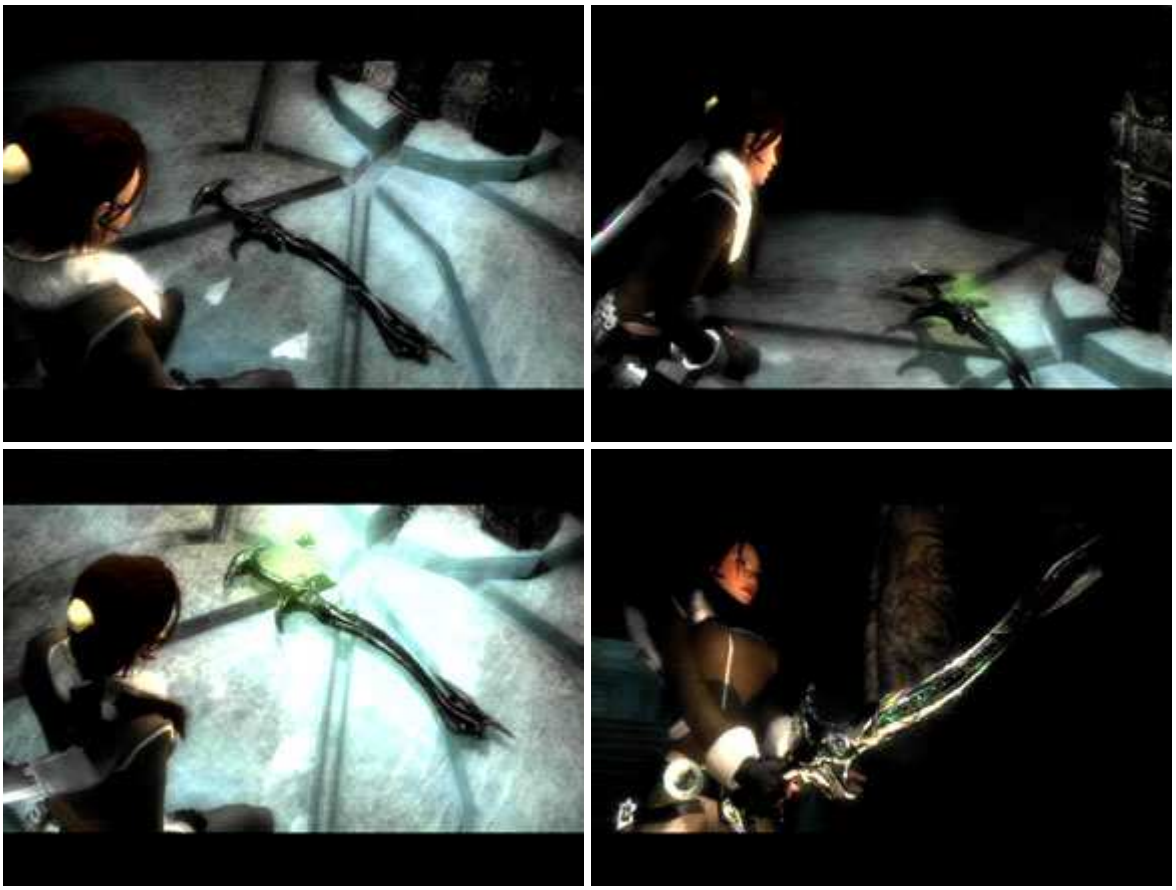

The main issue is to save time for the final part, since that has nothing more to do with luck than skill of knowing when to jump. Having a few minutes to keep retrying this section is a must -- this means no dying at almost any other point in the stage. For the long gap, remember that height matters as much as how far out Lara is able to swing.

Bolivia - Lara im Spiegelland

This stage, like Sir Lancelot's questions at the Bridge of Death, "'tis easy". Use the sword to make enemies chum. Pick up the red health packs (easy and normal only) and try to have the maximum life and health kits (i.e., Three. No more, no less. Three shalt be the number thou shalt count, and the number of the counting shalt be three. Four shalt thou not count, neither count thou two, excepting that thou then proceed to three. Five is right out. Once the number three, being the third number be reached, then lobbest thou thy Holy Hand Grenade of Antioch towards thou foe, who, being naughty in my sight, shall snuff it. Amen.).

The boss is only deadly if you let the shots connect. Use the pillars to block the incoming attacks, but DODGE (to the side) when the hellfire (similar to Kazahkstan) appears on the ground. Show the boss the sword has awesome power and use any attack to hit it squarely when it stops to attack.

I am woman, hear me roar, in numbers too big to ignore. And I know too much to go back an' pretend, 'cause I've heard it all before.
Now picture this:

The pillars don't take much damage before they are destroyed -- and in any case, you'll want to attack when possible to get the boss down so you can get out. When the boss' life is depleted, go up to it and press ACTION to "really" damage it. Repeat this process three, maybe four more times and the boss will die. Once that happens, you finished the game.

Zeitherausforderung - Efficient German Time Trials

Immediately after you beat this stage, head back in while the fight's still fresh and beat it on Time Trial. Do this successfuly (the sword makes this possible) and unlock the one-hit death cheat so vital to your other time trials.

You can check out the cheat on your "Special" menu (this is on the title screen). You should write down your version of the cheat (it will not work unless you unlock it on your game in the first place) and then input it during any time in a stage. The best time to do a cheat in time trials though, is during the opening cinematics. You will hear a checkpoint sound if you did the code correctly.

With one-hit, your handguns will kill enemies instantly. Even bosses like Rutland and Takamoto will die instantly, making your time awesomely fast. It doesn't work for bosses that are killed by puzzles completely (like the serpent). Still, this cheat is possibly the only useful cheat for time trials -- it helps immensely with the motorcycle races.

Once you clear the time trials (all of which are very easy with one-hit death), you should unlock the remaining cheats. The medals collected will unlock all the other costumes not unlocked by time trials. Good luck from IGN!
